George

1890

George Gissing was an English writer noted for the unflinching realism of his novels about the lower middle class. His work is serious though not without a good deal of comic observation, interesting, scrupulously honest, and rather flat. Gissing was deeply critical in an almost wholly negative way of contemporary society. This selection, chosen by the critic August Nemo, contains the following stories: The House of Cobwebs, A Capitalist, Christopherson Humplebee, The Scrupulous Father, A Poor Gentleman, Miss Rodney's Leisure.

Let the good times continue when we last read about George and Mabel. They were celebrating their 25th anniversary. We learned about their love story, their families, and about the tremendous fact that all things do work together for good for those who love the Lord. Book Two continues those traditions. Readers will learn more about their family members, more situations where love prevails, and of course where George and Mabel are likely to show up next. Continue living and loving with the Harrisons according to Stolen. Author Gena Williams: George and Mabel are the neighbors everyone wishes they lived next door to.
