in recent years the financial and economic crisis of 2008 9 has progressed into an equally important political and democratic crisis of the eu these troubled times have set the framework to re assess a number of important questions in regard to representative democracy in the eu such as the normative foundation of political representation the institutional relationship between representatives and represented the link between democracy and representation and new arenas and actors this book examines the diverse avenues through which different sorts of actors have expressed their voices during the euro crisis and how their various interests are translated into the decision making process it offers a state of the art assessment of what political representation means in this context as well as a contribution to the representative turn in democratic theory the authors address three key themes the main actors and channels of political representation in the eu interlocking levels of representation in the eu and the way in which national and supranational representation works how the european institutional system represents eu citizens through law and administration focusing on the importance of representation in the legitimation of democracy this book will be of interest to students and scholars of european union politics european studies democratic theory representation studies civil society and transnational democracy representation is integral to the functioning and legitimacy of modern government yet political theorists have often been reluctant to engage directly with questions of representation and empirical political scientists have closed down such questions by making representation synonymous with congruence conceptually unproblematic and normatively inert for some representation has been deemed impossible to pin down analytically and to defend normatively by others but this is changing political theorists are now turning to political representation as a subject worthy of theoretical investigation in its own right in their effort to rework the theory of political representation they are also hoping to impact how representation is assessed and studied empirically this volume gathers together chapters by key contributors to what amounts to a representative turn in political theory their approaches and emphases are diverse but taken together they represent a compelling and original attempt at re conceptualizing political representation and critically assessing the main theoretical and political implications following from this namely for how we conceive and assess representative democracy each contributor is invited to look back and ahead on the transformations to democratic self government introduced by the theory and practice of political representation representation and democracy outright conflict uneasy cohabitation or reciprocal constitutiveness for those who think democracy would be better without representation this volume is a must read it will question their assumptions while also exploring some of the reasons for their discomfort reclaiming representation is essential reading for scholars and graduate researchers committed to staying on top of new developments in the field minorities and representation in american politics is the first book of its kind to examine underrepresented minorities with a framework based on four types of representation descriptive formalistic symbolic and substantive through this lens author rebekah herrick looks at race ethnic gender and sexual minorities not in isolation but synthesized within every chapter this enables readers to better recognize both the similarities and differences of groups underrepresentation herrick also applies her unique and constructive approach to intergroup cooperation and intersectionality highlighting the impact that groups can have on one another this volume is primarily concerned with equality as a basic component of the democratic character of representation in other words of the many types of equality that have attracted the attention of theorists since democracy s beginnings arithmetic equality equality before the law equality of opportunity we would like to draw attention to representational equality that is the role of equality in systems of democratic representation in what form is equality present in traditional forms of electoral representation how can it be secured in new forms of representation such as claims making deliberative klerotarian and epistemic representation and to what extent are electoral or non electoral models of representation able to accommodate increasing social inequalities the articles in this volume discuss these issues from a normative and conceptual point of view seeking to shed new light on the important but under explored relationship between equality and representation this book was originally published as a special issue of critical review of international social and political philosophy this book examines egypt s turbulent and contradictory political period 2011 2015 as key to understanding contemporary politics in the country and the developments in the arab region after the mass protests in 2010 11 more broadly in doing so it breaks new ground in the study of political representation providing analytical innovation to the study of disenchantment with politics democracy fatigue and social cohesion

based on five years of intense fieldwork the author provides rare insights into local and national ideas on politics justice and identity and on how people situate themselves and egypt in the regional and global context it analyzes how the creation of an alternate political system was discussed and negotiated among the egyptian population the military the government public figures the media and international actors and yet nevertheless today egypt has a new political regime that is the most repressive in the countries modern history finally it recalls the emotions and perceptions of individuals and collectives and interlinks these local perspectives to national events and developments through time this book will be of key interest to scholars and students of democratization and authoritarianism middle east studies political representation and informality collective action and more broadly to cultural studies and international relations list of tables and figures preface icra 2018 held from august 8 17 2018 in prague czech republic it presents several themes of contemporary representation theory together with some new tools such as stable categories stable derivators and contramodules in the first part expanded lecture notes of four courses delivered at the workshop are presented covering the representation theory of finite sets with correspondences geometric theory of quiver grassmannians recent applications of contramodules to tilting theory as well as symmetries in the representation theory over an abstract stable homotopy theory the second part consists of six more advanced papers based on plenary talks of the conference presenting selected topics from contemporary representation theory recollements and purity maximal green sequences cohomological hall algebras hochschild cohomology of associative algebras cohomology of local selfinjective algebras and the higher auslander reiten theory studied via homotopy theory modern architecture and its representation in colonial eritrea offers a critical assessment of architecture and urbanism constructed in eritrea during the italian colonial period spanning from 1890 1941 drawing together imperial projects modernist aesthetics and fascist motives the book examines how the merger of these three significant influences yielded a complex built environment that served to emulate if not redefine italian colonial pursuits as italy s colonia primogenità or first born colony eritrea and its capital asmara not only bore witness to the emergence of politicized interiors and international expositions the colony became a vehicle that polarized issues of race and gender exploring discourses of modernity in africa this book moves between histories of architecture urbanism literature and media to describe how eritrea and asmara became a crucial fulcrum for italy s ill fated pursuits in ethiopia and other neighboring countries consequently modern architecture inscribed eritrean subjectivities while redefining technologies that affected constructions of the colonial interior modern architecture and its representation in colonial eritrea demonstrates how architecture in asmara reshaped the creation and reception of italian east africa the american jewish philosopher berel lang has left an indelible impression on an unusually broad range of fields that few scholars can rival from his earliest innovations in philosophy and meta philosophy to his ground breaking work on representation historical writing and art after auschwitz he has contributed original and penetrating insights to the philosophical literary and historical debates on ethics art and the representation of the nazi genocide in honor of berel lang s five decades of scholarly and philosophical contributions the editors of ethics art and representations of the holocaust invited seventeen eminent scholars from around the world to discuss lang s impact on their own research and to reflect on how the nazi genocide continues to resonate in contemporary debates about antisemitism commemoration and poetic representations resisting what alvin rosenfeld warned as the end of the holocaust the essays in this collection signal the holocaust as an event without closure of enduring resonance to new generations of scholars of genocide jewish studies and philosophy readers will find original and provocative essays on topics as diverse as nietzsche s reputed nazi leanings jewish anti apartheid activists in south africa wartime rescue in poland philosophical responses to the holocaust hidden diaries in the kovno ghetto and analyses of reactions to trauma in classic literary works by bernhard schlink sylvia plath and derek walcott based on a conference held in honor of professor tarow indow this volume is organized into three major topics concerning the use of geometry in perception space referring to attempts to represent the subjective space within which we locate ourselves and perceive objects to reside color dealing with attempts to represent the structure of color percepts as revealed by various experimental procedures and scaling focusing on the organization of various bodies of data in this case perceptual through scaling techniques primarily multidimensional ones these topics provide a natural organization of the work in the field as well as one that corresponds to the major aspects of indow s contributions this book s goal is to provide the reader with an overview of the issues in each of the areas and to present current results from the laboratories of leading researchers in these areas the book examines several models which have been advocated for a workable and acceptable solution to the kurdish problem which would be absolutely necessary for stability in the west asian region the book evaluates how the more than two decade long experience of kurdish self rule in a democratic framework in iraqi kurdistan affects the debate over the other kurdish regions in west asia with turkey s european union accession process contributing to the opening of the political space to ethno nationalism there is a need for a non military solution to the kurdish issue the book analyses the role of kurdish diaspora which plays a significant part in placing the kurdish question on the european political agenda it also examines the role of the kurds in the aftermath of the arab spring and the changing geopolitics in the region now the kurds maintain the strongest platform in battling against the isis terrorists this book examines how representations of african in the anglophone west have changed in the post imperial age the period since the second world war has seen profound changes in sub saharan africa notably because of decolonization the creation of independent nation states and the transformation of the relationships with the west using a range of case studies from news media maps popular culture film and tv the contributions assess how narrative and counter narratives have developed and been received by their audiences in light of these changes examining the overlapping areas between media representations and historical events this book will be of interest to students and scholars of african studies and media and cultural studies the theory of d modules deals with the algebraic aspects of differential equations these are particularly interesting on homogeneous manifolds since the infinitesimal action of a lie algebra consists of differential operators hence it is possible to attach geometric invariants like the support and the characteristic variety to representations of lie groups by considering d modules on flag varieties one obtains a simple classification of all irreducible admissible representations of reductive lie groups on the other hand it is natural to study the representations realized by functions on pseudo riemannian symmetric spaces i e spherical representations the problem is then to describe the spherical representations among all irreducible ones and to compute their multiplicities this is the goal of this work achieved fairly completely at least for the discrete series representations of reductive symmetric spaces the book provides a general introduction to the theory of d modules on flag varieties and it describes spherical d modules in terms of a cohomological formula using microlocalization of representations the author derives a criterion for irreducibility the relation between multiplicities and singularities is also discussed at length originally published in 1990 the princeton legacy library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of princeton university press these editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions the goal of the princeton legacy library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by princeton university press since its founding in 1905 this volume presents a collection of essays on different aspects of roman sarcophagi these varied approaches will produce fresh insights into a subject which is receiving increased interest in english language scholarship with a new awareness of the important contribution that sarcophagi can make to the study of the social use and production of roman art the book will therefore be a timely addition to existing literature metropolitan sarcophagi are the main focus of the volume which will cover a wide time range from the first century ad to post classical periods including early christian sarcophagi and post classical reception other papers will look at aspects of viewing and representation iconography and marble analysis there will be an introduction written by the co editors elizabeth i is perhaps the most visible woman in early modern europe yet little attention has been paid to what she said about the difficulties of constructing her power in a patriarchal society this revisionist study examines her struggle for authority through the representation of her female body based on a variety of extant historical and literary materials frye s interpretation focuses on three representational crises spaced fifteen years apart the london coronation of 1559 the kenilworth entertainments of 1575 and the publication of the faerie queene in 1590 in ways which varied with social class and historical circumstance the london merchants the members of the protestant faction courtly artists and artful courtiers all sought to stabilize their own gendered identities by constructing the queen within the natural definitions of the feminine as passive and weak elizabeth fought back acting as a discursive agent by crossing and thus disrupting these definitions she and those closely identified with her interests evolved a number of strategies through which to express her political control in terms of the ownership of her body including her elaborate
