how is something as broad and complex as a personality organized what makes up a satisfactory theory of personality in this ambitious book jaan valsiner argues for a theoretical integration of two long standing approaches the individualistic tradition of personalistic psychology typified by the work of william stern and gordon allport and the semiotic tradition of cultural historical psychology typified by the work of l s vygotsky the two are brought together in valsiner s theory which highlights the sign constructing and sign using nature of all distinctively human psychological processes arguing that the individualistic and the cultural traditions differ largely in emphasis valsiner unites them by focusing on the intricate relations between personality and its social context and their interplay in personality development the semiotic devices internalized from the social environment shape an individual s development and the flow of thinking feeling and acting valsiner uses this theoretical approach to illuminate two remarkable and remarkably different phenomena letters from the mother of allport s college roommate a key empirical case in allport s theory and the ritual movements of a hindu temple dancer valsiner shows how both exemplify basic human tendencies for the cultural construction of life courses the guided mind shows the fundamental unities in the vastly diverse phenomenon of human personality

we evaluate people all the time for a wide variety of activities we blame them for miscalculations uninspired art and committing crimes we praise them for detailed brushwork a superb pass and their acts of kindness we accomplish things from solving crosswords to mastering guitar solos we bungle our endeavors whether this is letting a friend down or burning dinner sometimes these deeds are morally significant but many times they are not simply responsible defends the radical proposal that the blameworthy artist is responsible in just the same way that the blameworthy thief is we can be responsible for all kinds of different activities from lip synching to long division from murders to meringues but the relation involved what author matt king calls the basic responsibility relation is the same in every case we are responsible for the things we do first then blameworthy or praiseworthy for having done them in light of whether they re good or bad according to a variety of standards why is this a radical proposal firstly because so much of the contemporary literature on moral responsibility has moralized its nature according to most accounts moral responsibility is either a special species of responsibility or else depends on moralized capacities in contrast king argues that we get a more complete and unifying picture of responsible agency from a more general theory of responsibility secondly the proposal is radical due to its drastic simplicity king foregoes many of the complications that feature in other accounts of responsibility arguing that we can make do with less demanding theoretical elements the title of our volume on interdisciplinary semiotics is situated in a geographical metaphor and points to the possibility of uncovering meanings through shifting perspectives as well as to the possibility of understanding how these various modes of meaning are articulated and framed in particular cultural instances regardless of medium semiotic rotations permit play between the surface and underlying levels of a communication reveal the relationship between open and closed systems of signification and modulate shades of meaning caught between the visible and invisible readerly play in these sets of apparent oppositions reveals that the less each pairing is held to be a coupling of oppositions and the more they are observed through perspectives gained by semiotic rotations then the more complex and rich the modes of meaning may become
