asia the caribbean americas europe and pacific regions it catalogues the extent to which the youth work profession is formally recognised in these countries and examines the qualities and rights based ethos of the various forms of youth work promoted and practised in the commonwealth the report aims to help countries learn from good practices and assess gaps in establishing youth work as a recognised profession in diverse contexts this study is the analysis and assessment of foreign assistance provided by 36 agricultural research projects in seven selected countries of sub saharan africa it traces the evolution of national agricultural research systems nars from independence to the present it highlights the development of the nars with regard to infrastructure human resources and funding as a consequence of foreign assistance the constraints to nars institutional development are identified and recommendations made this book documents the massive deprivation of human rights resulting from governmental censorship manipulation and control of reproductive health and sexuality information the introductory chapter applies a human rights perspective to reproductive health to show that women must have full and impartial information to be able to choose services which further their goals rather than governmental policies examples of different types of state manipulation are provided and demographic biomedical and reproductive health paradigms of contraceptive delivery programs are described chapter 2 identifies the binding obligations imposed on governments by the international principle that women have a right to appropriate reproductive health information the third chapter provides a global overview of such topics as health expenditures fertility rates infertility literacy and education infant and child mortality maternal mortality child spacing contraceptive usage unmet need abortion hiv aids and sexually transmitted diseases stds chapters 4 13 present country reports for algeria brazil chile ireland kenya malawi pakistan the philippines poland and the us the country reports reveal the overwhelming need of women to have access to this information and the innumerable ways in which governments control such access the country reports also describe factors such as religion culture tradition state of development and influence of foreign donors which have an impact on access to information each country report ends with specific recommendations and the concluding chapter defines seven obligations of national governments imposed by the right to information contained in international law and contains recommendations of ways nongovernmental organizations can use these obligations to lobby governments for improvements this volume reflects the findings of a conference organized in preparation of setting up a national human rights commission and ombudsman institution in the federal democratic republic of ethiopia the meeting assembled experts in the field of the protection and promotion of human rights and of the problems of countries in transition from a non democratic system characterized by gross violations of human rights towards a democratic system based on the rule of law and respect for human rights the book analyses the functioning of national human rights commissions and ombudsman institutions in 23 different countries by means of country report written in the main by members of these institutions themselves and containing an assessment of their experience many offer relevant constitutional and legislative provisions as well this volume thus forms a unique collection of materials dealing with national human rights commissions and ombudsman offices in christian history spiritual awakenings are a recurring and important phenomenon the blantyre spiritual awakening was characterized by an overt evangelistic fervour among bands of people that belonged to an ever growing born again movement in the city from 1974 into the 1980s this history covers the blantyre awakening which revived evangelical christianity in malawi and prepared the way for the emerging charismatic movement this family planning programs and hiv prevention efforts the globalisation of research has resulted in the increased location of research involving humans in developing countries countries in africa along with china and india have seen research grow significantly with emerging infectious diseases such as ebola and zika emphasising the risk of public health crises throughout the world a further increase in health research including clinical research in developing countries which are often the sites of these diseases becomes inevitable this growth raises questions about domestic regulation and the governance of health research this book presents a comprehensive and systemic view of the regulation of research involving humans in african countries it employs case studies from four countries in which research activities continue to rise and which have taken steps to regulate health research activity south africa nigeria kenya and egypt the book examines the historical and political contexts of these governance efforts it describes the research context some of the research taking place and the current challenges it also looks at the governance mechanisms ranging from domestic ethical guidelines to legal frameworks the strengthening of existing regulatory agencies to the role of professional regulatory bodies the book analyses the adequacy of current governance arrangements within african countries and puts forward recommendations to improve the emerging governance systems for health research in african and other developing countries it book will be a valuable resource for academics researchers practitioners and policy makers working in the areas of health research biomedical ethics health law and regulation in developing countries in the 1930s british colonial officials introduced drama performances broadcasting services and publication bureaus into africa under the rubric of colonial development they used theater radio and mass produced books to spread british values and the english language across the continent this project proved remarkably resilient well after the end of britain's imperial rule many of its cultural institutions remained in place through the 1960s and 1970s african audiences continued to attend shakespeare performances and listen to the bbc while african governments adopted english language textbooks produced by metropolitan publishing houses imperial encore traces british drama broadcasting and publishing in africa between the 1930s and the 1980s the half century spanning the end of british colonial rule and the outset of african national rule caroline ritter shows how three major cultural institutions the british council the bbc and oxford university press integrated their work with british imperial aims and continued this project well after the end of formal british rule tracing these institutions and the media they produced through the tumultuous period of decolonization and its aftermath ritter offers the first account of the global footprint of british cultural imperialism malawi established as the british protectorate of nyasaland in 1891 gained its independence in 1964 and moved immediately into
