Thalamus: The Art of Dave McKean Slipcased Set 2023-11-28 violence and dystopia is a critical examination of imitative desire scapegoating and sacrifice in selected contemporary western dystopian narratives through the lens of rené girard's mimetic theory the first chapter offers an overview of the history of western utopia dystopia with a special emphasis on the problem of conflictive mimesis and scapegoating violence and a critical introduction to girard's theory the second chapter is devoted to j g ballard's seminal novel Crash 1973 chuck palahniuk's Fight Club 1996 and rant 2007 and brad anderson's film The Machinist 2004 it is argued that the car crash functions as a metaphor for conflictive mimetic desire and leads to a quasi-sacrificial crisis as defined by girard for archaic religion the third chapter focuses on the psychogeographical writings of iain sinclair and peter ackroyd Walking the Streets of London the pedestrian represents the excluded underside of the world of ballardian speed the walking subject is portrayed in terms of the expelled victim of girardian theory the fourth chapter considers violent crowds as portrayed by ballard's late fiction the writings of stewart home and david peace's GB84 2004 in accordance with girard's hypothesis the discussed narratives reveal the failure of scapegoat expulsion to restore peace to the potentially self-destructive violent crowds the fifth chapter examines the post-apocalyptic environments resulting from failed scapegoat expulsion and mimetic conflict out of control as portrayed in sinclair's Radon Daughters 1994 margaret atwood's The Handmaid's Tale 1985 and oryx and crake 2003 and will self's The Book of Dave 2006

Violence and Dystopia 2015-09-18 this pivot book examines literary elements of urban topography that have animated alan moore peter ackroyd and iain sinclair's respective representations of london ness ann tso argues these authors write london psychogeographically to deconstruct popular visions of london with colonial and neoliberal undertones moore's psychogeography consists of bird's-eye views that reveal the brute force threatening to unravel londonscape from within ackroyd's aims to detect london sensuously since every new awareness recalls an otherworldly london sinclair's conjures up a narrative consciousness made erratic by london's disunified landscape drawing together the dystopian the phenomenological and the postcolonial tso explores how these texts characterize london-ness as estranging

The Literary Psychogeography of London 2020-09-21 a study of urban identity and community looks at selected twentieth-century literary and film texts in the context of theorizations of modernism postmodernism postcoloniality and globalization brooker draws on beck and giddens to propose a reflexive modernism which rewrites and reimagines the urban scene the principal cities considered are london and new york tokyo hong kong and bangkok writers considered include ezra pound and t s eliot langston hughes hanif kureishi iain sinclair paul auster sarah schulman and william gibson filmmakers include patrick keiller and wong kar wai

Modernity and Metropolis 2001-12-17 a comprehensive reference to short fiction from great britain ireland and the british commonwealth with approximately 450 entries this a-to-z guide explores the literary contributions of such writers as joseph conrad james joyce d h lawrence rudyard kipling oscar wilde katherine mansfield martin amis and others

The Facts on File Companion to the British Short Story 2007 iain sinclair has a growing reputation as a novelist and writer of documentary non-fiction this study covers his major works but also seeks to trace the connections between the writings and his earlier books of poetry indeed it traces the intertextual curve of sinclair's entire oeuvre and demonstrates that its unity lies in the very desire to make connections between disparate cultural experience for example between the context of avant-garde poetry that sinclair emerged from and the world of pulp fiction that he has negotiated as a book dealer and an editor

Iain Sinclair 2007 City Visions the work of iain sinclair collects fourteen pathbreaking essays treating the panoramic oeuvre of novelist poet filmmaker and essayist iain sinclair this book aims to reflect and develop the current strong interest in the work of sinclair who is widely recognized as one of the most significant figures in contemporary british literature and culture the essays herein cover the key genres and periods of sinclair's output discussing his poetry prose and filmmaking and are developed from the proceedings of the first academic conference on sinclair which was held at the university of greenwich in 2004 following the introductory chapter which includes a brief survey of sinclair's career up until now the collection is arranged thematically in four sections the first part contexts features essays which comment on the critical categorization and definition of sinclair's work the second part culture and critique includes essays which explore the political import and contexts of sinclair's oeuvre the articles in the third part connections look at the links between sinclair and other writers addressing the often noted intertextuality of his writing and the final section spaces contains three considerations of sinclair's treatment of london's urban spaces this collection provides access to the latest research by the leading scholars working in this area and will be a key point of reference for anyone interested in sinclair's production to some the field of london writing may increasingly look like an indifferent over populated wasteland iain sinclair however remains pre eminent by virtue not only of the amplitude of his knowledge of the city but of the intensity and complexity of his thought about it he is the redemptive memorialist of a host of disregarded london cultures that lie quite beyond the reach of contemporary pieties in that respect he is less our blake as he sometimes seems to believe than our pepys or our defoe at the same time he is an audacious experimenter with prose forms in the modernist tradition from joyce to burroughs and beyond like the sinclair phenomenon itself this valuable collection of essays is multifaceted illuminating its subject from a variety of different angles whilst very well aware that it is part of a work in progress it offers important testimony to the scope and power of a writer engaged in an original serious and necessary project andrew gibson research professor of modern literature and theory royal holloway university of london this is an important and timely collection about arguably the most significant living london writer who is increasingly being recognised as an important contemporary english author in every sense lawrence phillips principal lecturer in english university of northampton at last iain sinclair has the readers he deserves at least on the ample often provocative and always fascinating evidence of city visions a collection of essays marked equally by panache and verve awareness of alternative cultural history and theoretical sophistication over fourteen chapters critics with wide ranging interests gather their restless energies and obsessions in response to the scatter gun agitprop and guerilla intellectualism of sinclair to produce a necessary and necessarily edgy volume in this admirably relentless collection jenny bavidge and robert bond offer an unnerving and inventive critical topography that uncovers the dark heart of a writer who is simultaneously the enfant terrible and éminence grise of english letters belles lettrists and other dilettantes be warned this is not a volume for the faint hearted these essays manifest an evangelical zeal equal to their subject's own in doing so they take us on an exhilarating intellectual adventure so refreshing in the world of lit crit where the polite formulas of sensible reading make one want to faint from ennui professor julian wolfreys loughborough university

International Who's Who in Poetry 2005 2004-08-02 william blake's work demonstrates two tendencies that are central to social media collaboration and participation not only does blake cite and adapt the work of earlier authors and visual artists but contemporary authors musicians and filmmakers feel compelled to use Blake in their own creative acts this book identifies and examines Blake's work as a social and participatory network a phenomenon described as zoamorphosis which encourages even demands that others take up Blake's creative mission the authors reexamine the history of the digital humanities in relation to the study and dissemination of Blake's work from alternatives to traditional forms of archiving embodied by Blake's citation on Twitter and Blakean remixes on YouTube smart mobs using Blake's name as an inspiration to protest the 2004 Republican National Convention and students crowdsourcing reading and instruction in digital classrooms to better understand and participate in Blake's world the book also includes a consideration of Blakean motifs that have created artistic networks in music literature and film in the twentieth and the twenty-first centuries showing how Blake is an ideal exemplar for understanding creativity in the digital age

William Blake and the Digital Humanities 2013 the novel now is an intelligent and engaging survey of contemporary British fiction discusses familiar names such as Martin Amis Ian McEwan Salman Rushdie and Angela Carter and compares them with more recent authors including David Mitchell Ali Smith Al Kennedy Matt Thorne Nicola Barker and Toby Litt incorporates original coverage of subgenres such as chick lit lad lit gay fiction crime fiction and the historical novel discusses the ways in which notions of regional identity and tribalist views have surfaced in UK and Irish fiction and how post-imperial sensibility has become a feature of the British novel situates contemporary fiction within its socio-cultural and literary contexts

The Novel Now 2009-02-04 contemporary aesthetics is characterized by generic mixing on the level of both form and content the barriers between different media and different genres have been broken down in all literary art forms whether it be theatre poetry or the novel while the publishing industry is increasingly keen to label novels according to genre or sub-genre chick lit lad lit gay fiction Scottish fiction new historical fiction crime fiction post-9/11 fiction the novel itself and novelists persist in resisting generic categorizations as well as inviting them is this a move towards a new artistic liberty or does it simply testify to a confusion of identity the aesthetic supermarket evoked by Lodge in 1992 does indeed seem to sum up the variety of choices open to writers of fiction today and a literary landscape characterized by crossover and hybridization the familiar dialectic of realism versus experimentation has segued into a middle ground of consensus which is neither radical nor populist but both at the same time the techniques of postmodernism have become selling points for novels and the postmodern condition itself seems little more than a narrative posture marketed for an increasingly wide audience whether they have recourse to a repertoire of imposture Amis Self Winterson as Richard Bradford would have it the novel now 2007 in other words the abandonment of any obligation to explain or justify their excursions from credulity and mimesis or like the new Puritans make use of narrative minimalism in order to foreground their own peculiarities contemporary novelists consistently draw attention to the fundamental instability of narrative process and genre the much feared apocalypse of the novel has failed to take place with the arrival of the new millennium but generic game playing and flickering narrative hesitation and uncertainty continue to pose the question of what constitutes a novel today and to challenge its identity in a world where all culture is increasingly public increasingly contested and increasingly multifarious thanks to theoretical approaches as well as analyses of specific works this collection of essays aims to examine the concepts of generic instability and cross-fertilization of narrative postures and impostures and their constant redefinition of identity which contaminates the very concept of genre it demonstrates the diversity of generic practices in the novel today and furnishes us with undeniable evidence of how generic instability is fundamentally constitutive of the contemporary novel's identity

Generic Instability and Identity in the Contemporary Novel 2009-12-14 provides a comprehensive reference to short fiction from Great Britain Ireland and the British Commonwealth featuring some of the most popular writers and works
