what do we mean when we say that something is contemporary and what should the designator contemporary art refer to what constitutes the present present or the contemporary contemporary introductory thoughts on contemporaneity and contemporary art the first book in the contemporary condition series introduces key issues concerning contemporaneity as a defining condition of our historical present and calls for a deep rethinking of the structures of temporalization provides a coverage of issues of war and peace such as terrorism irregular warfare and weapons of mass destruction this work contains a set of reflections on the role of military power in the contemporary world it analyzes conflicts from afghanistan to the iraq war and looks at the debates about the lessons that can be learned from these wars who gets to say what counts as contemporary art artists critics curators gallerists auctioneers collectors or the public revealing how all of these groups have shaped today s multifaceted definition terry smith brilliantly shows that an historical approach offers the best answer to the question what is contemporary art smith argues that the most recognizable kind is characterized by a return to mainstream modernism in the work of such artists as richard serra and gerhard richter as well as the retro sensationalism of figures like damien hirst and takashi murakami at the same time smith reveals postcolonial artists are engaged in a different kind of practice one that builds on local concerns and tackles questions of identity history and globalization a younger generation embodies yet a third approach to contemporaneity by investigating time place mediation and ethics through small scale closely connective art making inviting readers into these diverse yet overlapping art worlds smith offers a behind the scenes introduction to the institutions the personalities the biennials and of course the works that together are defining the contemporary the resulting map of where art is now illuminates not only where it has been but also where it is going an engaging account of today s contemporary art world that features original articles by leading international art historians critics curators and artists introducing varied perspectives on the most important debates and discussions happening around the world features a collection of all new essays organized around fourteen specific themes chosen to reflect the latest debates in contemporary art since 1989 each topic is prefaced by an introduction on current discussions in the field and investigated by three essays each shedding light on the subject in new and contrasting ways topics include globalization formalism technology participation agency biennials activism fundamentalism judgment markets art schools and scholarship international in scope bringing together over forty of the most important voices in the field including sofía hernández chong cuy david joselit michelle kuo raqs media collective and jan verwoert a stimulating guide that will encourage polemical interventions and foster critical dialogue among both students and art aficionados re envisioning the contemporary art canon perspectives in a global world seeks to dissect and interrogate the nature of the present day art field which has experienced dramatic shifts in the past 50 years in discussions of the canon of art history the notion of inclusiveness both at the level of rhetoric and as a desired practice is on the rise and gradually replacing talk of exclusion which dominated critiques of the canon up until two decades ago the art field has dramatically if insufficiently changed in the half century since the first protests and critiques of the exclusion of others from the art canon with increased globalization and shifting geopolitics the art field is expanding beyond its euro american focus as is particularly evident in the large scale international biennales now held all over the globe are canons and counter canons still relevant can they be re envisioned rather than merely revised following an introduction that discusses these issues thirteen newly commissioned essays present case studies of consecration in the contemporary art field and three commissioned discussions present diverse positions on issues of the canon and consecration processes today this volume will be of interest to instructors and students of contemporary art art history and museum and curatorial studies this is an edited volume of some of the selected papers presented in the international conference on justice and ethics icjeca 2017 which was held in ferdowsi university of mashhad icjeca aimed to bring together researchers lecturers and scholars to exchange and share new ideas on all aspects of the interrelation between justice ethics several discussions covered the theoretical and practical challenges and some solutions were suggested everyone who looks at contemporary art is familiar with galleries but visual features of these mysterious temples tend to be taken for granted the basic purpose of this book is to enliven the reader s latent knowledge of galleries including architectural motifs the intended impression that is conveyed to the visitor and human interactions within them the contemporary art world system includes artists studios art galleries homes of collectors and public art museums to comprehend art one needs to understand these settings and how it travels through them the contemporary art gallery is a store where luxury goods are sold what distinguishes it from stores selling other luxuries upscale clothing jewelry and posh cars is the nature of the merchandise while much has been written about the art this book uncovers the secretive culture of the

galleries themselves the gallery is the public site where art is first seen anyone can come and look for free this store a commercial site is where aesthetic judgments are made art's value is determined in this marketplace by the consensus formed by public opinion professional reviewers and sales the gallery then is the nexus of the enigmatic billion dollar art world and it is that space that is dissected here the first chapter briefly describes the beginnings of the present contemporary art gallery the second presents the experience of gallery going presenting summary accounts of visits to some contemporary galleries the third expands and extends that analysis with detailed close-up descriptions and comparative evaluations of many diverse contemporary galleries in order to identify the challenges provided by these marvelous places then the fourth chapter indicates why in the near future due to the proliferation of myriad art fairs and online platforms extant today such galleries might disappear altogether images of loss and yearning played a crucial role in literary texts written in the later part of the twentieth century despite deep cultural differences novelists from africa the caribbean great britain and the united states share a sense that the economic social and political forces associated with late modernity have evoked widespread nostalgia within the communities in which they write in this original and wide-ranging study john j su explores the relationship between nostalgia and ethics in novels across the english speaking world he challenges the tendency in literary studies to characterise memory as positive and nostalgia as necessarily negative instead this book argues that nostalgic fantasies are crucial to the ethical visions presented by topical novels from jean rhys to wole soyinka and from v s naipaul to toni morrison su identifies nostalgia as a central concern in the twentieth century novel a detailed study of an increasingly popular genre this book offers readings of a group of significant and representative works drawing on a range of interpretative strategies to examine the ways in which the contemporary historical novel engages with questions of nation and identity to illuminate britain's post-imperial condition this book explores the demise of the grand narrative of european modernity that once commanding narrative located the meaning of the past in the present and the meaning of the present in an ever-receding future today instead the present defines both the past and the future the contemporary has replaced modern and post-modern self-understandings the times of the past and the future have been transformed into versions of now while the present has acquired its own history history of the present describes the emergence of this contemporary historical consciousness across a wide spectrum of cultural phenomena ranging from historiography to heritage and museum studies and from the globalization of the novel to the rise of science-fiction the culture of the contemporary appears particularly clearly in the merging of high and low culture along with art and fashion this book will appeal to scholars of sociology cultural and social theory museum and heritage studies and literary history and criticism the role practice and preparation of today and tomorrow's superintendent a strong superintendent is critical to the success of an entire school district so why is it one of the most deregulated positions over the past several decades many states have either rescinded licensing requirements for school district superintendents or abandoned regulations altogether the contemporary superintendent offers a scholarly and objective analysis of the issues surrounding the state policies that appoint superintendents lars g björk and theodore kowalski have developed a coherent guide to critical professional aspects such as superintendent licensure professional preparation and staff development featuring the research of educational leadership specialists this resource is not to be missed the contemporary superintendent includes quality strategies by the field's top scholars to implement decisive practices for superintendents detailed analysis of the concerns over superintendent qualifications and preparations an examination of past present and future practices of superintendents a distinct look at the evolution of the role of the superintendent developed over a three-year period the authors have compiled a collection of useful hands-on strategies for aspiring and existing superintendents as well as ideas for adoption in the educational administration leadership professional development and educational policy areas at the end of the century much criticism has become devoted to last things the end of history the end of the subject the end of the novel the end even of the end literature and the contemporary in contrast aims to provide through twelve essays evidence of the way in which the literature of the 1990s is constantly engaging in questions of memory and history and the representation of time in the present day the essays in the book survey theories of temporality from various cultural and philosophical standpoints and represent critics writing from feminist postcolonial and queer perspectives discussing literature in our time the collection addresses such central issues as the politics of memory colonial legacies women's time racial and sexual identities in the 1990s and covers a wide range of contemporary authors works and issues some of which are treated for the first time among the contemporary works discussed are the prize-winning books graham swift's last orders anne michaels' fugitive pieces and jane smiley's a thousand acres while discussing some of the most significant novels of the 1990s this collection also offers a diverse yet cohesive critique of the millennial leanings of much postmodernist criticism which it argues should be replaced by more variously nuanced engagements with literature and the contemporary much discussed but poorly understood globalization is at once praised as the answer to all the world's problems and blamed for everything from pollution to poverty here berger and huntington bring together an array of experts who paint a subtle and richly shaded portrait showing both the power and the unexpected consequences of this great force the stereotypes of globalization characterized as american imperialism on the one hand and as an economic panacea on the other fall apart under close scrutiny surveying globalization from individual countries of the five major continents many globalizations shows that an emerging global culture does indeed exist while globalization is american in origin and content the authors point out that it is far from a centrally directed force like classic imperialism they examine the currents that carry this culture from a worldwide class of young professionals to non governmental organizations and define globalization s many variations as well as sub globalizations that bind regions together analytical incisive and stimulating many globalizations offers rare insight into perhaps the central issue of modern times one that is changing the west as much as the developing world provocative taken together the trenchant well written essays included in this collection provide indisputable evidence that an identifiable global culture is indeed emerging world policy journal analytical and penetrating belongs we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works one possible description of the contemporary medial landscape in western culture is that it has gone meta to an unprecedented extent so that a remarkable meta culture has emerged indeed metareference i e self reflexive comments on or references to various kinds of media related aspects of a given medial artefact or performance specific media and arts or the media in general is omnipresent and can nowadays be encountered in high art and literature as frequently as in their popular counterparts in the traditional media as well as in new media from the simpsons pop music children s literature computer games and pornography to the contemporary visual arts feature film postmodern fiction drama and even architecture everywhere one can find metareferential explorations comments on or criticism of representation medial conventions or modes of production and reception and related issues within individual media and genres notably in research on postmodernist metafiction this outspoken tendency towards metaization is known well enough and various reasons have been given for it yet never has there been an attempt to account for what one may aptly term the current metareferential turn on a larger transmedial scale this is what the metareferential turn in contemporary arts and media forms functions attempts at explanation undertakes to do as a sequel to its predecessor the volume metareference across media vol 4 in the series studies in intermediality which was dedicated to theoretical issues and transhistorical case studies coming from diverse disciplinary and methodological backgrounds the contributors to the present volume propose explanations of impressive subtlety breadth and depth for the current situation in addition to exploring individual forms and functions of metareference which may be linked with particular explanations as expected there is no monocausal reason to be found for the situation under scrutiny yet the proposals made have in their compination a remarkable explanatory power which contributes to a better understanding of an important facet of current media production and reception the essays assembled in the volume which also contains an introduction with a detailed survey over the possibilities of accounting for the metareferential turn will be relevant to students and scholars from a wide variety of fields cultural history at large intermediality and media studies as well as more particularly literary studies music film and art history this study elucidates the relationship between identity formation and resistance to racial and sexual oppression in a group of contemporary american novels the author terms dissenting fictions narratives that assert the subjectivity and historicity of marginalized peoples at precisely the moment when postmodern critiques proclaim the death of the subject and the inaccessibility of historical truth of primary concern is the question of how narrative fictions conceive of strategies of resistance to oppression in an age in which the identity politics of the sixties and seventies have given way to positional subjectivities fluid identities and coalition politics through interpretive readings of the works of well known authors toni morrison and leslie marmon silko critically acclaimed novelist david bradley the well respected but little studied novelist russell banks and the relatively unknown leslie feinberg whose fiction challenges accepted notions of gender the author explores a range of practices that place notions of identity in crucial relationship to resistance praxis dissenting fictions emerge in this study as imaginative narratives that perform substantial cultural work reworking classical liberal notions of subjectivity and agency these novels address the failure of conventional individual agency and imagine an interactive agency grounded in an awareness of both a political economy and historic power relations digital technology and the contemporary university examines the often messy realities of higher education in the digital age drawing on a variety of theoretical and empirical perspectives the book explores the intimate links between

Can You Feel It? 2017-01-04 one possible description of the contemporary medial landscape in western culture is that it has gone meta to an unprecedented extent so that a remarkable meta culture has emerged indeed metareference i e self reflexive comments on or references to various kinds of media related aspects of a given medial artefact or performance specific media and arts or the media in general is omnipresent and can nowadays be encountered in high art and literature as frequently as in their popular counterparts in the traditional media as well as in new media from the simpsons pop music children s literature computer games and pornography to the contemporary visual arts feature film postmodern fiction drama and even architecture everywhere one can find metareferential explorations comments on or criticism of representation medial conventions or modes of production and reception and related issues within individual media and genres notably in research on postmodernist metafiction this outspoken tendency towards metaization is known well enough and various reasons have been given for it yet never has there been an attempt to account for what one may aptly term the current metareferential turn on a larger transmedial scale this is what the metareferential turn in contemporary arts and media forms functions attempts at explanation undertakes to do as a sequel to its predecessor the volume metareference across media vol 4 in the series studies in intermediality which was dedicated to theoretical issues and transhistorical case studies coming from diverse disciplinary and methodological backgrounds the contributors to the present volume propose explanations of impressive subtlety breadth and depth for the current situation in addition to exploring individual forms and functions of metareference which may be linked with particular explanations as expected there is no monocausal reason to be found for the situation under scrutiny yet the proposals made have in their combination a remarkable explanatory power which contributes to a better understanding of an important facet of current media production and reception the essays assembled in the volume which also contains an introduction with a detailed survey over the possibilities of accounting for the metareferential turn will be relevant to students and scholars from a wide variety of fields cultural history at large intermediality and media studies as well as more particularly literary studies music film and art history

Biennials, Triennials, and Documenta 2016-03-03 this study elucidates the relationship between identity formation and resistance to racial and sexual oppression in a group of contemporary american novels the author terms dissenting fictions narratives that assert the subjectivity and historicity of marginalized peoples at precisely the moment when postmodern critiques proclaim the death of the subject and the inaccessibility of historical truth of primary concern is the question of how narrative fictions conceive of strategies of resistance to oppression in an age in which the identity politics of the sixties and seventies have given way to positional subjectivities fluid identities and coalition politics through interpretive readings of the works of well known authors toni morrison and leslie marmon silko critically acclaimed novelist david bradley the well respected but little studied novelist russell banks and the relatively unknown leslie feinberg whose fiction challenges accepted notions of gender the author explores a range of practices that place notions of identity in crucial relationship to resistance praxis dissenting fictions emerge in this study as imaginative narratives that perform substantial cultural work reworking classical liberal notions of subjectivity and agency these novels address the failure of conventional individual agency and imagine an interactive agency grounded in an awareness of both a political economy and historic power relations

The Contemporary Review 2016-12-04 digital technology and the contemporary university examines the often messy realities of higher education in the digital age drawing on a variety of theoretical and empirical perspectives the book explores the intimate links between digital technology and wider shifts within contemporary higher education not least the continued rise of the managerialist bureaucratic university it highlights the ways that these new trends can be challenged and possibly changed altogether addressing a persistent gap in higher education and educational technology research where digital technology is rarely subject to an appropriately critical approach degrees of digitization offers an alternative reading of the social political economic and cultural issues surrounding universities and technology the book highlights emerging themes that are beginning to be recognised and discussed in academia but as yet have not been explored thoroughly over the course of eight wide ranging chapters the book addresses issues such as the role of digital technology in university reform digital technologies and the organisation of universities digital technology and the working lives of university staff digital technology and the student experience reimagining the place of digital technology within the contemporary university this book will be of great interest to all students academic researchers and writers working in the areas of education studies and or educational technology as well as being essential reading for anyone working in the areas of higher education research and digital media research

Memory Art in the Contemporary World 2022 a selection of key essays on art from the nineteenth century to the present day by one of the most influential voices in art history this illustrated collection of essays brings together some of art historian linda nochlin s most important writings on modernism and modernity from across her six decade career before the publication of her seminal essay on feminism in art why have there been no great women artists she had already firmly established herself as a major practitioner of a politically sophisticated and class conscious social art history nochlin was part of an important cohort of scholars writing on modernity determined to rethink the narratives of the subject under the pressure of contemporary events such as student uprisings the women s liberation movement and the vietnam war with the help of politically engaged literary criticism that was emerging at the same time nochlin embraced charles baudelaire s conviction that modernity is meant to be of one s time and that the role of an art historian was to understand the art of the past not only in its own historical context but according to the urgencies of the contemporary world from academic debates about the nude in the eighteenth century to the work of robert gober in the twenty first whatever she turned her analytic eye to was conceived as the art of the now including seven previously unpublished pieces this collection highlights the breadth and diversity of nochlin s output across the decades including discussions on colonialism fashion and sex
