the making of planning policy is a major political and legal issue and there is currently a considerable focus by the government in England, Wales and Northern Ireland on local plan policy making. The current climate is characterised by government concern at the slow pace of local plan adoption in England, the controversial introduction of neighbourhood planning, new strategic planning tools with the Planning (Wales) Act 2015 and local development plans in Northern Ireland. Planning Policy is the only book dedicated to planning policy, both national and local, and includes coverage of the Housing and Planning Act 2016. It covers the policy framework within which planning decisions are taken, it addresses how national and local policy is formulated, examined and challenged.

the objective of the present edited book is to encompass studies from both developed and developing countries of asia africa europe and americas to understand and present a comparative scenario of the climate change and other environmental determinants of health and disease in geographically diversified countries environment and health perspective dates back to hippocrates treatise written 400 b c e in his book on airs waters and places hippocrates described diseases as associated with environmental conditions whoever wishes to investigate medicine properly should proceed thus in the first place to consider the seasons of the year and what effects each of them produces for they are not at all alike but differ much from themselves in regard to their changes then the winds the hot and the cold especially such as are common to all countries and then such as are peculiar to each locality we must also consider the qualities of the waters for as they differ from one another in taste and weight so also do they differ much in their qualities in the same manner when one comes into a city to which he is a stranger he ought to consider its situation how it lies as to the winds and the rising of the sun for its influence is not the same whether it lies to the north or the south to the rising or to the setting sun there has been a greater emphasis in the last four decades on understanding environmental factors which affect human health after united nations established intergovernmental panel on climate change ipcc in 1988 aimed at to evaluate research on changing environmental condition particularly climate change and its impacts on human wellbeing including human health as consequences of extreme heat waves conditions sea level rise forced migration air pollution droughts and wildfires from these studies risk levels of vulnerable populations and regions can be assessed and level of resilience of healthcare infrastructure that may be used in environmental health policy and equity of these countries today tourism is an important component of development not only in economic terms but also for knowledge and human welfare tourism today is an activity accessible to a growing number of people the phenomenon has many more advantages than disadvantages new forms of economic development and increasing wealth of human societies depend on tourism our knowledge of the world now includes a strong component due to tourism human welfare has physiological and psychological elements which tourism promotes both because of the enjoyment of knowing new territories and increasing contacts with near or far away societies and cultures the tourism industry has nevertheless given rise to some serious concerns including social costs and ecological impacts many ancient local cultures have practically lost their identity their societies have orientated their economy only to this industry both the natural and cultural rural or urban landscapes have also paid a high price for certain forms of tourism these problems will persist if the economic benefit is the only target leading to economic gains that eventually become ruinous it is also important to consider that visitors nowadays are increasingly demanding in cultural and environmental terms never before have transport and communication links been so important as today natural ecosystems are now a rarity on the planet and ecologists talk today about socio ecosystems given this tourism and environmental education are facing a major challenge tourism also plays an important role in the natural environmental changes that are strongly affected by technological and social developments natural changes are inherent in the earth s ecosystem the ecosphere also technological and social changes are inherent to mankind the noosphere and are now becoming widespread cities are growing rapidly and industry requires increasingly larger areas many traditional rural areas are being abandoned however many historic agricultural districts have maintained or even recovered their local population numbers through intelligent strategies of tourism focused on nature and rural culture natural landscapes and biodiversity are becoming increasingly appreciated the tourism industry must be able to respond to these aspirations the 9th international conference on sustainable tourism had the aim of finding ways to protect the natural and cultural landscape through the development of new solutions which minimise the adverse effects of tourism a selection of the papers presented at the meeting form this volume
