Universal Design: Design for All and Inclusive Design are all aimed at dismantling physical and social barriers to inclusion in all areas of life. Engagement in Universal Design is on the increase worldwide as practitioners and researchers explore creative and desirable solutions to shape the future of Universal Design products and practices. This book is a collection of the papers presented at UD2014, the International Conference on Universal Design held in Lund, Sweden, in June 2014. The conference offered a creative and diverse meeting place for all participants to exchange knowledge, experiences, and ideas and to build global connections and creative networks for future work on Universal Design. The themes of UD2014 span many aspects of societal life, and the papers included here cover areas as diverse as architecture, public transport, educational and play environments, housing, universal workspaces, and the Internet of Things, as well as designs and adaptations for assistive technology. The book clearly demonstrates the breadth of Universal Design and its ongoing adoption in societies all over the world and will be of interest to anyone whose work involves building a more inclusive environment for all.

Models of Teaching: Connecting Student Learning with Standards features classic and contemporary models of teaching appropriate to elementary and secondary settings. Authors Jeanine M. Dell'Olivo and Tony Donk use detailed case studies to discuss 10 models of teaching and demonstrate how they can be connected to state content standards and benchmarks, as well as technology standards. This book provides readers with the theoretical and practical understandings of how to use models of teaching to both meet and exceed the growing expectations for research-based instructional practices and student achievement.

The 1988 Education Reform Act meant that schools had to manage themselves in ways which satisfied the world outside the school gates. Governors became more powerful, parents took on a greater influence, and employers were given new rights. This book discusses the total management of schools as they respond to these new imperatives. It examines the responsibilities of teachers, head teachers, and principals as they shape and execute their management plans against the background of a compulsory national curriculum. The book also examines the management of the diverse pressures within the curriculum itself. Every good teacher strives to be a great teacher, and this must-have book shows you how it's filled with practical tips and strategies for connecting with your students in a meaningful and powerful way. Learn how to improve student learning with easy-to-implement daily activities designed to integrate seamlessly into any day of the school year. This is a readable, hands-on guide for both new and seasoned teachers, complete with 20-day reality checks so you can reflect on your progress and identify areas for improvement over the past
