provide useful work have been key drivers of economic growth since the industrial revolution western countries now need to transform their energy systems and move away from the single minded pursuit of economic growth in order to reduce our carbon emissions and to allow the environmental space for other countries to develop in a more sustainable way achieving this requires understanding of the dynamics of economic and industrial change with appreciation of the dependence of economies on ecological systems energy and economic growth thus examines the links between three issues history of energy sources technologies and uses ecological challenges associated with the current dominant economic growth paradigm and the future low carbon energy transition to mitigate human induced climate change providing a historical understanding of the relevant connections between physical social and economic changes the book enables the reader to better understand the connection between their own energy use and global economic and environmental systems and to be able to ask the right questions of our political and business leaders this is a valuable resource for students scholars and policy makers with an interest in energy climate change and economic thinking this book is an inquiry into the role of law in the contemporary political economy of hunger in the work of many international institutions governments and ngos law is represented as a solution to the persistence of hunger this presentation is evident in the efforts to realize a human right to adequate food as well as in the positioning of law in the form of regulation as a tool to protect society from unruly markets in this monograph anna chadwick draws on theoretical work from a range of disciplines to challenge accounts that portray law s role in the context of hunger as exclusively remedial the book takes as its starting point claims that financial traders caused the 2007 8 global food crisis by speculating in financial instruments linked to the prices of staple grains the introduction of new regulations to curb the excesses of the financial sector in order to protect the food insecure reinforces the dominant perception that law can solve the problem chadwick investigates a number of different legal regimes spanning public international law international economic law transnational governance private law and human rights law to gather evidence for a counterclaim law is part of the problem the character of the contemporary global food system a food system that is being progressively financialized owes everything to law if world hunger is to be eradicated chadwick argues then greater attention needs to be paid to how different legal regimes operate to consistently privilege the interests of the wealthy few over the needs of poor and the hungry platform economics tackles head on the rhetoric surrounding the so called sharing economy which has muddied public debate and has contributed to a lack of policy and regulatory intervention this book addresses contemporary and modern topics around business growth and economic development in southeastern europe it covers a wide range of business issues focusing on the adoption of new technologies finance of smes place marketing value co creation contribution to economic growth and internationalization moverover it sheds new light on the micro and macroeconomic developments and monetary policy issues in the eastern european and balkan countries this book is a useful tool for scholars in economics and finance interested in the further economic development of the balkans and eastern european countries as well as to professionals in the business financial and insurance sectors one of the most dramatic events in the global economy over the past few decades has been the rise of china as a global economic power from humble beginnings in the late 1970s the policy shift in china from a planned to market economy has led to economic growth of tremendous speed this book examines the changes taking place in china s economy today and the impacts of these changes in china and abroad the central theme is that the rapid economic growth has come at a cost as many problems have emerged as a result in china s economy and society including a dramatic rich poor gap labour issues problems in the banking sector and severe inflation in the cost of housing as well as challenges with respect to china s external trade the chinese government recognizes these problems and is taking steps to rebalance its economy and society the book takes a political economy perspective in order to investigate the interplay between the political system in china and the way in which the economy is structured and the manner in which economic changes take place demonstrating that in order for china to achieve sustained economic growth and social improvement it must undertake serious policy changes it also highlights that if countries are going to deal with china in a stable and productive manner a thorough understanding of key contemporary developments in that country is vital covering a range of the most pertinent issues facing china today this book will be of interest to students and scholars of chinese economics economic development and political economy ugc net economics unit 2 new economic thinking and real estate offers a modern and distinctive approach to forecasting and understanding property markets with this book students will develop an intuitive ability to interpret economic indicators and acquire the confidence to assess property markets the book is divided into three parts part a resource choices deals with microeconomics part b financial research methods to the management of linguistic diversity in an era of globalization in an era of globalization issues of language diversity have economic and political implications transnational labor mobility trade social inclusion of migrants democracy in multilingual countries and companies international competitiveness all have a linguistic dimension yet economists in general do not include language as a variable in their research this volume demonstrates that the application of rigorous economic theories and research methods to issues of language policy yields valuable insights the contributors offer both theoretical and empirical analyses of such topics as the impact of language diversity on economic outcomes the distributive effects of policy regarding official languages the individual welfare consequences of bilingualism and the link between language and national identity their research is based on data from countries including canada india kazakhstan and indonesia and from the regions of central america europe and sub saharan africa theoretical models are explained intuitively for the nonspecialist the relationships among linguistic variables inequality and the economy are approached from different perspectives including economics sociolinguistics and political science for this reason the book offers a substantive contribution to interdisciplinary work on languages in society and language policy proposing a common framework for a shared research area contributors alisher aldashev katalin buzási ramon caminal alexander m danzer maxime leblanc desgagné this book is an inquiry into the role of law in the contemporary political economy of hunger in the work of many international institutions governments and ngos law is represented as a solution to the persistence of hunger this presentation is evident in the efforts to realize a human right to adequate food as well as in the positioning of law in the form of regulation as a tool to protect society from unruly markets in this monograph anna chadwick draws on theoretical work from a range of disciplines to challenge accounts that portray law s role in the context of hunger as exclusively remedial the book takes as its starting point claims that financial traders caused the 2007 8 global food crisis by speculating in financial instruments linked to the prices of staple grains the introduction of new regulations to curb the excesses of the financial sector in order to protect the food insecure reinforces the dominant perception that law can solve the problem chadwick investigates a number of different legal regimes spanning public international law international economic law transnational governance private law and human rights law to gather evidence for a counterclaim law is part of the problem the character of the contemporary global food system a food system that is being progressively financialized owes everything to law if world hunger is to be eradicated chadwick argues then greater attention needs to be paid to how different legal regimes operate to consistently privilege the interests of the wealthy few over the needs of poor and the hungry
