Riders 2007-07-03 what would an anatomy of the book look like there is the main text of course the file that the author proudly submits to their publisher but around this hemming it in on the page or enclosing it at the front and back of the book there are dozens of other texts page numbers and running heads copyright statements and errata lists each possessed of particular conventions each with their own lively histories to consider these paratexts recalling them from the margins letting them take centre stage is to be reminded that no book is the sole work of the author whose name appears on the cover rather every book is the sum of a series of collaborations it is to be reminded also that not everything is intended for us the readers there are sections that are solely directed at others binders librarians lawyers parts of the book that if they are working well are working discreetly like a theatrical prompt whispering out of the audience's earshot Book Parts is a bold and imaginative intervention in the fast growing field of book history it pulls the book apart over twenty two chapters Book Parts tells the story of the components of the book from title pages to endleaves from dust jackets to indexes and just about everything in between Book Parts covers a broad historical range that runs from the pre print era to the digital bringing together the expertise of some of the most exciting scholars working on book history today in order to shine a new light on these elements hiding in plain sight in the books we all read

Funny You Should Say That 2006-11-30 the author of the award winning Matisse a Life gives us the definitive biography of writer anthony powell and takes us deep into the heart of twentieth century london's literary life insightful lively and enthralling this biography is as much a brilliant tapestry of a seminal era in london's literary life as it is a revelation of an iconic literary figure best known for his twelve volume comic masterpiece A Dance to the Music of Time the prolific writer and critic anthony powell 1905-2000 kept company between the two world wars with rowdy hard up writers and painters and painters models in the london where augustus john and wyndham lewis loomed large he counted evelyn waugh and henry green among his lifelong friends and his circle included the sitwells graham greene george orwell philip larkin and kingsley amis drawing on letters diaries and interviews hilary spurling herself a longtime friend of powell's as well as an award winning biographer has produced a fresh and powerful portrait of the man and his times

British Books in Print 1985 philip larkin met monica jones at university college leicester in autumn 1946 when they were both twenty four he was the newly appointed assistant librarian and she was an english lecturer in 1950 larkin moved to belfast and thence to hull while monica remained in leicester becoming by turns his correspondent lover and closest confidante in a relationship which lasted over forty years until the poet's death in 1985 this remarkable unpublished correspondence only came to light after monica jones's death in 2001 and consists of nearly two thousand letters postcards and telegrams which chronicle day by day sometimes hour by hour every aspect of larkin's life and the convolutions of their relationship
