Critical Voices in Criminology* 2009-08-28

readers of criminological literature are presented with little more than thumbnail sketches as to the social characteristics or motivations of the authors one learns their status institutional location and supposed credentials rarely are we presented with more detailed impressions of the authors as a combination of positivist assumptions and notions of professional competence seemingly render such information unimportant however increasing numbers of critical scholars are becoming aware of authorship as an issue it matters who is addressing us by taking these authors out of their methodological framework critical voices in criminology provides an opportunity for figures in and around critical criminology to discuss their own intellectual journeys into and within the discipline the book offers the opportunity for contributors to reflect on their work and consider what they did not say it also affords them the opportunity to describe their own channeling processes by indicating how the pursuance of some themes topics seemed appropriate sensible or realistic while others appeared less so whether they internalized these particular themes or attempted to contest and or replace them
