americans revere their constitution however most of us are unaware how tumultuous and improbable the drafting and ratification processes were as benjamin franklin keenly observed any assembly of men bring with them all their prejudices their passions their errors of opinion their local interests and their selfish views one need not deny that the framers had good intentions in order to believe that they also had interests based on prodigious research and told largely through the voices of the participants michael klarman s the framers coup narrates how the framers clashing interests shaped the constitution and american history itself the philadelphia convention could easily have been a failure and the risk of collapse was always present had the convention dissolved any number of adverse outcomes could have resulted including civil war or a reversion to monarchy not only does klarman capture the knife s edge atmosphere of the convention he populates his narrative with riveting and colorful stories the rebellion of debtor farmers in massachusetts george washington s uncertainty about whether to attend gunning bedford s threat to turn to a european prince if the small states were denied equal representation in the senate slave states threats to take their marbles and go home if denied representation for their slaves hamilton s quasi monarchist speech to the convention and patrick henry s herculean efforts to defeat the constitution in virginia through demagoguery and conspiracy theories the framers coup is more than a compendium of great stories however and the powerful arguments that feature throughout will reshape our understanding of the nation s founding simply put the constitutional convention almost didn t happen and once it happened it almost failed and even after the convention succeeded the constitution it produced almost failed to be ratified just as importantly the constitution was hardly the product of philosophical reflections by brilliant disinterested statesmen but rather ordinary interest group politics multiple conflicting interests had a say from creditors and debtors to city dwellers and backwoodsmen the upper class overwhelmingly supported the constitution many working class colonists were more dubious slave states and nonslave states had different perspectives on how well the constitution served their interests ultimately both the constitution s content and its ratification process raise troubling questions about democratic legitimacy the federalists were eager to avoid full fledged democratic deliberation over the constitution and the document that was ratified was stacked in favor of their preferences and in terms of substance the constitution was a significant departure from the more democratic state constitutions of the 1770s definitive and authoritative the framers coup explains why the framers preferred such a constitution and how they managed to persuade the country to adopt it we have lived with the consequences both positive and negative ever since increased environmental awareness more demands on local governments a newly invigorated citizen activism and a decaying and overburdened the main theme of this book is that within contemporary capitalist societies a materialist outlook informed by science has triumphed creating the lack of a spiritual dimension to give meaning and purpose to the activities that are necessary for a capitalist society to function effectively capitalist societies are in trouble and need to be restructured to provide for the material needs of all the people who work within the system not just the one percent but because of the lack of a spiritual connection with each other and with nature this is not likely to happen it has been said that society and the organizations within treat one another as objects to be manipulated in the interests of promoting economic growth and treat nature as an object to be exploited for the same purpose this way of treating each other and nature is consistent with the way a capitalist system has worked in the past and was supposed to enable it to function efficiently to provide a fulfilling and enriched life for all its adherents through growth of the economy however as capitalist societies have become dysfunctional they will need a different kind of orientation to continue in existence restructuring capitalism materialism and spiritualism in business argues that what is needed is a new sense of a spiritualization of the self and its relation to others and to the establishment of a spiritual connection with nature in order for capitalism to be restructured to work for everyone and for the society as a whole
