tales had been handed down through generations of telling before marie campbell collected them in the late 1920s and early 1930s readers will recognize the story of snow white in a stepchild that was treated mighty bad while three shirts and a golden finger ring recalls the fairy tale of the seven swans the fellow that married a dozen times is a lively rendition of bluebeard as the narrators cautioned marie campbell again and again tale telling is nigh about faded out in the mountain country but tales from the cloud walking country offers a lasting record of history cultural heritage language and good old fashioned fun

Tales from the Cult Film Trenches 2007-09-20 dealing with the most translated work of german literature the tales of the brothers grimm 1812 1815 this book discusses their history notably in relation to denmark and subsequently other nations from 1816 to 1986 the danish intelligentsia responded enthusiastically to the tales and some were immediately translated into danish by a nobleman and by the foremost romantic poet their renditions remained in print for a century and imbued the tales with high prestige this book discusses translators approaches and other parameters such as copyright and changes in target audiences the tales social acceptability inspired hans christian andersen to write his celebrated fairytales combined the grimm and andersen tales came to constitute the international fairytale this genre was born in processes of translation and today it is rooted more firmly in the world of translation than in national literatures this book thus addresses issues of interest to literary cross cultural studies and translation

Tales from the Dramatists, 1580 to 1780 1898 thanks to these generous donors for making the publication of the books in this series possible lloyd e cotsen the maurice amado foundation national endowment for the humanities and the national foundation for jewish culture tales from arab lands presents tales from north africa yemen lebanon syria and iraq in the latest volume of the most important collection of jewish folktales ever published this is the third book in the multi volume series in the tradition of louis ginzberg s timeless classic legends of the jews the tales here and the others in this series have been selected from the israel folktale archives ifa named in honor of dov noy at the university of haifa a treasure house of jewish lore that has remained largely unavailable to the entire world until now since the creation of the state of israel the ifa has collected more than 20 000 tales from newly arrived immigrants long lost stories shared by their families from around the world the tales come from the major ethno linguistic communities of the jewish world and are representative of a wide variety of subjects and motifs especially rich in jewish content and context each of the tales is accompanied by in depth commentary that explains the tale s cultural historical and literary background and its similarity to other tales in the ifa collection and extensive scholarly notes there is also an introduction that describes the culture and its folk narrative tradition a world map of the areas covered illustrations biographies of the collectors and narrators tale type and motif indexes a subject index and a comprehensive bibliography until the establishment of the ifa we had had only limited access to the wide range of jewish folk narratives even in israel the gathering place of the most wide ranging cross section of world jewry these folktales have remained largely unknown many of the communities no longer exist as cohesive societies in their representative lands the holocaust migration and changes in living styles have made the continuation of these tales impossible this series is a monument to a rich but vanishing oral tradition this series is a monument to a rich but vanishing oral tradition

Tales from the Top 2006 they say that the eldest of the chief s daughters so begins a tale from the basotho unfolded by the meager light of a dung fire that burns smokily behind the reed screen sheltering the entrance of the hut the old ones of the tribe wait until dark before telling their stories for everyone knows horns will grow from the head of one who tells a story during daylight hours tales from the basotho abounds with elements familiar to folk narrative the heroes and heroines are the chiefs and their wives their sons and their daughters fantastic creatures frequent the narratives exhibiting their awful powers rustic peace and beauty pervade the stories as minnie postma amply demonstrates in her versions of the tales something fearful may be occurring the dreaded koeoko pulling the only son of the chief under water but at the same time girls with babies tied to their backs are searching for edible bulbs in the veld and an old woman dreams in the gentle sunlight in front of the huts these tales from the basotho are for entertainment only there is a tabu against telling tales while the sun shines because daylight hours must be saved for work the telling itself is the reason the story exists for the audience is already aware of the outcome of each tale as wm hugh jansen emphasizes in his foreword text and context are often easily interpreted and made accessible in a translation but tales from the basotho is ultimately successful for its rendering of texture and texture is doubly hard to convey when the telling itself is of primary importance minnie postma and susie mcdermid have transferred the art of the basotho raconteur onto the printed page all the simple understandable formulas exclamations and repetitions used so skillfully by the native storyteller are present rhythm is an important element in the tales and a word a phrase even a whole paragraph will be repeated until the rhythm satisfies the storyteller in tum increasing the appreciation of the listeners
