in this book we use the classical liberal lens to ask americans on the political right to seriously reckon with america s deep racial pain much of which arises from violations of rights that conservatives say they deeply value such as property rights freedom of contract and the protection of the rule of law we ask those on the left to take a hard look at the failed paternalism and in some cases thoroughgoing racism of past progressive policy all americans are asked to apply their concern for individual rights and constitutional order fairly to our historical record what readers will find are deep injustices against black americans but they will also find black entrepreneurs overcoming amazing obstacles and a black community that has created flourishing institutions and culture exhausted by extremism on both left and right a majority of americans black and white love this country and want to do right by all of its citizens in black liberation through the marketplace readers will come away with a better understanding of black history and creative ideas for how to make this nation truly one with liberty and justice for all between 1940 and 2010 the black population of the american west grew from 710 400 to 7 million with that explosive growth has come a burgeoning interest in the history of the african american west an interest reflected in the remarkable range and depth of the works collected in freedom s racial frontier editors herbert g ruffin ii and dwayne a mack have gathered established and emerging scholars in the field to create an anthology that links past current and future generations of african american west scholarship the volume s sixteen chapters address the african american experience within the framework of the west as a multicultural frontier the result is a fresh perspective on western u s history centered on the significance of african american life culture and social justice in almost every trans mississippi state examining and interpreting the twentieth century while mindful of events and developments since 2000 the contributors focus on community formation cultural diversity civil rights and black empowerment and artistic creativity and identity reflecting the dynamic evolution of new approaches and new sites of knowledge in the field of western history the authors consider its interconnections with fields such as cultural studies literature and sociology some essays deal with familiar places while others look at understudied sites such as albuquerque oahu and las vegas nevada by examining black suburbanization the information age and gentrification in the urban west several authors conceive of a third great migration of african americans to and within the west the west revealed in freedom s racial frontier is a place where black americans have fought and continue to fight to make their idea of freedom live up to their expectations of equality a place where freedom is still a frontier for most persons of african heritage political participation in america supposedly the world s strongest democracy is startlingly low and many of the civil rights and economic equity initiatives that were instituted in the 1960s and 70s have been abandoned as significant proportions of the populace seem to believe that the civil rights battle has been won however rates of collective engagement like community activism are surprisingly high in resisting citizenship renowned feminist political scientist martha ackelsberg argues that community activism may hold important clues to reviving democracy in this time of growing bureaucratization and inequality this book brings together many of ackelsberg s writings over the past 25 years combining her own field work and interviews with cutting edge research and theory on democracy and activism she explores these efforts in order to draw lessons and attempt to incorporate knowledge about current notions of democracy from those who engage in non traditional participation those who have in many respects been relegated to the margins of political life in the united states written and directed by two white men and performed by an all black cast nothing but a man michael roemer 1964 tells the story of a drifter turned family man who struggles with the pressures of small town life and the limitations placed on him and his community in the deep south an area long fraught with racism though unmistakably about race and civil rights the film makes no direct reference to the civil rights movement despite this intentional absence contemporary audiences were acutely aware of the social context for the film s indictment of white prejudice in america to help frame and situate the film in the context of black film studies the book gathers primary and secondary resources including the original screenplay essays on the film statements by the filmmakers and interviews with robert m young the film s producer and cinematographer and khalil gibran muhammad the director of the schomburg center for research in black culture
