nineteenth century british periodicals for girls and women offer a wealth of material to understand how girls and women fit into their social and cultural worlds of which music making was an important part the girl s own paper first published in 1880 stands out because of its rich musical content keeping practical usefulness as a research tool and as a guide to further reading in mind judith barger has catalogued the musical content found in the weekly and later monthly issues during the magazine s first thirty years in music scores instalments of serialized fiction about musicians music related nonfiction poetry with a musical title or theme illustrations depicting music making and replies to musical correspondents the book s introductory chapter reveals how content in the girl s own paper changed over time to reflect a shift in women s music making from a female accomplishment to an increasingly professional role within the discipline using the piano girl as a case study a comparison with musical content found in the boy's own paper over the same time span offers additional insight into musical content chosen for the girls magazine a user's guide precedes the chronological annotated catalogue the indexes that follow reveal the magazine's diversity of approach to the subject of music
