in the wake of socialism s demise and liberalism s loss of direction new ideas are needed for the next major realignment of the social and political domain making a unique contribution to the idea of the commons this book offers a radical form of direct democracy with real world implications but whereas much of the current scholarship has looked at the commons from the perspective of governance this book instead focuses on commoning as social practice perspectives on commoning argues that the commons are not just resources external to us but are a function or characterisation of what we do thus we can talk of the act of commoning positioning our behaviour beyond the domains of the private and the public beyond the dichotomy of capitalism versus socialism covering everything from biopolitics to urban spaces this impressive range of international contributors address the commons as both theory and history providing a useful review of current conceptions as well as practical proposals for the future a unique consolidation of philosophy sociology and economics the book shows how a new understanding of the commons as practice will help to achieve its full emancipatory potential recent years have seen the israeli state become ever more extreme in its treatment of palestinians manifested both in legislation stripping palestinians of their rights and in the escalating scale and violence of the israeli occupation but this hard line stance has in turn provoked a new spirit of dissent among a growing number of israeli scholars and civil society activists as well as recognising palestinian claims to justice and self determination this new dissent is characterised by calls for genuine decolonisation and an end to partition as opposed to the now discredited two state solution through the analytical lens of settler colonial studies this book examines the impact of this new decolonial solidarity through case studies of three activist groups zochrot anarchists against the wall and the israeli committee against house demolitions icahd in doing so todorova extends the framework of settler colonial studies beyond scholarly analysis and into the realm of activist practice she also looks at how decolonial solidarity has shaped and been influenced by the writings of both palestinian and israeli theorists the book shows that new forms of civil society activism bringing together palestinian and israeli activists can rejuvenate the resistance to occupation and the israeli state s growing authoritarianism colin sparks provides a challenging reassessment of the impact of the collapse of communism on the media systems of eastern europe he analyzes both the changes themselves and their implications for the ways in which we think about the mass media while also demonstrating that most of the orthodox accounts of the end of communism are seriously flawed there are much greater continuities between the old system and the new than are captured by the theories that argue that there has been a radical and fundamental change instead of marking the end of critical inquiry or the end of history as some have suggested sparks argues that the collapse of the communist systems demonstrates how very limited and frequently incorrect the main ways of discussing the mass media are he concludes with a provocative discussion of the ways in which we need to modify our thinking in the light of these developments
