patricia a banks traverses the new york and atlanta art worlds to uncover how black identities are cultivated through black art patronage drawing on over 100 in depth interviews observations at arts events and photographs of art displayed in homes banks elaborates a racial identity theory of consumption that highlights how upper middle class blacks forge black identities for themselves and their children through the consumption of black visual art she not only challenges common assumptions about elite cultural participation but also contributes to the heated debate about the significance of race for elite blacks and illuminates recent art world developments in doing so banks documents how the salience of race extends into the cultural life of even the most socioeconomically successful kitchen or shangri la is a riddle mystery wrapped up in an enigma about former chief of homicide in san fernando valley california john mirabella and his wife theresa teri who believe they found their ideal town for retirement in the san bernardino san gabriel area in california on their first visit to the town of portolina they find a very unfriendly sheriff and several inhospitable citizens of the town who to put it mildly urge the visitors to leave john mirabella however remains unfazed by the outlandish treatment he and his wife received on their initial visit they return to portolina only to experience an attempt on their lives john one of the heroes in my book romulus and remus the imperfect murders enlists the help of the other hero in the aforementioned book ernie barnes private investigator as both embark on a suspenseful and most unusual journey to discover the reasons for the behavior of the portolinians in their attempt to hide whatever alleged crime s they have been committing eventually they bring a mutual friend fbi agent augie brandt and his brother state trooper gary brandt into the case the lawmen work on theories involving murder drug marketing a recent brinks armored vehicle robbery racketeering bank robbery money laundering kidnapping and rape those theories are just a few of the possibilities devised by the four experienced investigators who are frustrated as they try to avoid facing a brick wall in following each theory to its conclusion the final chapter chapter 35 presents quite a surprising revelation as it begins with a raid on the community and ends with the answer to the question is portolina a hells kitchen or a shangri la tom malloy a first year student at the elite van loring latin college a school strictly for pre med and pre law students with extremely high iq s and almost perfect sat scores is accused of murdering his professor of criminology all the professors of this college incidentally are considered the most brilliant world wide members of the high iq organization known as the cerebralists harold goldberg the student s attorney ernie barnes private investigator john mirabella chief of homicide detectives and carl wells prosecutor all play key roles in this murder mystery as do the college professors and the administrative personnel mrs elizabeth arliss enters the story as the comic relief in a way as her testimony at the trial brings the gallery to a standing ovation whether tom malloy is the murderer or not remains the mystery until the end the chapters preceding the crime detail the planning of the murders and the working of two separate minds intent on accomplishing the same objective the perfect murder this book is a page turner thrilling and suspenseful up to the very end with the defense attorney and the prosecutor attempting to outwit one another before a judge who refuses to tolerate their shenanigans courage resilience Ernie Barnes 1988

Ernie Barnes (1928-2015) was an African American painter, muralist, and author. He is best known for his painting "American Gothic" (1970), which is a parody of the famous 1941 painting "American Gothic" by J.M.W. Turner. Barnes' work often depicted African American life and culture, and he was a prominent figure in the Black Arts Movement. His art was characterized by vibrant colors and a strong sense of rhythm and movement. Barnes' work has been exhibited in major museums and galleries around the world, and he has received numerous awards and honors for his contributions to the art world.
