the institute for computer applications in science and engineering icase and nasa langley research center larc brought together on october 2 4 1989 experts in the various areas of combustion with a view to expose them to some combustion problems of technological interest to larc and possibly foster interaction with the academic community in these research areas the topics chosen for this purpose were flame structure flame stability flame holding extinction chemical kinetics turbulence kinetics in transition transition to detonation and reacting free shear layers the lead paper set the stage by discussing the status and issues of supersonic combustion relevant to scramjet engine then the experts were called upon i to review the current status of knowledge in the aforementioned areas ii to focus on how this knowledge can be extended and applied to high speed combustion and iii to suggest future directions of research in these areas each topic was then dealt with in a position paper followed by formal discussion papers and a general discussion involving the participants the position papers discussed the state of the art with an emphasis on key issues that needed to be resolved in the near future the discussion papers critically examined these issues and filled in any lacunae therein the edited versions of the general discussions in the form of questions from the audience and answers from the speakers are included wherever possible to give the reader the flavor of the lively interactions that took place this concise book gives tangible advice on how to write a good academic research paper it is useful for those writing short essays one year projects bachelor's projects or master's theses the book offers a quick overview of how to write an academic research paper ways to organize the process of writing an academic research paper an overview of the most common problems encountered when writing academic research papers practical guidelines that can be used throughout the writing process and during the examination an understanding of some of the different research methodologies advice on how to obtain good grades on exams on this site researchpaper samfundslitteratur dk you can find a range of potential research topics appropriate for short and long research papers you can also find several examples illustrating and further explaining the advice contained in this book including examples of research questions analyses theories introductions methodology chapters and more the aim of this volume is to bring together contributions from international research on writing and motivation it not only addresses the basic question of how motivation to write can be fostered but also provides analyses of conceptual and theoretical issues at the intersection of the topics of motivation and writing what emerges from the various chapters is that the motivational aspects of writing represent a rich productive and partially still unexplored research field this volume is a step in the direction of a more systematic analysis of the problems as well as an effort to present and compare various models perspectives and methods of motivation and writing it addresses the implications of writing instruction based on the 2 main approaches to writing research cognitive and socio-cultural it provides systematic analysis of the various models perspectives and methods of motivation and writing it brings together the international research available in this burgeoning field understanding and evaluating research a critical guide shows students how to be critical consumers of research and to appreciate the power of methodology as it shapes the research question the use of theory in the study the methods used and how the outcomes are reported the book starts with what it means to be a critical and uncritical reader of research followed by a detailed chapter on methodology and then proceeds to a discussion of each component of a research article as it is informed by the methodology the book encourages readers to select an article from their discipline learning along the way how to assess each component of the article and come to a judgment of its rigor or quality as a scholarly report mcdm 2009 the 20th international conference on multiple criteria decision making emerged as a global forum dedicated to the sharing of original research results and practical development experiences among researchers and application developers from different multiple criteria decision making related areas such as multiple criteria decision aiding multiple criteria classification ranking and sorting multiple objective continuous and combinatorial optimization multiple objective metaheuristics multiple criteria decision making and preference modeling and fuzzy multiple criteria decision making the theme for mcdm 2009 was new state of mcdm in the 21st century the conference seeks solutions to challenging problems facing the development of multiple criteria decision making and shapes future directions of research by promoting high quality novel and daring research findings with the mcdm conference these new challenges and tools can easily be shared with the multiple criteria decision making community the workshop program included nine workshops which focused on different topics in new research challenges and initiatives of mcdm we received more than 350 submissions for all the workshops out of which 121 were accepted this includes 72 regular papers and 49 short papers we would like to thank all workshop organizers and the program committee for the excellent work in maintaining the conference standing for high quality papers the profession of dietetics seventh edition offers students a complete toolbox of resources for beginning a career in nutrition and dietetics using a student centered approach this text enables readers to easily navigate the highly competitive and often complex path to personal and professional success in the field it features a comprehensive history of the profession a thorough examination of credentialing and education requirements and an analysis of the profession s future a contemporary case based discussion of ethical dilemmas faced by researchers in forensic mental health this book offers useful guidance to anyone planning research in this field it focuses on problems frequently encountered such as issues of capacity to consent in forensic settings and the meaning of consent to participate chapters cover issues such as the procurement of consent among incarcerated people the ability of young people to provide consent the effects of culturally specific lay beliefs about mental illness confidentiality multidisciplinary approaches and ethics in risk assessment research the contributors address questions such as whether research can be therapeutic and whether it is ever reasonable to compromise patient confidentiality for the wider benefits of publishing research based on empirical data from researchers own experiences this comprehensive book will be essential reading for anyone planning research in the area of forensic mental health and all whose work is in this area one of the most important 21st century skills is the ability to negotiate constructive resolutions in the andrews university this textbook presents an excellent balance in weighing the evidence from the risk and the resilience literature incorporating research in racially and ethnically diverse populations renée r jenkins md faap professor department of pediatrics and child health howard university college of medicine this is an engaging thorough and thought provoking statement of our knowledge about adolescence wendy baldwin phd director poverty gender and youth program population council at the time of writing mid october 1998 we can look back at what has been a very successful ecoop 98 despite the time of the year in the middle of what is traditionally regarded as a holiday period ecoop 98 was a record breaker in terms of number of participants over 700 persons found their way to the campus of the brussels free university to participate in a wide range of activities this 3rd ecoop workshop reader reports on many of these activities it contains a careful selection of the input and a cautious summary of the outcome for the numerous discussions that happened during the workshops demonstrations and posters as such this book serves as an excellent snapshot of the state of the art in the field of object oriented programming about the diversity of the submissions a workshop reader is by its very nature quite diverse in the topics covered as well as in the form of its contributions this reader is not an exception to this rule as editors we have given the respective organizers much freedom in their choice of presentation because we feel form follows content this explains the diversity in the types of reports as well as in their lay out depictive secondary predicates such as raw in george ate the fish raw are central to current issues in syntactic and semantic theory in particular predication theory phrase structure theories issues of control and grammatical relations and verbal aspect this is the first book to approach depictive secondary predication from a cross linguistic perspective it describes all the relevant phenomena and brings together critical surveys and new contributions on their morphosyntactic and semantic properties it considers similarities and differences between secondary predicates and other types of adjuncts including adverbials of manner comparison quantity and location the authors are leading scholars with a first hand knowledge of the languages they discuss their approach is theory neutral and pragmatic they draw on insights and research traditions ranging from the minimalist program to semantic maps methodology the book will interest scholars working on the semantics or syntax of secondary predicates adverbials and the role of agreement and other morphological marking it has been designed for use in advanced syntax and typology classes the u s government supports a large diverse suite of activities that can be broadly characterized as global change research such research offers a wide array of benefits to the nation in terms of protecting public health and safety enhancing economic strength and competitiveness and protecting the natural systems upon which life depends the u s global change research program usgcrp which coordinates the efforts of numerous agencies and departments across the federal government was officially established in 1990 through the u s global change research act gcra in the subsequent years the scope structure and priorities of the program have evolved for example it was referred to as the climate change science program ccsp for the years 2002 2008 but throughout the program has played an important role in shaping and coordinating our nation s global change research enterprise this research enterprise in turn has played a crucial role in advancing understanding of our changing global environment and the countless ways in which human society affects and is affected by such changes in mid 2011 a new nrc committee to advise the usgcrp was formed and charged to provide a centralized source of ongoing whole program advice to the usgcrp the first major task of this committee was to provide a review of the usgcrp draft strategic plan 2012 2021 referred to herein as the plan which was made available for public comment on september 30 2011 a review of the u s global change research program s strategic plan addresses an array of suggestions for improving the plan ranging from relatively small edits to large questions about the program s scope goals and capacity to meet those goals the draft plan proposes a significant broadening of the program s scope from the form it took as the ccsp outlined in this report issues of key importance are the need to identify initial steps the program will take to actually achieve the proposed broadening of its scope to develop critical science capacity that is now lacking and to link the production of knowledge to its use and the need to establish an overall this volume is the eighth in the research advances series and the fifth published by plenum press the purpose of the series is to review new work in rapidly changing fields we do not expect reviews to cover the whole field of work on alcoholism and addiction nor do we expect that they will be like annual reviews covering all work in a delimited field our reviews are designed to explore only the most exciting parts of the total field and to focus on conclusions that can be made about them the series publishes one volume each year volume 8 is an omnibus rather than a theme volume in that a wide range of topics is covered including research on alcohol opiates and tobacco as usual the greater emphasis is on alcohol research reflecting the importance of the problem and the volume of work to be reviewed with volume 8 come some changes in the editorial board it will be the last volume in the series for robert e popham who has resigned from the board he has been with the series since its inception and has contributed a great deal to its development the members of the board are grateful for his help we are adding two new members dr howard cappell whose field is experimental psychology and dr edward m sellers in clinical medicine and pharmacology the u s government supports a large diverse suite of activities that can be broadly characterized as global change research such research offers a wide array of benefits to the nation in terms of protecting public health and safety enhancing economic strength and competitiveness and protecting the natural systems upon which life depends the u s global change research program usgcrp which coordinates the efforts of numerous agencies and departments across the federal government was officially established in 1990 through the u s global change research act ggra in the subsequent years the scope structure and priorities of the program have evolved for example it was referred to as the climate change science program ccsp for the years 2002 2008 but throughout the program has played an important role in shaping and coordinating our nation s global change research enterprise this research enterprise in turn has played a crucial role in advancing understanding of our changing global environment and the countless ways in which human society affects and is affected by such changes in mid 2011 a new nrc committee to advise the usgcrp was formed and charged to provide a centralized source of ongoing whole program advice to the usgcrp the first major task of this committee was to provide a review of the usgcrp draft strategic plan 2012 2021 referred to herein as the plan which was made available for public comment on september 30 2011 a review of the u s global change research program s strategic plan addresses an array of suggestions for improving the plan ranging from relatively small edits to large questions about the program s scope goals and capacity to meet those goals the draft plan proposes a significant broadening of the program s scope from the form it took as the ccsp outlined in this report issues of key importance are the need to identify initial steps the program will take to actually achieve the proposed broadening of its scope to develop critical science capacity that is now lacking and to link the production of knowledge to its use and the need to establish an overall governance structure that will allow the program to move in the planned new directions
