editor of penguin dictionary of proverbs this study by starnes and noyes was immediately recognized as a unique and pioneering work of scholarship and has long been the standard work on the emergence and early flowering of english lexicography within the last 20 years we have been witnessing a remarkable scholarly interest in the study of dictionary making and the role played by dictionaries in the transmission and preservation of knowledge and learning it is therefore essential to have this classic work available again to all students of linguistic history in its new edition the book has been vastly enhanced by a lengthy and invaluable introduction by gabriele stein professor of english linguistics in heidelberg and author of the english dictionary before cawdrey 1985 in her introduction to the present volume she sets out in scholarly detail the work that has emerged since 1946 which makes this study of the english dictionary from cawdrey to johnson as complete as the original authors themselves would have wished this dictionary contains approximately 240 000 key entries constituting the most extensive listing of vocabulary in the areas of the humanities social sciences fine arts technical and scientific vocabulary covering anthropology biology botany chemistry geology medicine etc the extended scope of this dictionary is due to the incorporation of russian key entries occurring in many russian dictionaries and well known russian language books and entries which the compiler has gathered over many years this dictionary also contains a wealth of grammatical information and cross references which is unmatched not only in the russian english dictionaries but in the major russian dictionaries nouns adjectives and verbs are covered extensively nouns the genitive case ending and gender of all nouns are indicated wherever necessary the nominative singular is accompanied by instances of other case endings in the singular and plural adjectives adjectives are listed in the masculine nominative singular the short predicative forms if any follow the masculine nominative singular the feminine ending and neuter ending follow the masculine form ending verbs the imperfective and perfective verbs are listed together with the corresponding english translation all verbs are followed by first and second person singular endings the first and second person singular endings are followed by other endings if a verb is irregularly conjugated only those imperatives are listed which may cause difficulties for students and translators special care has been given to masculine past tense forms past passive participles and past adverbial participles shift of stress from a stressed syllable to the preceding syllable has also been clearly detailed these examples provide a succinct indication of the way in which a comprehensive dictionary puts fuller grammatical information before the student or translator when there are irregularities in the russian language it will be an essential tool for students teachers professors libraries translators and research institutes of the russian language this dictionary covers a long awaited gap in the study of russian english the book begins with a review of research into dictionary use a number of experimental design problems are discussed in particular the unreliability of questionnaire responses and the need for detailed accounts of individual dictionary consultations whilst sampling in numbers sufficient to represent specified populations the experiments reported in subsequent chapters investigate issues raised in the review the first two studies find that dictionary use during a reading comprehension test affected completion speed but not test scores the apparent failure of dictionary use to improve comprehension is attributed to the test itself the dictionaries and the users choice of look up words the ability of users to interpret dictionary entries is investigated in three further studies which use computers to gather data on large numbers of individual consultations the findings indicate that there is little difference between three major efl dictionaries in terms of speed of consultation and overall productive success they also indicate that malaysian esl subjects who have higher vocabulary scores are slower in their reading and less successful in their interpretation of entries than portuguese efl subjects finally the findings suggest that overall productive success is unaffected by the presence or absence of examples the experimental findings lead to the conclusion that dictionary consultation is a process in which users match pre existing beliefs about word meaning and behaviour against segments in the dictionary entry such segments are often selected because they are familiar sounding and conceptually accessible but may contain only incomplete or non essential information where pre existing beliefs and dictionary information conflict dictionary information is sometimes overridden thus word knowledge acquired from a single consultation is often insufficient to ensure productive success although it is probably inevitable that word knowledge will be acquired slowly through multiple encounters modifications to the dictionary entry and the training of users might help to avoid serious misinterpretation of dictionary information
