a fictional story of northwestern himalayas small villages a girl her upbringing and culture with a combination of ancient and a bit of modernity along with tossing and turning experiences stories composed around the corner of saroi a place where life is imagined as another world exactly just at the end corner of the universe a mixed memoir of personal and paternal life experiences description of cherished moments encountered in a joint family house called chowki house while everyone is sitting on the patio in the deep dark snowy and wintery nights having endless gossiping sessions in the open close to a bonfire called angheetha in the local dialect and brazier in today s world though this narrative is totally fictional the gist is inspired through the experiences of our forefathers and the narration of a particular community of that age that undoubtedly existed around that time highlighted the myths and misbeliefs that had prevailed over the period carried on from generation to generation despite some of them being proved as having scientific notions behind them while some had been in practice to keep family and community on the right track into closely knitted societal bonds otherwise they have no meaning however other side of the edge is not just about the pain and pleasure our forefathers generations experienced in the olden days it s about the precious human values shared as a part of society that refused to be ignored where family gathering was the one and only source of entertainment for extended families to discuss share their past and present experiences and stand up together to prepare the best for the future of those they care about and want to have around them where bonding with relatives was meant to show respect without being self centred rather than a gesture of formality from my writing i attempted to pen down those glimpses heard through the mouth of forefathers and some of them sighted in childhood yet perhaps there might be times i would not have understood precisely what the message meant during those tender years of childhood

Indu 2015-06-04

indu is a fictional story reflecting the imaginary life situations and interactions between two teens of not only opposite gender but also significantly different social and economic stratum educational exposure and professional engagements compounded by the all important difference of respective faiths the principal character indu is from a desperately poor low caste hindu family of british india the supporting male character shetu is an early teen son of a well to do and influential muslim family the influence and relevance of the latter is multiplied many times due to the establishment of pakistan as a new country by partitioning british india into two independent countries this adversely affected the life and living options for families like indu s the migration of well to do educated hindu families to divided india left low caste and poor hindu families of pakistan east pakistan now bangladesh in a relatively precarious position this story captures the nuances of growing up in this environment and the deep emotional bonds that are forged between the two teens in spite of all the negative attributes of the prevailing setting the emerging fondness and feelings have a deep mark on the mindset of the poor teen indu she prefers to be by the side of shetu in spite of frequent frustrations shetu looks past his initial casual feelings to recognize the happiness that ensues with indu s presence indu s journey into adulthood led her to migrate to india where she gets married without being able to say good bye to shetu these unreconciled emotions haunted indu all through her life her arranged marriage to a relatively well off family of the same caste did not bring the peace and happiness in her life in the process of enduring life s limitations indu developed an exceptional ability for tolerance prudence and perspective the foundation of all these personal attributes was cultivated by her early interactions with shetu thus shetu was omnipresent in indu s life even though neither had information about each other destiny however will find a way to marry those unrequited feelings and emotions one last time the book is fiction dealing with common social milieus and priorities prevalent in bangladesh for protecting and carrying on family traditions and values this has been ubiquitous in bangladesh for quite some time more so in rural areas notwithstanding an evident declining trend in most negotiated marriage relationships the emphasis manifestly still is on family aristocracy traditions and good names in the social milieu of british india heightened by the decline in muslim inhabitants power and authority with the evident waning of wealth and standing preservation of family prestige and locus gained earlier took prominence such families may inwardly suffer from all negativities but outwardly they are to put up an aristocratic bearing house of twenty two buffalos is such a story it deals with the sustained effort of a recent affluent family trying to climb the ladder of aristocracy while a prominent aristocratic house was burdened by tradition laden specifics the former was basking in current financial affluence but had the frustration of having mundane background generations before the latter was trapped to false pronouncements of earlier generations and carry over pride to the present ignoring bliss passion and feelings both the families however suffered from a common proclivity to resist changes in social and family lives even though both the families eventually submitted to those the palpable loss was the years passed by and the deprivation of time and tenderness during the intervening period the story deals with varied characters in relevant sociopolitical context of the time however all of them remain relevant in the broader context of present social setting the character of qulsum born in a most vexing situation and growing up in rumored settings portrays the best outcome of discreet desire in tandem with supportive and warm care of a husband and an avowed mind set of a younger brother in law their progressions reside and epitomize the struggle of the new gene to break through that burden with decency poris personality and character reflect that knowledge and wisdom are not just limited to books and affluence the traits of kalon master and rushni expose true and committed characters whose commitment contribution and sacrifice largely influenced the outcome of the bangladesh war of liberation and the sustenance of those ideals similarly sher didar khan brings out the innocent inner feelings hidden within a big physique contrary to ruthless reflection of the authority of his official position

RAPE AND RETRIBUTION 2023-08-15

what was imperial honor and how did it sustain the british raj if no man may harm me with impunity was an ancient theme of the european aristocracy british imperialists of almost all classes in india possessed a similar vision of themselves as overlords belonging to an honorable race so that ideals of honor condoned and sanctified their rituals connecting them with status power and authority honor most broadly legitimated imperial rule since imperialists ostensibly kept india safe from outside threats yet at the individual level honor kept the white herd together providing the protocols and etiquette for the imperialist who had to conform to the strict notions of proper and improper behavior in a society that was always obsessed with maintaining its dominance over india and indians examining imperial society through the prism of honor therefore opens up a new methodology for the study of british india
