this a suitable choice for all weddings satisfaction guaranteed if it is not love at first sight with your wedding planner return it to us unused of course for a 100 money back no questions asked refund many other covers and book styles are available under our brand visit select and add to cart now why create a 5 week plan the reason is simple to not only help you reach one goal but keep track of all your goals the to do checklists in here are going to help you keep your focus on what is important by looking at it every day you maintain the focus you need to stay driven and on task remember that life gets in the way if you let it in let it get in the way too often when all i wanted was to stay on task or at least accomplish something every day that would take me closer to the goal we all lose focus but it helps when we can plan something to be done each day to get us to the goal the to do lists helps us do at least one thing to get us to our goals and reach our dreams the purpose of this journal is to help you build your daily checklist let us go over the pros and cons of building a to do checklist it should not be something you put together quickly most of us do we have a checklist then we add to it then we think of another thing and jot that down soon you have a huge checklist that becomes next to impossible to complete everything now you must think about what you want to do but you don't want to lose your idea or your task so what do you do i think that you should gather in a master checklist do you ever feel overwhelmed do you feel there aren't enough hours in the day did you ever look at what you've done only to realize that many of them were not that important here is what i am asking you to do create a master checklist for your daily tasks think about what you want to get done you don't need all the details but you do need to remember to do the task this is what you can do you can list them all out the week ahead of time maybe even a month prior if you're working on a larger project this is how you can get back on track make time each week to plan your week out set up priorities it may be that they change from day to day but here is an opportunity for you to take control of your time each day by taking an hour or so to plan the week then at the end of each day prioritize the next day this will help you go into the day prepared with a plan things may come up that throw you off but this may help you prioritize when those surprises come up that are not important these checklists can have you take a breath look over your list and think about what is more important what you're doing here is responding not reacting did you ever have someone else's problem become your problem i was an engineer that worked on problems the problem with other people s problems is that they become your problems even if they are not your problem if you react then you re going to help them which is a gut reaction you want to help people right but at what cost to you are you really helping them or are they coming to you to save themselves time would it be better if you would tell them what to do instead of doing it for them of course it would be better if you could teach them what to do rather than doing it for them if your job is support then you may have a different answer but i spend a lot of hours getting interrupted by people that don t really need my help but they want me to do it for them it is up to you to teach them to do it themselves and then get back to what is important to you and your life whatever it might be if you are interrupted by a work call when you are taking care of your kids or out on a date what would you do for one if you re not on call you probably would not respond or you would try to handle it quick now what if our kid is screaming because they got hurt then you would not care about the call you would tend to the child i know this is extreme but you need to stay focused on the big picture what is important to you think about that than put that at the top of your list and the to do checklist can get you there if it helps think of the goal that you re trying to looking at it every day you maintain the focus you need to stay driven and on task remember that life gets in the way if you let it i let it get in the way too often when all i wanted was to stay on task or at least accomplish something every day that would take me closer to the goal we all lose focus but it helps when we can plan something to be done each day to get s to the goal the to do lists helps us do at least one thing to get us to our goals and reach our dreams the purpose of this journal is to help you build your daily checklist let s go over the pros and cons of building a to do checklist it should not be something you put together quickly most of us do we have a checklist then we add to it then we think of another thing and jot that down soon you have a huge checklist that becomes next to impossible to complete everything now you must think about what you want to do but you don t want to lose your idea or your task so what do you do i think that you should gather in a master checklist do you ever feel overwhelmed do you feel there aren t enough hours in the day did you ever look at what you ve done only to realize that many of them were not that important here is what i am asking you to do create a master checklist for your daily tasks think about what you want to get done you don t need all the details but you do need to remember to do the task this is what you can do you can list them all out the week ahead of time maybe even a month prior if you re working on a larger project this is how you can get back on track make time each week to plan your week out set up priorities it may be that they change from day to day but here is an opportunity for you to take control of your time each day by taking an hour or so to plan the week then at the end of each day prioritize the next day this will help you go into the day prepared with a plan things may come up that throw you off but this may help you prioritize when those surprises come up that are not important these checklists can have you take a breath look over your list and think about what is more important what you re doing here is responding not reacting did you ever have someone else s problem become your problem i was an engineer that worked on problems the problem with other people s problems is that they become your problems even if they are not your problem if you react then you re going to help them which is a gut reaction you want to help people right but at what cost to you are you really helping them or are they coming to you to save themselves time would it be better if you would tell them what to do instead of doing it for them of course it would be better if you could teach them what to do rather than doing it for them if your job is support then you may have a different answer but i spend a lot of hours getting interrupted by people that don t really need my help but they want me to do it for them it is up to you to teach them to do it themselves and then get back to what is important to you and your life whatever it might be if you are interrupted by a work call when you are taking care of your kids or out on a date what would you do for one if you re not on call you probably would not respond or you would try to handle it quick now what if our kid is screaming because they got hurt then you would not care about the call you would tend to the child i know this is extreme but you need to stay focused on the big picture what is important to you think about that than put that at the top of your list and the to do checklist can get you there if it helps think of the goal that you re trying to reach
