this is a story that is based on what i hope was a really intense dream i had i find myself dead and standing in a line on an ancient looking rope bridge i ve never been very good at waiting in a line so i slowing begin to talk my way ahead of the others in line one of the first people i encounter is a young women who is very upset that she had been killed by a drunk driver who had never been caught when i tried to console her i was transported from the bridge to where she had been killed and was able to cause the killer to be captured and punished returning to the bridge i found her no longer angry but happy and at peace somehow i had changed her and thought how cool it was to have done that i meet many more people and experience many more adventures as i did with the woman some of the people i am able to help and some i can t but was somehow able to make very small to very drastic changes along the way the story ends at the gates of both heaven and hell however my story ends differently from everyone else s on the bridge forty years after its original publication james agee s last novel seems more than ever an american classic for in his lyrical sorrowful account of a man s death and its impact on his family agee painstakingly created a small world of domestic happiness and then showed how quickly and casually it could be destroyed on a sultry summer night in 1915 jay follet leaves his house in knoxville tennessee to tend to his father whom he believes is dying the summons turns out to be a false alarm but on his way back to his family jay has a car accident and is killed instantly dancing back and forth in time and braiding the viewpoints of jay s wife brother and young son rufus agee creates an overwhelmingly powerful novel of innocence tenderness and loss that should be read aloud for the sheer music of its prose an utterly individual and original book one of the most deeply worked out expressions of human feeling that i have ever read alfred kazin new york times book review it is in the full sense poetry the language of the book at once luminous and discreet remains in the mind new republic people i know who read a death in the family forty years ago still talk about it so do i it is a great book and i m happy to see it done anew andre dubus author of dancing after hours and meditations from a moveable chair challenging assumptions about caregiving for those dying of chronic illness what is it like to live with and love someone whose death while delayed is nevertheless foretold in living in death s shadow emily k abel an expert on the history of death and dying examines memoirs written between 1965 and 2014 by family members of people who died from chronic disease in earlier eras death generally occurred quickly from acute illnesses but as chronic disease became the major cause of mortality many people continued to live with terminal diagnoses for months and even years illuminating the excruciatingly painful experience of coping with a family member s extended fatal illness abel analyzes the political personal cultural and medical dimensions of these struggles the book focuses on three significant developments that transformed the experiences of those dying and their intimates the passage of medicare and medicaid the growing use of high tech treatments at the end of life and the rise of a movement to humanize the care of dying people it questions the exalted value placed on acceptance of mortality as well as the notion that it is always better to die at home than in an institution ultimately living in death s shadow emphasizes the need to shift attention from the drama of death to the entire course of a serious chronic disease the chapters follow a common narrative of life threatening disease learning the diagnosis deciding whether to enroll in a clinical trial acknowledging or struggling against the limits of medicine receiving care at home and in a hospital or nursing home and obtaining palliative and hospice care living in death s shadow is essential reading for everyone seeking to understand what it means to live with someone suffering from a chronic fatal condition including cancer aids alzheimer's and heart disease
