interests and at only 28 net 75 readings plus is an excellent value for students helps students see reading and writing as practical tools both in college and in the world of work in the weeks that followed the horror of september 11 politicians of both major parties resolutely asserted america s national unity barely four years later the illusions of the rhetoric of unity have given way to the divisive oversimplifications of red vs blue electoral cartography divided we fall family discord and the fracturing of america offers a more nuanced yet more disturbing picture of american disunity a disunity both social and political both public and personal deeper than the disagreements that separate voter from voter this disunity increasingly separates man from woman husband from wife parent from child grandparent from grandchild and sibling from sibling though the national turmoil in family life has unquestionably opened new divides in political life on the questions of abortion and gay marriage for instance this analysis explores the bewildering cross cutting tensions surrounding these fissures the search for ways to bridge such fissures takes on particular urgency because of the mounting costs of family disintegration social and legal cultural and psychological because they recognize the often desperate plight of single mothers and their children policymakers have often worked together in bipartisan fashion to intensify government efforts to collect child support from non custodial fathers to place abused children in foster care and to provide shelter for the family fragments on the street but these pragmatic government responses to pressing social needs are no substitute for deeper probing into the cultural causes of these needs indeed as the author probes those causes including the erosion of the home economy of restraints on sexual conduct and of the traditional family wage he warns that continued reliance on government to compensate for family failure will make matters worse in the long run while family failure puts ever more burdens on government this investigation shows how such failure withers the selfless civic impulses that sustain any healthy government in this provocative study of eight novels karen e beardslee asserts that american writers often engage with folk traditions as a necessary part of their characters journeys to wholeness focusing not only on african american native american and hispanic american cultures but also on women s culture beardslee traces the connections between folk legacies and the search for selfhood in both nineteenth and twentieth century works within each chapter a novel by a contemporary author and one from an earlier period are brought together whitney otto s how to make an american quilt and chaneysville incident and charles chesnutt s the conjure woman leslie marmon silko s ceremony and zitkala sa s american indian stories and roberta fernandez s intaglio and maria cristina mena s the birth of the god of war these pairings are not based on matters of intertextuality or influence but are chosen according to the folk groups to which the novels characters belong this strategy enables beardslee to trace the particular legacies that inform the work of the twentieth century authors as beardslee notes contemporary texts and the critical commentary on them have focused until fairly recently on the search for self in male usually white characters such works have also positioned that search outside the character's family or community and have usually emphasized its futility with the growing shift toward multiculturalism in fiction however folk traditions have come to play an increasingly crucial role in characters journeys to self awareness as well as in the success of those journeys thoroughly researched and cogently argued this book makes a significant contribution to the study of both folklore and literature as it explores the relationship between knowing one s cultural heritage and achieving a sense of self that is whole instead of fragmented connected instead of drifting the author karen e beardslee teaches in the department of language and literature at
