Global City-regions 2002

there are now more than three hundred city regions around the world with populations greater than one million these city regions are expanding vigorously and they present many new and deep challenges to researchers and policy makers in both the more developed and less developed parts of the world the processes of global economic integration and accelerated urban growth make traditional planning and policy strategies in these regions increasingly inadequate while more effective approaches remain largely in various stages of hypothesis and experimentation global city regions represents a multifaceted effort to deal with the many different issues raised by these developments it seeks at once to define the question of global city regions and to describe the internal and external dynamics that shape them it proposes a theorization of global city regions based on their economic and political responses to intensifying levels of globalization and it offers a number of policy insights into the severe social problems that confront global city regions as they come face to face with an economically and politically neoliberal world at a moment when globalization is increasingly subject to critical scrutiny in many different quarters this book provides a timely overview of its effects on urban and regional development one of its most important but perhaps least understood corollaries the book also offers a series of nuanced visions of alternative possible futures governance this latter theme explores territorially based understandings of intervention and the changing set of political concerns in selected case studies in efforts to address these issues and improve upon knowledge this collection brings together international scholars building new data driven cross disciplinary theories to create new images of the city region that may prove to supplement if not supplant old ones the book illustrates the dialectical interplay of theory and fact time and space and spatial and institutional which expands on our intellectual grasp of the theoretical debates on city regions through practical knowing citing examples from europe the united states australasia and beyond this book was originally published as a special issue of regional studies draws on eleven case studies of similar but disparate urban regions in France, Germany and the United States from the 1960s to the 1990s. It documents the growth of this urban governance and develops a pioneering analysis of its causes and consequences. It traces the origins to the expansion and devolution of policy making to local business mobilization and institutional interests in high tech and service activities and the incorporation of local social movements. Nation states shape the possibilities for this urban governance but operate increasingly as infrastructures for local initiatives where urban governance has succeeded in combining environmental quality and social inclusion with local prosperity. Local officials have built on supportive infrastructures from higher levels the local economy, civil society and favourable positions in the global economy.

Mega city regions are currently a frequent topic of discussion. Researchers are exploring the fundamentals for understanding the role of metropolitan regions and their social, economic and cultural developments on a national and European basis. The responsible decision makers in politics and business are calling for new measures for greater urban areas but that is just the start of the problem europe seems to lack an awareness for metropolitan regions for the majority of politicians planners institutions and residents the features of mega city regions remain invisible they are scarcely charted there are no concepts for representing them or any direct sensory understanding of them in everyday life the book is based on the understanding that the visual depiction of mega city regions is fundamental to identifying acting and developing within existing concentrations of urban populations through essays from various disciplines the book approaches the phenomenon and discusses the necessity to visualize mega city regions 203 illustrations the region is back in town galloping urbanization has pushed beyond historical notions of metropolitanism city regions have experienced in edward soja s terms an epochal shift in the nature of the city and the urbanization process marking the beginning of the end of the modern metropolis as we knew it governing cities through regions broadens and deepens our understanding of metropolitan governance through an innovative comparative project that engages with anglo american french and german literatures on the subject of regional governance it expands the comparative angle from issues of economic competitiveness and social cohesion to topical and relevant fields such as housing and transportation and it expands comparative work on municipal governance to the regional scale with contributions from established and emerging international scholars of urban and regional governance the volume covers conceptual topics and case studies that contrast the experience of a range of canadian metropolitan regions with a strong selection of european regions it starts from assumptions of limited conversion among regions across the atlantic but is keenly aware of the remarkable differences in urban regions path dependencies in which the larger processes of globalization and neo liberalization are situated and materialized
