this close examination by the noted french writer philippe sergent of the works of the american artist donald sultan presents five different appoggiaturas or accompaniments to the paradoxes and their resolutions that surface in sultan s work sergeant comments on the frame and the limits it presents the history of seeing inescapably necessary yet necessary to escape the logical and mathematical questions posed by sultan s constant use of the square the problem of the will of the artist considered historically and grammatically and the space that sultan has carved out for himself between figuration and abstraction donald sultan is one of the leading younger artists working in new york and his works are frequently exhibited there at the knoedler gallery he also has a substantial overseas following philippe sergeant is a novelist dramatist and essayist who has written extensively on the plastic arts this is his first work to be translated into english as judy gruen walked down the aisle and into her orthodox jewish future her bouquet quivered in her shaky hand having grown up in the zeitgeist that proclaimed if it feels good do it was she really ready to live the life of rituals rules and restraints that the torah prescribed the skeptic and the rabbi is a rare memoir with historical depth spirituality and intelligent humor gruen speaks with refreshing honesty about what it means to remain authentic to yourself while charting a new yet ancient spiritual path at odds with the surrounding culture and writes touchingly about her family including her two sets of grandparents who influenced her in wildly opposite ways as she navigates her new life with the man she loves and the faith she also loves surviving several awkward moments including when the rabbi calls to tell her that she accidentally served unkosher food to her shabbat guests gruen brings the reader right along for the ride reading this wry bold and compelling memoir you ll laugh you ll cry and when you re finished you may also have a sudden craving for chicken matzo ball soup kosher of course it all started when a scientist called paget performed some fantastic experiments on dogs cats rats and mice in an attempt to heighten animal intelligence he was far too successful when a few of the specimens escaped from their cages people were amused by the strange creatures but as they rapidly bred and spread and new generations combined vastly sharpened intelligence with a natural hatred of man amusement turned to stark horror one man seemed to know too much about the net paggets for his own safety but not enough to avoid getting caught squarely in the middle of mankind s final desperate battle a savage struggle for supremacy in the world that would be won only by the fittest
