writing autobiography is a risky business what is shameful can be inadvertently rather than deliberately revealed yet reading autobiography can also be risky as it may lead to the confrontation of shame in ourselves perhaps it is this element of risk together with the magnetism of another person's confession of shameful experience that make us such avid readers of autobiography Rosamund Dalziel proposes that shame is the driving force in many Australian autobiographies indeed she suggests that the representation of shame is fundamental to the autobiographical process shame seeks concealment and this she argues explains both why this fascinating link has not before been explored and why when it is pointed out we immediately know it to be authentic shameful autobiographies look at pervasive patterns of shame in the autobiographies of such leading Australian writers as Germaine Greer Sally Morgan Bernard Smith Kathleen Fitzpatrick Morris Lurie Ruby Langford Ginibi and Robert Dessaix in so doing it establishes the centrality of shame to problems of Australian identity and to current political debate for instance it is shame that fuels angry repudiations of the so-called black armband view of history
