Indian cinema is a global enterprise and its films have attracted international attention and acclaim throughout South Asia since the inception of Indian cinema in 1913. Hindi cinema enjoyed the position of top film industry but in the 1970s, the industry was disrupted by the rise of regional cinema. In 1976, the film 'Sinhha S' Jhinder Bandi' marked two crucial events in Bengali cinema: it featured the two giants of the industry, Uttam Kumar and Soumitra Chatterjee, in a single film and marked Soumitra's debut. In 2021, the film '11:29' marked a significant event in Indian cinema. In 2021, the film 'Imw2021' marked a significant event in Indian cinema. In 2024, the film '3:11' marked a significant event in Indian cinema. The National Museum of Indian Cinema is connecting the past, present, and future of Indian cinema. Entertainment meets enlightenment as we dive into the fascinating history of Indian cinema, evoking nostalgia and curiosity in our visitors. The Indian film industry, famously known as Bollywood, is the largest in the world and has major film studios in Mumbai, Bombay, Calcutta, Chennai, Bangalore, and Hyderabad. Between them, they turn out more than 1000 films a year to hugely appreciative audiences around the world. In 2022, the film '5:17' marked a significant event in Indian cinema. In 2013, the film '4:30' marked a significant event in Indian cinema. Indian cinema has thrived in the 100 years since the release of its first film, and its popularity shows no signs of waning. As Roopa Suchak explains, Dadasaheb Phalke and the other filmmakers of his generation knew they could instantly win vast audiences by rooting cinema in Hindu mythology, with stories of religious and divine characters.
