undocumented border crossings a particular focus is placed on the role of private transporters omalayitsha who represent an important link between an exclusionary and yet fragmentary migration regime and undocumented travellers in three theoretical and four empirical chapters and inspired by border studies as well as the critical realist approach in migration studies the thesis connects border practice to irregular movement and cheap labour within a regional context defined in part by dispossession through thick interpretations of the lived experience of border practice the study also connects such political economic processes e g migrant irregularity labour precarity and economic informality to questions of social identity and migrant subjectivities by situating the figure of the hyena at the centre of southern african border struggles the thesis invents an analytical concept that serves both an empirical and a theoretical task empirically it enables a synthetic understanding of how everyday contestations around the possibility to work across the border for low skill migrants have been interacting through time with broader processes of capital accumulation to partly shape the region s migrant labour system theoretically it shows how facilitation of undocumented border crossings calls for new sociological models that can account for processes that escape binary classification as formal or informal inclusive or exclusive legal or illegal ordered or disordered thus contributing to a better understanding of the role of migration in the contemporary world allt fler människor korsar idag gränsen vid beitbridge mellan sydafrika och zimbabwe samtidigt sker en motsvarande ökning av kreativa strategier som gör att även personer och varor som saknar rätt handlingar kan ta sig över gränsen dessa informella gränsövergångar har kommit att definiera vad som efter 1994 blivit en av de viktigaste ekonomiska regionerna i södra afrika limpopodalen i denna avhandling betraktas rutinerna vid sådana oregistrerade gränsövergångar som en vardagens politik med djupa historiska rötter genom arkivstudier och etnografiska observationer undersöker avhandlingen en samhällshistoria och en mänsklig aktivitet där en rad aktörer är inblandade i en pågående papperslös migration en viktig roll i sammanhanget har omalayitsha dvs privata transportörer som ofta är en viktig länk mellan de papperslösa resenärerna och den migrationsregim som å ena sidan stänger dem ute och å andra sidan är så fragmenterad att de tillåts passera igenom i tre teoretiska och fyra empiriska kapitel samt med ett angreppssätt hämtat från gränsstudier border studies och den kritiskt realistiska skolan inom migrationsstudier syftar avhandlingen till att förstå gränsövergångens praktik i förhållande till den irreguljära mobilitet och det överskott på billig arbetskraft som sätter sin prägel på en region där många är fattiga och fördrivna i avhandlingens djuptolkningar av migranternas levda erfarenhet vid gränsen förbinds i sin tur de politiskt ekonomiska processerna irreguljär migration prekära arbetsvillkor och ekonomisk informalitet med frågor om samhällelig identitet och migrantens subjektivitet avhandlingen ser hyenafiguren som central för förståelsen av de gränsskamper border struggles som utkämpas i södra afrika med hyenan introduceras också ett analytiskt begrepp empiriskt sett möjliggör begreppet en syntetisk förståelse av hur vardagliga tvister och problem som präglar arbetsmigrantens försök att jobba på andra sidan gränsen över tid samverkar med större processer av kapitalackumulation som delvis formar regionens migrantarbetarsystem i teoretiskt avseende visar begreppet hur förhandlingarna som sker vid gränskontrollen klargör behovet av nya sociologiska modeller som kan redogöra för samhällsprocesser som undflyr varje binär klassificering som formell eller informell inkluderande eller exkluderande legal eller illegal ordnad eller oordnad och på så vis bidrar det till en bättre förståelse av migrationens betydelse i dagens värld this book thus explores the role of african epistemologies in addressing the myriad challenges posed by the inclusive education system in africa and other contexts in recent years the shift from special education to inclusive education has had a significant impact on the provision of education and the education system as a whole in africa the impact has been felt in all institutions of learning from low to high public and private government and across departments of education inclusive education if shaped correctly by using african epistemologies would empower learners to attain the relevant skills knowledge values and attitudes for their own intellectual growth and personal development a survey of 76 public smallholder irrigation schemes in the limpopo province was jointly conducted by the international water management institute iwmi department of agriculture forestry and fisheries daff south africa and the limpopo department of agriculture and rural development Idard as part of the revitalization of smallholder irrigation in south africa project about one third of those schemes was fully utilized one third partially utilized and one third not utilized in the winter of 2015 however no single socioeconomic physical agronomic and marketing variable could explain these differences in utilization sale mostly for informal markets appeared the most important goal dilapidated infrastructure was the most important constraint cited by the farmers the study recommends ways to overcome the build neglect rebuild syndrome and to learn lessons from informal irrigation which covers an area three to four times as large as public irrigation schemes in the province practise for your sqa exams with three specially commissioned hodder gibson practice exam papers practise with model papers written and checked by experienced markers and examiners get extra advice with specially written study skills guidance sections gain vital extra marks and avoid common mistakes with examiner tips foragers were present in the limpopo valley south africa before the arrival of farmers and not only witnessed but also participated in local systems leading to the appearance of a complex society despite numerous studies in the valley forager involvement in socio political developments has been until now largely ignored this paper evaluates the emerging green economy in south africa using ideas from the concept of sustainable rural livelihoods which are intimately connected to ecological services many developing countries it finds that african communities and governments are prioritising green economy for job creation poverty alleviation and reducing inequalities while addressing global environmental concerns what remains problematic however is how these objectives are to be achieved the paper argues that one of the key challenges in south africa is the gap between policy and implementation of sustainable development the millennium development goals and other globally driven initiatives the paper emphasises that green economy policy needs to consider poverty reduction and women s empowerment in order to promote rural sustainable development publisher description for nearly ten years indeed more if we include his period of influence under mandela s presidency thabo mbeki bestrode south africa s political stage despite attempts by some in the new anc leadership to airbrush out his role there can be little doubt that mbeki was a seminal figure in south africa s new democracy one who left a huge mark in many fields perhaps most controversially in state and party management economic policy public health intervention foreign affairs and race relations if we wish to understand the character and fate of post 1994 south africa we must therefore ask what kind of political system economy and society has the former president bequeathed to the government of jacob zuma and to the citizens of south africa generally this question is addressed head on here by a diverse range of analysts commentators and participants in the political process amongst the specific questions they seek to answer what is mbeki s legacy for patterns of inclusion and exclusion based on race class and gender how if at all did his presidency reshape relations within the state between the state and the ruling party and between the state and society how did he reposition south africa on the continent and in the world this book will be of interest to anyone wishing to understand the current political landscape in south africa and mbeki s role in shaping it the centre for child law commissioned this study by cornerstone economic research to track school infrastructure spending and delivery the report written by carmen abdoll and conrad barberton makes the concerning finding that the national department of basic education has woefully underspent the school infrastructure backlog grant for two years running in 2011 2012 spending was a little over 10 per cent and only at 23 per cent in 2012 2013 at the end of the third quarter the asidi target for the number of schools to be built in 2011 2012 and 2012 2013 was 49 however only 10 had been completed by the end of the first year they predict that if the dbe continues at the same delivery rate a realistic timeframe for the eradication of schools with inappropriate structures is probably 2023 24 they make recommendations which if followed could shorten the delay significantly this study shows the importance of monitoring and evaluating progress against court orders and out of court settlements to ensure that the right to a basic education is made real the british south africa company and the irregularity of its financial and political operations are dealt with in detail keppel jones also discusses the development in the midst of the indigenous population of an alien white society and state from their crude beginnings to their emergence in a form still recognizable today the reader is led to conclude that by 1902 southern rhodesia was already set on the road that would lead to the upheavals of the second half of the twentieth century the author examines the racial consciousness and prejudice of the white society and addresses an important question why did the imperial government grant a royal charter to the bsa company the facts show conclusively that the imperial government had little interest in central africa or care for its fate except when foreign competition appeared keppel jones also reveals the important role played by black troops employed by the company in suppressing the rebellions of 1896 7 for opposite reasons neither blacks nor whites have been willing to recognize this on the other hand the habit of the men on the spot of making and carrying out decisions without regard to their superiors in london is a commonplace of imperial history one of the main themes of the book is the tension between the unofficial imperialists straining at the leash and the colonial office struggling to hold them back rhodes and rhodesia is based on extensive use of public records mainly in the public record office london and the national archives of zimbabwe of collections of private papers and of contemporary published works questions of equity and inequality have moved to the center of debates on development and poverty reduction this reflects growing awareness that even countries with high rates of growth can experience stagnating or increasing inequality and that inequality can itself limit the poverty reducing effects of growth indeed recent work indicates that in addition to its intrinsic value equity should be valued for its positive impacts on growth and the poverty reducing effects of such growth these concerns are coupled with questions of governance this is because institutional arrangements affect not only overall rates of growth but also the distributional effects of growth and are themselves more or less equitable in their structure and functioning how given institutional arrangements emerge over time with their implications for growth and equity remains less understood institutional pathways to equity addressing inequality traps tackles the relationship between equity and development the place of institutions in determining these relationships and the conditions under which particular institutional arrangements can either block or promote transitions toward more equitable forms of development the chapters originally commissioned as background documents for the preparation of the world development report 2006 are prepared by leading scholars from the fields of economics political science sociology geography and development studies the book speaks directly to current discussions on inequality poverty and growth and will contribute to the construction of a historically informed political economy of development the book specifically highlights the importance of inequality institutional change through social mobilization and institutional change through state policies the authors show that under certain conditions state institutions can and have taken a leading role in promoting policies to redress inequitable social relations and so weaken the social foundations of inequality traps conventional wisdom says that the world is heading for a major water crisis by 2050 global population will increase from 7 billion to a staggering 9.5 billion and the demands this will place on food and water systems will inevitably push river basins over the edge the findings from this book present a different picture while it is convenient to visualize an inevitable global water and food crisis in which increasing demands result in increasing poverty food insecurity and conflict the reality is far more nuanced and revolves around the politics of equitable and sustainable development of resources the first part of this book provides detailed insight into conditions of water flows within nine river basins in the second part authors summarize and re-analyze the outcome of the nine basins providing a coherent global picture of water water productivity and development they assess the impacts of variations of these attributes on development and approaches for poverty alleviation and explore the institutional factors that support or obstruct change how people will manage river systems while protecting vital ecosystem functions will make the difference between catastrophe and survival as Prof. Asit Biswas points out the world is facing a water crisis not because of physical scarcity of water but because of poor management practices in nearly all countries of the world the book is based on the four years 2006-2010 of extensive research into the state of ten of the world's major river basins carried out under the CGIAR Challenge Program for Water and Food's Basin Focal Project this book was published as a special issue of Water International questions in qualitative social justice research in multicultural contexts take readers on an accessible and inspiring journey to critically self-reflect on current or future research practices to encourage and facilitate greater equity inclusion and social justice in qualitative research in a diverse world doing qualitative research needs unpacking and developing awareness of interconnected perspectives and challenges however as researchers there is not always a chance to fully prepare or self reflect on the processes and experiences this book raises awareness of key multidimensional aspects of social justice such as power privilege trust insider outsidersness ethics arts based co produced and decolonial research the authors connect theory and conceptual constructs with practical in field realities guiding researchers through the dynamic evolving steps to give voice to and promote social justice practices in research the book includes the following features to guide thinking for researchers and students bolded key terms and questions for self reflection boxed case studies from both top international scholars and emerging scholars glossary of key terms this foundational book can be used as a jumping off point to engage and critically self reflect about research moving us towards decolonizing research practice creating more inclusive equitable and socially just research it will be suitable for upper level and postgraduate students and all researchers interested in qualitative methods in education and the social and behavioral sciences this book investigates the regulation and promotion of financial inclusion and provides a comparative analysis of the regulation promotion and enforcement of the relevant laws in the sadc in particular south africa namibia botswana and zimbabwe as well as the challenges of financial inclusion in turn it evaluates financial inclusion in the context of specific challenges faced by unbanked and underbanked customers who are easy targets for cyber criminals because they tend to have lower levels of digital literacy the book presents novel discussions that identify the challenges and flaws associated with the enforcement of financial inclusion laws and related measures intended to promote financial inclusion in the sadc region this is primarily done in order to reveal the current strengths and weaknesses of financial inclusion laws in relation to certain aspects of the companies securities and financial markets in the region for example there is no common financial inclusion instrument law that is effectively and uniformly applied throughout the sadc this has impeded the enforcement authorities efforts to effectively combat financial exclusion across the region the book is likely the most comprehensive study to date on the regulation and promotion of financial inclusion in the sadc region and fills a major gap in sadc and african legal jurisprudence as such it offers a valuable asset for policymakers attorneys bankers securities share holders and other market participants who deal with financial inclusion as well as undergraduate and graduate students interested in the topic the 1871 nautical magazine shows the new editor s ambition to modernise by including political analysis general science and light reading in the extensive field of earth sciences with its many subdisciplines the transfer of knowledge is primarily established via personal communication during meetings by reading journal articles or by consulting books because more information is available than can be assimilated it is necessary for the individual to search selectively books take more time from the inception of an idea until publication than any of the other means of communication mentioned as a consequence their function is somewhat different many good books are a compilation of up to date knowledge and serve as reference or instruction manuals some books are a collection of previously published papers dealing with a certain topic while others may basically provide large sets of data or examples the frontiers in sedimentary geology series was established both for students and practicing earth scientists who wish to either stay abreast of the most recent ideas or developments or to become familiar with an important topic in the field of sedimentary geology the series attempts to deal with subjects that are in the forefront of both scientific and economic interest the treatment of a subject in an individual volume should be a combination of topical regional and interdisciplinary approaches although these three terms can be defined separately in reality they should flow into each other a topical treatment should relate to a major category of sedimentary geology containing the public messages speeches and statements of the president 1956 1992 a revised edition of africa north of the limpopo the imperial experience since 1800 north of the limpopo does not end with the passing of the formal imperial era but goes beyond this to take in the situation in independent africa after the withdrawal of the colonial powers throughout the book the authors have striven to achieve a balance between european activity and african initiatives and responses in africa part 1 of this book covers events in africa to the end of the partitioning period which almost coincides with the end of the nineteenth century part 2 deals with events in the twentieth century like the previous edition this is a textbook for south african students but contains little on south african history as the title indicates this book explores the complexities of curriculum studies by taking into account african perspectives of curriculum theory curriculum theorising and the theoriser it provides alternative pathways to the curriculum discourse in africa by breaking traditions and experimenting on alternative approaches

Policing and Boundaries in a Violent Society

this book explores how social and territorial boundaries have influenced the approaches and practices of the south africa police service saps by means of a historical analysis of south africa this book introduces a new concept police frontierism which illuminates the nature of the relationships between the police policing and boundaries and can potentially be used for future case study research drawing on a wealth of research this book examines how social and territorial boundaries strongly influenced police practices and behaviour in south africa and how social delineations amplify and distort existing police prejudices against those communities on the other side of the boundary focusing on cases of high density police operations public order policing and the recent policing of the covid 19 lockdown this book argues that poor economic conditions combined with an increased militarisation of the saps and a decline in public trust in the police will result in boundaries continuing to fundamentally inform police work in south africa this book will be of interest to scholars and students interested in policing in post colonial societies characterised by high levels of violence as well as police work and police militarization

Limpopo's Legacy

an increasing number of people today cross the beitbridge border of south africa and zimbabwe this comes with a corresponding growth of creative strategies that seek to aid the crossing of those people and goods that may lack the necessary documentation such informal border crossings have come to define one of the important economic regions in southern africa the post 1994 limpopo valley this thesis approaches routine acts of facilitating undocumented border crossings as an everyday social politics with deep historical roots by use of archival and ethnographic methods the thesis examines the social history and embodied practices of a variety of actors who engage in undocumented border crossings a particular focus is placed on the role of private transporters omalayitsha who represent an important link between an exclusionary and yet fragmentary migration regime and undocumented travellers in three theoretical and four empirical chapters and inspired by border studies as well as the critical realist approach in migration studies the thesis connects border practice to irregular movement and cheap labour within a regional context defined in part by dispossession through thick interpretations of the lived experience of border practice the study also connects such political economic processes e g migrant irregularity labour precarity and economic informality to questions of social identity and migrant subjectivities by situating the figure of the hyena at the centre of southern african border struggles the thesis invents an analytical concept that serves both an empirical and a theoretical task empirically it enables a synthetic understanding of how everyday contestations around the possibility to work across the border for low skill migrants have been interacting through time with broader processes of capital accumulation to partly shape the region's migrant labour system theoretically it shows how facilitation of undocumented border crossings calls for new sociological models that can account for processes that escape binary classification as formal or informal inclusive or exclusive legal or illegal ordered or disordered thus contributing to a better understanding of the role of migration in the contemporary world allt fler människor korsar idag gränsen vid beitsbridge mellan sydafrika och zimbabwe samtidigt sker en motsvarande ökning av kreativa strategier som gör att även personer och varor som saknar rätt handlingar kan ta sig över gränsen dessa informella gränsövergångar har kommit att definiera vad som efter 1994 blivit en av de viktigaste ekonomiska regionerna i södra afrika limpopodalen i denna avhandling betraktas rutinerna vid sådana oregistrerade gränsövergångar som en vardagens politik med djupa historiska rötter genom arkivstudier och etnografiska observationer undersöker avhandlingen en samhällshistoria och en mänsklig aktivitet där en rad aktörer är inblandade i en pågående papperslös migration en viktig roll i sammanhanget har omalayitsha dvs privata transportörer som ofta är en viktig länk mellan de papperslösa resenärerna och den migrationsregim som å ena sidan stänger dem ute och å andra sidan är så fragmenterad att de tillåts passera igenom i tre teoretiska och fyra empiriska kapitel samt med ett angreppssätt hämtat från gränsstudier border studies och den kritiskt realistiska skolan inom migrationsstudier syftar avhandlingen till att förstå gränsövergångens praktik i förhållande till den irreguljära mobilitet och det överskott på billig arbetskraft som sätter sin prägel på en region där många är fattiga och fördrivna i avhandlingens djuptolkningar av migranternas levda erfarenhet vid gränsen förbinds i sin tur de politiskt ekonomiska processerna irreguljär migration prekära arbetsvillkor och ekonomisk informalitet med frågor om samhällelig identitet och migrantens subjektivitet avhandlingen ser hyenafiguren som central för förståelsen av de gränskamper border struggles som utkämpas i södra afrika med hyenan introduceras också ett analytiskt begrepp empiriskt sett möjliggör begreppet en syntetisk förståelse av hur vardagliga tvister och problem som präglar arbetsmigrantens försök att jobba på andra sidan gränsen över tid samverkar med större processer av kapitalackumulation som delvis formar regionens migrantarbetarsystem i teoretiskt avseende visar begreppet hur förhandlingarna som sker vid gränskontrollen klargör behovet av nya sociologiska modeller som kan redogöra för samhällsprocesser som undflyr varje binär klassificering som formell eller informell inkluderande eller exkluderande legal eller illegal ordnad eller oordnad och på så vis bidrar det till en bättre förståelse av migrationens betydelse i dagens värld this paper evaluates the emerging green economy in south africa using ideas from the concept of sustainable rural livelihoods which are intimately connected to ecological services many developing countries it finds that african communities and governments are prioritising green economy for job creation poverty alleviation and reducing inequalities while addressing global environmental concerns what remains problematic however is how these objectives are to be achieved the paper argues that one of the key challenges in south africa is the gap between policy and implementation of sustainable development the millennium development goals and other globally driven initiatives the paper emphasises that green economy policy needs to consider poverty reduction and women s empowerment in order to promote rural sustainable development publisher description for nearly ten years indeed more if we include his period of influence under mandela s presidency thabo mbeki bestrode south africa s political stage despite attempts by some in the new anc leadership to airbrush out his role there can be little doubt that mbeki was a seminal figure in south africa s new democracy one who left a huge mark in many fields perhaps most controversially in state and party management economic policy public health intervention foreign affairs and race relations if we wish to understand the character and fate of post 1994 south africa we must therefore ask what kind of political system economy and society has the former president bequeathed to the government of jacob zuma and to the citizens of south africa generally this question is addressed head on here by a diverse range of analysts commentators and participants in the political process amongst the specific questions they seek to answer what is mbeki s legacy for patterns of inclusion and exclusion based on race class and gender how if at all did his presidency reshape relations within the state between the state and the ruling party and between the state and society how did he reposition south africa on the continent and in the world this book will be of interest to anyone wishing to understand the current political landscape in south africa and mbeki s role in shaping it the centre for child law commissioned this study by cornerstone economic research to track school infrastructure spending and delivery the report written by carmen abdoll and conrad barberton makes the concerning finding that the national department of basic education has woefully underspent the school infrastructure backlog grant for two years running in 2011 2012 spending was a little over 10 per cent and only at 23 per cent in 2012 2013 at the end of the third quarter the asidi target for the number of schools to be built in 2011 2012 and 2012 2013 was 49 however only 10 had been completed by the end of the first year they predict that if the dbe continues at the same delivery rate a realistic timeframe for the eradication of schools with inappropriate structures is probably 2023 24 they make recommendations which if followed could shorten the delay significantly this study shows the importance of monitoring and evaluating progress against court orders and out of court settlements to ensure that the right to a basic education is made real the british south africa company and the irregularity of its financial and political operations are dealt with in detail keppel jones also discusses the development in the midst of the indigenous population of an alien white society and state from their crude beginnings to their emergence in a form still recognizable today the reader is led to conclude that by 1902 southern rhodesia was already set on the road that would lead to the upheavals of the second half of the twentieth century the author examines the racial consciousness and prejudice of the white society and addresses an important question why did the imperial government grant a royal charter to the bsa company the facts show conclusively that the imperial government had little interest in central africa or care for its fate except when foreign competition appeared keppel jones also reveals the important role played by black troops employed by the company in suppressing the rebellions of 1896 7 for opposite reasons neither blacks nor whites have been willing to recognize this on the other hand the habit of the men on the spot of making and carrying out decisions without regard to their superiors in london is a commonplace of imperial history one of the main themes of the book is the tension between the unofficial imperialists straining at the leash and the colonial office struggling to hold them back rhodes and rhodesia is based on extensive use of public records mainly in the public record office london and the national archives of zimbabwe of collections of private papers and of contemporary published works questions of equity and inequality have moved to the center of debates on development and poverty reduction this reflects growing awareness that even countries with high rates of growth can experience stagnating or increasing inequality and that inequality can itself limit the poverty reducing effects of growth indeed recent work indicates that in addition to its intrinsic value equity should be valued for its positive impacts on growth and the poverty reducing effects of such growth these concerns are coupled with questions of governance this is because institutional arrangements affect not only overall rates of growth but also the distributional effects of growth and are themselves more or less equitable in their structure and functioning how given institutional arrangements emerge over time with their implications for growth and equity remains less understood institutional pathways to equity addressing inequality traps tackles the relationship between equity and development the place of institutions in determining these relationships and the conditions under which particular institutional arrangements can either block or promote transitions toward more equitable forms of development the chapters originally commissioned as background documents for the preparation of the world development report 2006 are prepared by leading scholars from the fields of economics political science sociology geography and development studies the book speaks directly to current discussions on inequality poverty and growth and will contribute to the construction of a historically informed political economy of development the book specifically highlights the importance of inequality institutional change through social mobilization and institutional change through state policies the authors show that under certain conditions state institutions can and have taken a leading role in promoting policies to redress inequitable social relations and so weaken the social foundations of inequality traps conventional wisdom says that the world is heading for a major water crisis by 2050 global population will increase from 7 billion to a staggering 9.5 billion and the demands this will place on food and water systems will inevitably push river basins over the edge the findings from this book present a different picture while it is convenient to visualize an inevitable global water and food crisis in which increasing demands result in increasing poverty food insecurity and conflict the reality is far more nuanced and revolves around the politics of equitable and sustainable development of resources the first part of this book provides detailed insight into conditions of water flows within nine river basins in the second part authors summarize and re analyze the outcome of the nine basins providing a coherent global picture of water water productivity and development they assess the impacts of variations of these attributes on development and approaches for poverty alleviation and explore the institutional factors that support or obstruct change how people will manage river systems while protecting vital ecosystem functions will make the difference between catastrophe and survival as prof asit biswas points out the world is facing a water crisis not because of physical scarcity of water but because of poor management practices in nearly all countries of the world the book is based on the four years 2006 2010 of extensive research into the state of ten of the world s major river basins carried out under the cgiar challenge program for water and food s basin focal project this book was published as a special issue of water international this book investigates the regulation and promotion of financial inclusion and provides a comparative analysis of the regulation promotion and enforcement of the relevant laws in the sadc in particular south africa namibia botswana and zimbabwe as well as the challenges of financial inclusion in turn it evaluates financial inclusion in the context of specific challenges faced by unbanked and underbanked customers who are easy targets for cyber criminals because they tend to have lower levels of digital literacy the book presents novel discussions that identify the challenges and flaws associated with the enforcement of financial inclusion laws and related measures intended to promote financial inclusion in the sadc region this is primarily done in order to reveal the current strengths and weaknesses of financial inclusion laws in relation to certain aspects of the companies securities and financial markets in the region for example there is no common financial inclusion instrument law that is effectively and uniformly applied throughout the sadc this has impeded the enforcement authorities efforts to effectively combat financial exclusion across the region the book is likely the most comprehensive study to date on the regulation and promotion of financial inclusion in the sadc region and fills a major gap in sadc and african legal jurisprudence as such it offers a valuable asset for policymakers attorneys bankers securities share holders and other market participants who deal with financial inclusion as well as undergraduate and graduate students interested in the topic in the extensive field of earth sciences with its many subdisciplines the transfer of knowledge is primarily established via personal communication during meetings by reading journal articles or by consulting books because more information is available than can be assimilated it is necessary for the individual to search selectively books take more time from the inception of an idea until publication than any of the other means of communication mentioned as a consequence their function is somewhat different many good books are a compilation of up to date knowledge and serve as reference or instruction manuals some books are a collection of previously published papers dealing with a certain topic while others may basically provide large sets of data or examples the frontiers in sedimentary geology series was established both for students and practicing earth scientists who wish to either stay abreast of the most recent ideas or developments or to become familiar with an important topic in the field of sedimentary geology the series attempts to deal with subjects that are in the forefront of both scientific and economic interest the treatment of a subject in an individual volume should be a combination of topical regional and interdisciplinary approaches although these three terms can be defined separately in reality they should flow into each other a topical treatment should relate to a major category of sedimentary geology
