joyce carol oates gives us a precise image of the experience of reading these stories that sudden feeling of insecurity that comes to a traveler in unmapped country a sense of immediacy cinematic in its vividness the sixteen exquisitely crafted stories in island prove alistair macleod to be a master quietly precisely he has created a body of work that is among the greatest to appear in english in the last fifty years a book besotted patriarch releases his only son from the obligations of the sea a father provokes his young son to violence when he reluctantly sells the family horse a passionate girl who grows up on a nearly deserted island turns into an ever wistful woman when her one true love is felled by a logging accident a dying young man listens to his grandmother play the old gaelic songs on her ancient violin as they both fend off the inevitable the events that propel macleod s stories convince us of the importance of tradition the beauty of the landscape and the necessity of memory
