film and television create worlds but they are also of a world a world that is made up of stuff to which humans attach meaning think of the last time you watched a movie the chair you sat in the snacks you ate the people around you maybe the beer or joint you consumed to help you unwind all this stuff shaped your experience of media and its influence on you the material culture around film and television changes how we make sense of their content not to mention the very concepts of the mediums focusing on material cultures of film and television reception the stuff of spectatorship argues that the things we share space with and consume as we consume television and film influence the meaning we gather from them this book examines the roles that six different material cultures have played in film and television culture since the 1970s including video marketing branded merchandise drugs and alcohol and even gun violence and shows how objects considered peripheral to film and television culture are in fact central to its past and future for the few hundred television viewers in 1946 a special treat on the broadcast schedule was the variety show called hour glass it was the first tv program to go beyond talking heads cooking demonstrations and sporting events featuring instead dancers comics singers and long commercials for its sponsor chase and sanborn coffee within two years another variety show texaco star theatre became the first true television hit and would be credited with the sales of thousands of television sets the variety show formula was a staple of television in its first 30 years in part because it lent itself to a medium where everything had to be live and preferably inside a studio most of the early television stars including jackie gleason milton berle sid caesar ed sullivan red skelton dinah shore and arthur godfrey rose to prominence through weekly variety shows in the 1960s major stars such as jerry lewis dean martin judy garland and danny kaye were hosting variety shows by the 1970s the format was giving way to sitcoms and dramas but pop music stars sonny and cher tony orlando and dawn and donny and marie osmond hosted some of the last of the species this book details 57 variety shows from the 1940s through the 1990s a history of each show is first provided followed by a brief look at each episode air date guest stars sketches performed and a listing of songs featured are included la couverture indique alan nadel s new book reminds us that most of the images on early tv were decidedly caucasian and directed at predominantly white audiences television did not invent whiteness for america but it did reinforce it as the norm particularly during the cold war years nadel now shows just how instrumental it was in constructing a narrow conservative and very white vision of america during this era prime time tv was dominated by adult westerns with heroes like the rebel s johnny yuma reincarnating southern values and bonanza s cartwright family reinforcing the notion of white patriarchy programs that nadel shows bristled with cold war messages even as they spoke to the nation s mythology america had become visually reconfigured as a vast ponderosa crisscrossed by concrete highways designed to carry suburban white drivers beyond the moral challenge of racism racial poverty and increasingly vocal civil rights demands
