golden age of magazines in the twentieth century page 4 of cover ahmad bin vahuva al baladhuri s history of the arab invasions is perhaps the most important single source for the history of the great arab conquests of the middle east in the sixth and early seventh centuries the author who died in 892 was a historian working at court of the abbasid caliphs in baghdad he had access to a wide variety of earlier writings on the conquests and has preserved accounts that are not found anywhere else but the book is much more than a series of accounts of battles baladhuri was very interested in the origins of the islamic state and its institutions his work contains a wealth of information about government land holding and economic developments it is in short a key text for anyone interested in the formation of the islamic world in this new modern translation fully annotated with a scholarly apparatus and commentary on the places events and individuals mentioned a key source on the arab conquests is made available in english it will be essential reading for scholars and students of islamic studies and middle east history the story of the succession to the prophet muhammad and the rise of the rashidun caliphate 632 661 is familiar to historians from the political histories of medieval islam which treat it as a factual account the story also informs the competing perspectives of sunni and shi i islam which read into it the legitimacy of their claims yet while descriptive and varied these approaches have long excluded a third reading which views the conflict over the succession to the prophet as a parable from this vantage point the motives sayings and actions of the protagonists reveal profound links to previous texts not to mention a surprising irony regarding political and religious issues in a controversial break from previous historiography tayeb el hibri privileges the literary and artistic triumphs of the medieval islamic chronicles and maps the origins of islamic political and religious orthodoxy considering the patterns and themes of these unified narratives including the problem of measuring personal qualification according to religious merit nobility and skills in government el hibri offers an insightful critique of both early and contemporary islam and the concerns of legitimacy shadowing various rulers in building an argument for reading the texts as parabolic commentary he also highlights the islamic reinterpretation of biblical traditions both by gur anic exegesis and historical composition explores the differences and similarities of historical and evolutionary approaches to investigating and interpreting the past the 11 papers were presented at the spring systematics symposium in chicago may 1989 they discuss
