study why did america become involved in the quagmire of vietnam these readings break new ground in covering and analyzing the multifaceted debate over why the u s intervened diplomatically and militarily in southeast asia between 1945 and 1975 this book discusses the vietnam war beginning with u s involvement in 1956 and ending with the withdrawal of american combat troops this monograph explores the problem of mission creep the trend toward ethnic and regional unrest has characterized the world security environment since the breakup of the former soviet union the u s has struggled to find its place in the new world order as a result us military forces have increasingly found themselves involved in various operations other than traditional warfare often the political aims of these operations are difficult to identify and translate into military operational objectives and end states worse yet the political aims themselves are prone to rapidly shift and evolve from those originally intended leaving the military commander the difficult task of catching up with policy or even guessing at the political objectives this uncertain environment sets the conditions for the delinkage between the political goal and military operations which may result in disaster the monograph examines us operations in somalia to provide the data for the analysis in order to determine the factors which contribute to mission creep examining us somalia policy from 1992 operation restore hope to oct 1993 united nations operations in somalia ii this monograph analyses the evolution of national policy objectives and the military and political operations undertaken to achieve those objectives an analysis of operational and tactical objectives and end states as well as military methods determines the factors which contributed to the failed us involvement in unosom ii in addition the monograph identifies the somali geo political historical cultural and economic factors which influenced us operations this monograph concludes that contradictory and uncoordinated national strategy and political policy resulted in poor operational planning and execution there were also significant factors at the operational level which contributed to the failed us intervention united states involvement in the vietnam war was one of the most important events in the post world war ii period the political social and military consequences of us involvement and defeat in vietnam have been keenly felt within the us and the international community and the lessons learned have continued to exert an influence to the present day this book focuses on the effects of us propaganda on america s western allies particularly france west germany and great britain from the time when the vietnam war began to escalate in february 1965 to the american withdrawal and its immediate aftermath one of its main aims is to assess the amount and veracity of information passed on by the us administration to allied governments and to compare this with the level of public information on the war within those countries bloomsbury publishing how can peace be brokered between warring sides in conflicts over self determination and what roles do external third parties play this book is the first of its kind to thoroughly explore the effectiveness of aid conditionality and other external tools that third parties from states and regional organizations to ngos bring to the table in peace negotiations surveying the existing academic debate on incentives and peace conditionality the author first identifies the gaps between theory and the needs of third party mediators and facilitators

U.S. Official Propaganda During the Vietnam War, 1965-1973 2018 to many americans the war in vietnam was and remains a divisive conflict now almost fifty years after the beginning of major u s combat operations in vietnam the war has faded from much of america s consciousness over half of the u s population was born after the war and has no direct memory of the conflict yet this does not lessen its importance the massive american commitment political military and diplomatic to the independence of south vietnam beginning in the 1950s and continuing with u s direct combat operations in the 1960s and early 1970s makes it important to remember those who served u s involvement in this corner of southeast asia began after world war ii when vietnam was fighting for independence from france although generally favoring vietnamese independence the united states supported france because the rebels or viet minh were led by communists and in the days of the cold war u s officials considered any and all communists to be little more than the puppets of moscow and beijing france s defeat in 1954 the bifurcation of vietnam into a communist north and non communist south and america s assumption of the job of training the armed forces of the newly created non communist republic of vietnam pulled the united states deeper into the conflict framed primarily as a fight to defend democracy against the forces of international communism the united states gradually committed more troops and materiel to fight communist led southern guerrillas or viet cong and the regular military forces sent to south vietnam by the politburo in hanoi by the time president lyndon b johnson committed major combat units in 1965 the united states had already invested thousands of men and millions of dollars in the fight to build a secure and stable south vietnam that commitment expanded rapidly until by 1969 the united states had over 365 000 soldiers in every military region of south vietnam with thousands of other servicemen and women throughout the pacific area in direct support of operations the war saw many technological innovations including the massive use of helicopters wide scale use of computers sophisticated psychological operations new concepts of counterinsurgency and major advances in military medicine yet as in most wars much of the burden of battle was still borne by the foot soldiers on the ground who slogged over the hills and through the rice paddies in search of an often elusive foe the enormous military and political effort by the united states was however continuously matched by the determination of north vietnamese leaders to unify their country under communism at whatever cost that determination in the end proved decisive negotiations accompanied by the gradual withdrawal of american forces led to the paris peace accords in january 1973 effectively ending the u s military role the continued existence of an independent south vietnam however was of short duration two years after the american exit the north vietnamese army overran south vietnam and sealed its victory in april 1975 the vast majority of american men and women who served in vietnam did so in the uniform of the united states army they served their country when called many at great personal cost against a backdrop of growing uncertainty and unrest at home these commemorative pamphlets are dedicated to them
