Arts, Portraits and Representation in the Reformation Era

2019-07-15

the role played by artistic literary historical and theological representations in the establishment of the european reformation has attracted scholarly attention over the years while they were generally regarded as a significant means of conveying the evangelical message particularly in a society with a low average literacy rate this scholarly consensus was then seriously challenged by objecting that their meaning must have remained opaque to those who couldn't read and interpret their sometimes multilayered imagery and their verbal and figurative messages this volume which publishes some of the papers delivered at the fourth reformation research consortium conference held in bologna may 15th 17th 2014 is an attempt to examine the visual intelligibility of the european reformation by a comparative multiconfessional and multidisciplinary analysis of examples taken from both the catholic and the protestant world in the early modern and modern era with particular reference to the figurative arts but also to history and theology all the case studies included here examine their peculiar subjects with regard to their religious and artistic contexts in order to understand their historical significance in a new fashion combining approaches from political history history of arts historiography anthropology philosophy and theology thus the volume offers a very rich outline of how visual culture and representation through arts was embodied in very different cultural portraits and images

The Constitution of Belgium

2015-10-22

the belgian constitution once described as a model of consensus democracy has now become an enigma in comparative federalism on the one hand it demonstrates features which suggest institutional instability as well as elements that enhance the probability of secession on the other hand belgium continues to exist as a federal system based upon linguistic bipolarity this linguistic bipolarity dominates belgian politics and has shaped the design of belgium s institutions as well as the constitution s fundamental organising principles concepts of federalism democracy separation of powers constitutionalism and the rule of law in this book the institutional structure and the principles governing the belgian constitutional system are explained in the light of its historical demographic and political context linguistic bipolarity and its historical evolution explain the establishment of the belgian state structure as a dual federalism with exclusive powers instruments for consensus making and obstruction and elements of confederal decision making it also explains the evolution in the concept of principles of democracy and the rule of law besides describing the devolutionary process the book also incorporates two other elements that have shaped the belgian constitutional landscape fundamental rights and europeanisation

Outsourcing Rulemaking Powers

within democratic states parliaments have always been regarded as playing a pivotal role in the creation of rules through its composition parliament represents the opinions and interests of society which it serves through the legislative process but in an increasingly globalized world nation states are confronted with issues that require international cooperation expert knowledge and flexibility to resolve rather than taking the lead parliaments are increasingly settling for a managerial position and have begun to outsource their rulemaking powers and other constitutional responsibilities rather than exercising them themselves outsourcing rulemaking powers identifies the shared constitutional principles that determine the limits to the outsourcing of rulemaking powers it asks fundamental questions of its readers such as which powers should be outsourced and to whom what mechanisms are in place to guarantee the quality of the rules they make through the examination of multiple countries this book argues that there should be minimal legal safeguards to which all rules must heed in particular those made by autonomous public or private actors offering a bridge between traditional constitutional law and transnational private law this book will be of interest to both practitioners and scholars within the global communities of comparative constitutionalism global administrative law and transnational private law
