The Selected Poems of Tu Fu 1989 for over a millennium Chinese literati have almost unanimously considered Tu Fu 712-770 a d to be their greatest poet

Selected Poems of Du Fu 2003-03-17 Du Fu 712-777 has been called China's greatest poet and some call him the greatest non-epic, non-dramatic poet whose writings survive in any language. Du Fu excelled in a great variety of poetic forms showing a richness of language ranging from elegant to colloquial, from allusive to direct. His impressive breadth of subject matter includes intimate personal detail as well as a great deal of historical information which earned him the epithet poet-historian. Some 1,400 of Du Fu's poems survive today, his fame resting on about one hundred that have been widely admired over the centuries. Preeminent translator Burton Watson has selected 127 poems including those for which Du Fu is best remembered and lesser-known works.

A Little Primer of Tu Fu 2016-06-21 the deepest and most varied of the Tang dynasty poets, Tu Fu, Du Fu is in the words of David Hinton, the first complete poetic sensibility in Chinese literature. Tu Fu merged the public and the private often in the same poem as his subjects ranged from the horrors of war to the delights of friendship, from closely observed landscapes to remembered dreams, from the evocation of historical moments to a wry lament over his own thinning hair. Although Tu Fu has been translated often and often brilliantly, David Hawkes's classic study first published in 1967 is the only book that demonstrates in depth how his poems were written. Hawkes presents thirty-five poems in the original Chinese with a pinyin transliteration, a character-by-character translation, and a commentary on the subject, the form, the historical background, and the individual lines. There is no other book quite like it for any language. A nuts and bolts account of how Chinese poems in general and specifically the poems of one of the world's greatest poets are constructed. It's an irresistible challenge for readers to invent their own translations.

Du Fu 2013-08-21 Du Fu 712-770 is one of the undisputed geniuses of Chinese poetry, still universally admired and read thirteen centuries after his death. Now David Young, author of Black Lab and well-known as a translator of Chinese poets, gives us a sparkling new translation of Du Fu's verse arranged to give us a tour of the life. Each chapter of poems preceded by an introductory paragraph that situates us in place, time, and circumstance. What emerges is a portrait of a modest yet great artist, an ordinary man moving and adjusting as he must in troubled times while creating a startling, timeless body of work. Du Fu wrote poems that engaged his contemporaries and widened the path of the lyric poet as his society, one of the world's great civilizations, slipped from a golden age into chaos. He wrote of the uncertain course of empire, the misfortunes and pleasures of his own family, the hard lives of ordinary people, the changing seasons, and the lives of creatures who shared his environment. As the poet chases chickens around the yard, observes tear streaks on his wife's cheek, or receives a gift of some shallots from a neighbor, young's rendering brings Du Fu's voice naturally and elegantly to life. I sing what comes to me in ways both old and modern. My only audience right now nearby bushes and trees, elegant houses stand in an elegant row too many. If my heart turns to ashes, then that's all right with me. From meandering river.

Tu Fu 2004-12-01 this volume is published in commemoration of the 1,250th birthday of Tu Fu, one of China's greatest poets who lived in the tang dynasty 618 907 and tu fu was a contemporary and equal of li po widely known in the west in the minds of many chinese people he is even greater both glorified their days the golden age of classical chinese poetry with writings of unmatched brilliance it was a time of great turmoil a time when the tang rule was declining and wars of aggression swept the country tu fu born of an intelligentsia family sank to the lowest rung of the social ladder he shared the lot of the common folk and therefore had a deep insight into the calamities and sufferings in which they were involved he hated wars of aggression and longed for peace he made his poetry a vehicle for the expression of his sympathy for the people as well as a faithful account of his own tragedy his poems have been cherished with ever growing admiration in 1962 tu fu was commemorated as one of the world's cultural giants feng chih the compiler of this book is a professor of peking university and the outstanding specialist on tu fu's works his other collection of tu fu's works containing 264 poems is popular reading among chinese lovers of poetry the translator rewi alley himself a poet from new zealand has been in china for more than thirty years he has travelled widely in northwestern and southwestern china and has personally seen the mountains rivers cities and countryside mentioned by tu fu he is most qualified for the translation of tu fu's poems the present volume contains 140 of tu fu's poems written at various periods of his life some of them already widely read additional features include the reproductions of the rubbing of a stone carving of tu fu's portrait facsimiles of tu fu's works printed in the sung and yuan dynasties and paintings inspired by the poems

Poems 2015-07-30 li po ad 701 62 and tu fu ad 712 70 were devoted friends who are traditionally considered to be among china's greatest poets li po a legendary carouser was an itinerant poet whose writing often dream poems or spirit journeys soars to sublime heights in its descriptions of natural scenes and powerful emotions his sheer escapism and joy is balanced by tu fu who expresses the confucian virtues of humanity and humility in more autobiographical works that are imbued with great compassion and earthy reality and shot through with humour together these two poets of the tang dynasty complement each other so well that they often came to be spoken of as one li tu who covers the whole spectrum of human life experience and feeling
