Luke among the Ancient Historians 2022-05-24

for centuries scholars have analyzed the composition of luke acts presupposing that the reference to many accounts in luke s preface indicates the written texts which served as the author s primary sources of information to justify this portrait of luke as a text based author scholars have appealed to analogies with the text based authors dionysius of halicarnassus diodorus siculus plutarch and arrian luke among the ancient historians challenges this portrait of luke s method through surveying the origins and development of ancient greek historiography in chapters on herodotus thucydides polybius josephus and luke by focusing on the values and practices of ancient historians peters demonstrates not only that ancient authors following the model of thucydides regarded the testimony of eyewitnesses as opposed to texts as the proper sources for historians but that luke emulated the values practices and craft terminology of the contemporary historiographical tradition taking seriously the self presentation of luke as a reporter of contemporary events who claims to write on the basis of eyewitnesses from the beginning and personal investigation this book argues against analogies with text based historians who wrote about non contemporary events and instead situates luke within a portrait of the values and practices of historians of contemporary events as nurses we hear about mindfulness all the time but what does that actually mean in practice in this book readers are invited into conversation to explore how mindfulness influences palliative care nurses approaches to caring for themselves and others through experiences of living dying under the guise of stress reduction and self care the assumption often made is that mindfulness can smooth out difficult experiences instead the objective of this inquiry is not to bypass the practice of caring in those spaces that are really hard but to understand how nurses are working directly within them calling out from the shadows and our bodies the intensity of palliative care nursing practice arises in this text a dialogue unfolds of nurses caring in deeply meaningful practice environments while searching for ground that is perpetually shifting uncertain and fraught with suffering and strong emotion integrating literature across nursing sociology and contemplative scholarship evocative stories from palliative care nurses lead in this conversation their words in italics showing how they are guided into action through connection with in their bodies at other times stories show how nurses are taking pause and drawing on various somatic practices to unravel entanglements that touch on their own humanity these stories also offer insight into how systemic forces across educational and organizational institutions are either enhancing or constraining the way nurses engage mindfulness as a relationally embodied ethic of care this insightful volume is not a how to guide rather it is a timely resource exploring approaches for palliative care nurses to care for themselves and others with mindfulness and compassion those seeking nuanced perspectives particularly in relation to embodying mindfulness through suffering and strong emotion will be drawn to this text qualitative researchers studying emotionally sensitive topics may also find inspiration in the narrative arts based and embodied methods that shape this inquiry in this fiercely ambitious study meredith anne hoy seeks to reestablish the very definitions of digital art and aesthetics in art history she begins by problematizing the notion of digital aesthetics tracing the nineteenth and twentieth century movements that sought to break art down into its constituent elements which in many ways predicted and paved the way for our acceptance of digital art through a series of case studies hoy questions the separation between analog and digital art and finds that while there may be sensual and experiential differences they fall within the same technological categories she also discusses computational art in which the sole act of creation is the building of a self generating algorithm the medium isn't the message what really matters is the degree to which the viewer can sense a creative hand in the art from the start of barack obama s presidency in 2009 conservative populist groups began fomenting political fractiousness dissent and surprising electoral success the tea party was one of the major characters driving this story but as khadijah costley white argues in this book the tea party s ascent to major political phenomenon can be attributed to the way in which partisan and non partisan news outlets branded the party as a pot stirrer in political conflicts over race class and gender in other words the news media played a major role in developing cultivating and promoting populism s brand particularly within the news spaces of commentary and opinion through the language of political marketing branding and promotion the news media not only reported on the tea party but also acted as its political strategist and brand consultant moreover the conservative press acted more as a political party than a news medium deliberately promoting the tea party and aiding in organizing headlining and galvanizing a conservative political base around specific tea party candidates values and events in a media environment in which everyone has the opportunity to tune out tune in and speak back the branding of right wing activism ultimately shows that distinctions between citizens journalists activists politicians celebrities and consumers are more symbolic than concrete
