can t live without tools we are teenage mangrove swallows always hungry why are we so hungry you humans have years to grow up we are born and become adults in a few months even when we learn how to fly we cannot fly well enough to catch insects we open our mouths as wide as we can and call our parents to feed us have you any idea how many little insects our parents have to catch on the wing to feed all of us we really keep them busy will we get enough food to grow up and catch our own insects we three young swallows it is important that everyone help wildlife to survive and that as many as possible enjoy seeing while not disturbing wild creatures what do i know about wildlife i have watched and photographed it since i was a small child i have visited most spanish speaking countries during my vacations from teaching spanish my first trip to costa rica was in 1970 my goals in life are to entertain as well as to educate others and to promote conservation i want everyone to be able to see and to appreciate nature and wildlife therefore i write photographic books most books describe animals and birds i want you to see what i see while i travel so that you can understand as much as possible how creatures live what they eat how they move and what they do where they are visible i tired of studying books talking about ecology and wildlife i want you to see what each creature looks like and how they act i chose spanish speaking countries for two reasons first i speak the language and have photographed everything i could for many years for my students to see as they learned the language to communicate successfully with people of other countries you need to understand their customs and culture as well as their language second people are familiar with huge african and asian animals unfortunately little attention has been paid to the wealth of latin american wildlife i am trying to do my bit to help remedy the lack while most of my books are written primarily for children i hope adults too will enjoy the photographs and humor as well as learn more about the wildlife carol creager

what a delightful book jo izay is an able story teller which is quite an art the book had me in stitches with mi mochito's recitation of history the character mi mochito is unique and shares an incredibly hilarious view of historic events the book takes place in the northeast mountains of new mexico where a few hundred years ago sephardic jews went to escape the inquisition although the book is ostensibly fiction it does give much very interesting accurate historical information about what happened to these people and how they intermarried with e.g. indians other jews etc yet kept the rudiments of their religious practices to this very day there is so much to be learned about e.g. the penitentes indians los mormones language spanish ladino english latin hebrew etc that anyone interested in cultures will find the book fascinating the relationship between the catholic priest and the rabbi is fascinating and humorous in my opinion the book should be in the library of every synagogue and every student of cultures and it's funny bert robinson baton rouge la we are teenage mangrove swallows always hungry why are we so hungry you humans have years to grow up we are born and become adults in a few months even when we learn how to fly we cannot fly well enough to catch insects we open our mouths as wide as we can and call our parents to feed us have you any idea how many little insects our parents have to catch on the wing to feed all of us we really keep them busy will we get enough food to grow up and catch our own insects we three young swallows it is important that everyone help wildlife to survive and that as many as possible enjoy seeing while not disturbing wild creatures what do i know about wildlife i have watched and photographed it since i was a small child i have visited most spanish speaking countries during my vacations from teaching spanish my first trip to costa rica was in 1970 my goals in life are to entertain as well as to educate others and to promote conservation i want everyone to be able to see and to appreciate nature and wildlife therefore i write photographic books most books describe animals and birds i want you to see what i see while i travel so that you can understand as much as possible how creatures live what they eat how they move and what they do where they are visible i tired of studying books talking about ecology and wildlife i want you to see what each creature looks like and how they act i chose spanish speaking countries for two reasons first i speak the language and have photographed everything i could for many years for my students to see as they learned the language to communicate successfully with people of other countries you need to understand their customs and culture as well as their language second people are familiar with huge african and asian animals unfortunately little attention has been paid to the wealth of latin american wildlife i am trying to do my bit to help remedy the lack while most of my books are written primarily for children i hope adults too will enjoy the photographs and humor as well as learn more about the wildlife carol creager
