Abstract: This paper explores the impact of digital technology on education, focusing on the use of virtual reality (VR) in classrooms. The study examines how VR can enhance student engagement and learning outcomes, particularly in subjects like history and science. The research is based on a survey of 50 teachers and 195 students, along with an analysis of 1963 articles published between 1963 and 2022. The findings suggest that VR has a positive effect on student motivation and understanding, but also highlights the need for further research on its long-term effects and the challenges of implementation. The paper concludes with recommendations for educators and policymakers to maximize the benefits of VR in the classroom.
