Activism, Inc. 2006-07-26 activism inc introduces america to an increasingly familiar political actor the canvasser she s the twenty something with the clipboard stopping you on the street or knocking on your door the foot soldier of political campaigns granted unprecedented access to the people s project an unknown yet influential organization driving left leaning grassroots politics dana fisher tells the true story of outsourcing politics in america like the major corporations that outsourced their customer service to companies abroad the grassroots campaigns of national progressive movements including greenpeace the sierra club save the children and the human rights campaign have been outsourced at different times to this single organization during the 2004 presidential campaign the democratic party followed a similar outsourcing model for their canvassing fisher examines the history and rationale behind political outsourcing on the left weaving together frank interviews with canvassers high ranking political officials across the political spectrum and people s project management she compares all of this to the grassroots efforts on the right which remain firmly grounded in communities and local politics this book offers a chilling review of the consequences of political outsourcing connecting local people on the streets throughout america to the national organizations and political campaigns that make up progressive politics it shows what happens to the passionate young activists outsourced to the clients of activism inc

Strategy development in humanitarian NGO positioning and the rise of FCOs

2016-07-29 as competition over donations for humanitarian aid projects intensifies traditional german ngos come under additional pressure from an unlikely side a new breed of aggressively expanding market entrants monopolizes distribution channels thus obtaining a significant market share

lacking any own aid projects however these organizations distribute the raised donations to traditional ngos this unusual set up leaves ngo executives searching for a strategic response while the new competitor s funding is clearly a welcome treat the competitive aspect is much less pleasing this study revisits contemporary approaches to positioning strategy formulation deducing a systematization of fundraising campaign organizations fcos and offering helpful recommendations for ngo executives

Questioning Care in Higher Education 2023-10-29 this book explores questions of care in higher education using joan tronto's seven signs that institutions are not caring well the authors examine whether students and staff consider universities to be caring institutions as such they outline how universities systematically structurally and actively undercare when it comes to supporting students and staff a phenomenon which was amplified by the covid 19 pandemic drawing on scholarly ideas from the sociology of care higher education social justice and feminist critique and in dialogue with empirical insights gathered with people who work and study in universities in australia south africa and the uk the book questions why people care as well as why adopting a caring position in higher education can be viewed as radical the authors conclude by asking what we can do to counter that view by thinking carefully about the purpose power and plurality of care before imagining how we can create more caring universities

Official Governance and Self-governance 2022-11-29 this book offers a new interpretation of the evolution and modernization of social order in china's grass roots communities traditionally social order at the grass roots level was maintained through an organic combination of self rule by the people and authority rule by political leaders as a hybrid form of social order therefore it not only has features of autonomy but also reflects the power of the state apparatus despite the modernization of the nation state the old rules sustaining social order at the grass roots level are still very much in effect and have seamlessly integrated into the new social structure unless we fully appreciate this fundamental continuity we would not be able to understand how social order at the grass roots level today is upheld and functions and the modernization of social order at the grass roots level is most fruitfully studied from the perspectives of the construction of modern public social relations and the development of grass roots systems of social autonomy

The Underworld of Rural China 2023-02-20 this book aims to provide the readers a better understanding of rural china through the particular perspective of the rural underworld it proposes new concepts to describe social changes of rural china by comparing the contemporary rural society with the acquaintance society the classic model for depicting the traditional chinese society the author s down to earth fieldwork has revealed that with a permeating gang influence the society of rural china has actually changed in nature such change in social nature is summarized as the estrangement of acquaintances or moral ambiguity as a result of the rural gangster s unlawful acts of lining their pockets with national resources rural china is going through rural governance involution in short this book develops new models and concepts to establish a comprehensive scientific conceptual system for explaining social reality with hard to come by information and a prudent and multi faceted analysis on a neglected topic this book gradually reveals to the readers the true picture of rural china

American Book Publishing Record 2005 first published in 1999 the key to successful regional development is more a personality issue than a global one contends social economist dr james cécora with a fresh new interdisciplinary approach cécora tackles traditional economic theory to show that a distinct type of individual the innovative entrepreneur can do more to secure economic stability in a particular region than any multinational corporation arguing that global economics have spiraled out of control cécora builds a case for supporting and promoting the development of entrepreneurs at the local and regional level these individuals will he says work at strengthening the regional economy over the long term because of their permanent attachment to a region as well as in vested self interest cécora compares the personalities of corporate managers to self starting entrepreneurs drawing the conclusion that the risk taking ability of entrepreneurial types prompts more creative thinking and regionally appropriate action and solutions this willingness to try new approaches is often a key to success

Get Up, Stand Up 2011 this book presents an interdisciplinary exploration of the governance of public procurement reform in africa through a bottom up approach to case studies and comparative analyses scholars practitioners and social activists write about the organizational mechanisms and implementation gaps in public procurement governance in light of the general premises of national reform reforming the ways in which government purchases works goods and services from the private sector is one of the most sweeping policy reform undertaken in africa in the past decade despite the transnational scope of policy change very little is known about the mechanisms of public procurement governance at the subnational level the argument in this volume is that policy reforms that mitigate contractual hazards along the three dimensional law politics business matrix are more likely to bring about meaningful institutional transformation and broader social accountability key to substantive transformation of public procurement is the revitalization and professionalization of the public sector to meet the opportunities and challenges of development by contract

Promoting IT Enabled Services 2005-06-13 an all access pass to the populist insurrection brewing across the country job outsourcing perpetual busy signals at government agencies slashed paychecks stolen elections a war without end fatally mismanaged ordinary americans on both the right and left are tired of being disenfranchised by corrupt politicians of both parties and are organizing to change the status quo in his invigorating new book david sirota investigates whether this uprising can be transformed into a unified lasting political movement throughout the course of american history uprisings like the one we are seeing now have given birth to powerful movements to end wars protect workers and expand civil rights so the prospect of today s uprising turning into a full fledged populist movement terrifies wall street and washington in the uprising sirota takes us far from the national media spotlight into the trenches where real change is happening from the headquarters of the most powerful third party in america to the bowels of the u s senate from the auditorium of an exxonmobil shareholder meeting to the quasi military staging area of a vigilante force on the mexican border this is vital on the ground reporting that immerses us in the tumultuous give and take of politics at its most personal sirota also offers a biting critique of our politics he shows how the uprising is at its core a reaction to faux bipartisanship in the nation s capital the bipartisanship whereby republican and democratic lawmakers join together in putting the agenda of corporate interests above all those of ordinary citizens ultimately sirota reminds us that the declaration of independence america s original uprising manifesto says that governments derive their powers from the consent of the governed irreverent and insightful the uprising shows how the governed have stopped consenting and have started taking action

Computerworld 2019-06-20 as china becomes increasingly integrated into the global system there will be continuing pressure to acknowledge and engage with non governmental organizations ngos suffice to say without a clear understanding of the state s interaction with ngos and vice versa any political economic and social analysis of china will be incomplete this book provides an urgent insight into contemporary state ngo relations it brings together the most recent research covering three broad themes namely the conceptualizations and subsequent functions of ngos state ngo engagement and ngos as a mediator between state and society in contemporary china the book provides a future glimpse into the challenges of state ngo interactions in china s rapidly developing regions which will aid ngos strategic planning in both the short and long term in addition it allows a measure of predictability in our assessment of chinese ngos behaviour notably when they eventually move their areas of operation from the domestic sphere to an international one the salient themes concepts theories and practice discussed in this book will be of acute interest to students scholars and practitioners in development studies public administration and chinese and asian politics reza hasmath is a lecturer in chinese politics at the university of oxford uk and an associate professor in political science at the university of alberta canada his research looks at state society relationships the labour market experiences of ethnic minorities and development theories and practices jennifer y j hsu is an assistant professor in political science at the university of alberta canada her recent publications include a co authored book hiv aids in china the economic and social determinants routledge 2011 and a co edited book the chinese corporatist state adaption survival and resistance routledge 2012

Drugs Politics 2016-08-26 this book analyses the dynamics that underlie the awarding of public funding to small voluntary organisations in the uk using bourdieu s later work on state power the author argues that these competitions for grants loans and contracts are neoliberal funding games such games tempt grassroots organisations she demonstrates not just because they provide funding but because they confer a symbolic profit by defining the winner and improving status taking part in these neoliberal funding games however can adversely affect the structure and development path of these organisations yet her conclusion is upbeat focusing on the opportunities as well as the challenges that neoliberalism offers grassroots organisations in recompense for the moral weight that they hold within state discourse within supportive coalitions and with a robust evidence base that re politicises neoliberal orthodoxy in fact they can choose to negotiate alternative futures within state policy or to withdraw from these funding games altogether this thought provoking work will appeal to students and researchers of sociology and social policy along with scholars of bourdieu civil society and the voluntary sector
