spectators it proposes cinema as an uncanny duplication of the workings of the brain a doppelgänger to human thought on 16 may 1811 the small town of albuera was the setting for one of the peninsular war s most bloody and desperate battles a combined spanish british and portuguese force of more than 30 000 men under the command of lord beresford stubbornly blocked the march of the french field marshal soul t who was trying to reach the fortress of badajoz twelve miles to the north however after suffering losses of up to 7 000 men during the fighting wellington declared that another such battle will ruin us one british regiment the 57th foot suffered casualties of more than 50 per cent similarly the french fought with enormous tenacity and sustained almost equally heavy losses the stories from those who fought in the battle on both sides make for both chilling and inspiring reading these contemporaneous accounts include letters diaries official correspondence army records maps newspaper reports and memoirs totaling over 100 contemporary accounts of the battle they range from the comprehensive after action reports of the british portuguese spanish and french commanders to casualty and prisoner lists and to recollections of individual soldiers from all the combatant armies the purpose of this book is to tell the story of the battle exclusively by way of these primary sources with english translations for foreign language sources along with in each case a commentary identifying the source and its context the heart of the work will be a vast number of first hand accounts providing astonishing details of the intense fighting including the heroism of the spanish troops the massacre of colborne s brigade by polish lancers beresford s near fatal indecisiveness and the heroic charge of the fusilier brigade this presentation allows readers avid for detailed historical information to draw their own conclusions about how the events of the battle unfolded much like the united states the countries of western europe have experienced massive immigration in the last three decades spain in particular has been transformed from an immigrant exporting country to one receiving hundreds of thousands of new immigrants today almost 13 percent of the country s population is foreign born spanish legacies written by internationally known experts on immigration explores how the children of immigrants the second generation are coping with the challenges of adaptation to spanish society comparing their experiences with those of their peers in the united states using a rich data set based on both survey and ethnographic material spanish legacies describes the experiences of growing up by the large population of second generation youths in spain and the principal outcomes of the process from national self identification and experiences of discrimination to educational attainment and labor market entry the study is based on a sample of almost 7 000 second generation students who were interviewed in madrid and barcelona in 2008 and then followed and re interviewed four years later a survey of immigrant parents a replacement sample for lost respondents in the second survey and a survey of native parentage students complement this rich data set outcomes of the adaptation process in spain are systematically presented in five chapters introduced by real life histories of selected respondents drawn by the study s ethnographic module systematic comparisons with results from the united states show a number of surprising similarities in the adaptation of children of immigrants in both countries as well as differences marked by contrasting experiences of discrimination self identities and ambition invented history fabricated power Motion Pictures, 1894-1912 1953. Invented history fabricated power begins with an examination of prehistoric beliefs in spirits, souls, mana, orénda that provided personal explanation and power through ritual and shamanism among tribal peoples. On this foundation, spiritual power evolved into various kinds of divine sanction for kings and emperors: Sumerian, Egyptian, Greek, Roman, Indian, Chinese, and Japanese. As kingships expanded into empires, fictional histories and millennia-long genealogies developed that portrayed imperial superiority and greatness. Supernatural events and miracles were attached to religious founders: Hebrew, Hindu, Buddhist, Christian, Islamic. A unique variation developed in the Roman Church which fabricated papal power through forgeries in the first millennium CE and the later doctrine of discovery which authorized European domination and conquest around the world during the age of exploration. Elaborate fabrications continued with epic histories and literary cycles from the Persians, Ethiopians, Franks, British, Portuguese, and Iroquois. Indians, both Marxists and Nazis, created doctrinal texts which passed for economic or political explanations but were in fact self-aggrandizing narratives that eventually collapsed. The book ends with the idealistic goals of the current liberal democratic way of life pointing to its limitations as a sustaining narrative along with numerous problems threatening its viability over the long term.
