infinity display devices possess many desirable properties than enhance the training value of aircraft flight simulators in the past little has been done to apply reflective infinity display techniques to the problem of wide angle visual simulation this is primarily because glass mirrors were necessary to obtain the needed optical quality these mirrors were heavy fragile expensive and took a long time to manufacture additional support structures and control systems required by glass mirrors only added to the cost and complexity objectives of the nonglass infinity display research program were to study wide angle display system concepts develop high quality nonglass mirrors and fabrication techniques build a prototype display system and define cathode ray tube characteristics needed for the display a prototype unit using nonglass mirrors was fabricated having a 120 degree horizontal field of view and a 45 degree vertical field of view author a fascinating look at hollywood s most turbulent decade and the demise of the studio system set against the boom of the post world war ii years the cold war and the atomic age and the movies that reflected the seismic shifts hollywood in the 1950s was a period when the film industry both set conventions and broke norms and traditions from cinerama cinemascope and vistavision to the epic film and lavish musical it was a decade that saw the rise of the anti hero the smoldering the hidden and the unspoken teenagers gone wild in the streets the sacred and the profane the revolution of the method the socially conscious the implosion of the studios the end of the production code and the invasion of the ultimate body snatcher the small screen television here is eisenhower s america seemingly complacent conformity ridden revealed in vincente minnelli s father of the bride walt disney s cinderella and brigadoon among others and here is its darkening resonant landscape beset by conflict discontent and anxiety the man who knew too much the asphalt jungle a place in the sun touch of evil it came from outer space an america on the verge of cultural political and sexual revolt busting up and breaking out east of eden from here to eternity on the waterfront sweet smell of success the wild one a streetcar named desire and jailhouse rock an important riveting look at our nation at its peak as a world power and at the political cultural sexual upheavals it endured reflected and explored in the quintessential american art form this book explores the fascinating world of religious hair observances within six religious traditions that account for 77 of the world s adherents judaism christianity islam hinduism buddhism and sikhism symbolic use of hair has been and remains prevalent in all six and carries significant amounts of religious and social meaning hair is a unique body substance it can be shaped and colored removed from us without pain but still retain an individual s essence signal our age sex and sexual maturity and much much more the book s approach is to situate each practice within its tradition that requires a study of its foundational leaders and their teachings sacred texts where they mention hair its rites and rituals ideas of religious power and subsequent historical development contemporary practitioners are interviewed for their motivations even more insight can be gleaned by searching beyond an overt religious purpose social scientists from anthropology sociology psychology and related fields bring their research to deliver added perceptions the author reveals how hair practices are created from ancient psychological and cultural impulses become modified by time culture and religious intent and are adopted by adherents for reasons ranging from personal religious expression to group identity this book is written for the interested observer of our increasingly diverse society and for the student of comparative religion and sociology it will in the context of the transformations that europe is undergoing zoom in zoom out crossing borders in contemporary european cinema attempts to serve as a testimony to the multiple ways in which european filmmakers are questioning the many borders of the continent european films have become a vital cultural space where the relationship between borders and identity is being renegotiated the films discussed here self consciously address the question of european identity while overtly crossing geographic cultural linguistic and aesthetic borders while all the articles explore the crossing of borders in contemporary european films the volume maintains diverse themes and perspectives as subtopics it includes articles not only about films that deal thematically with border crossings but also articles that examine movies that cross borders in genres and techniques the articles have different theoretical approaches film theory cultural studies history sociology philosophy and psychoanalysis and cover films from well known cinematic traditions french spanish german and italian as well as lesser known cinematic traditions yugoslavian greek and irish as a whole the essays frame the self conscious gesture by european filmmakers to define european cinema as a work in progress or at the very least as a project that like europe itself raises as many questions as it answers this volume is a welcome addition to the growing critical literature on the evolution of the conception and practice of national cinema in europe over the last two decades sandra barriaes bouche and marjorie attignol salvodon have chosen a solid selection of representative case studies that reflects different critical approaches to the problem of maintaining local or national cinema production in europe during a period of intense globalization their insightful introduction formulates the theme of unsettled borders and renegotiated identities that will resonate in the nine essays that follow with a focus on the critical concept of these unsettled borders the various authors explore the ways that the traditional mark of national space has been transformed through political and economic realignments as well as new technologies and the emergence of a new generation of filmmakers for whom national cinema no longer means what it did even twenty years ago the volume provides a good balance of critical approaches that includes auteur studies descriptions of state policies and the particular practices of filmmakers and producers in different parts of the continent spain germany ireland the balkans and finally useful appendices that provide a close up view of the complex nature of international co productions marvin d lugo professor of spanish clark university this is an interesting collection of essays that has been well conceived and organised the standard of writing is high and i recommend publication i particularly commend the conceptual framework underpinning the volume this marries a cultural studies approach which still dominates the study of film in area studies and language departments across europe and the us where filmic texts are increasingly used as teaching tools with the more industry based focus one tends to find adopted by media and screen studies departments thus this collection will appeal to a wide range of students and academics the introduction sets out the volume s overarching framework cogently and clearly giving a nuanced exploration of the way that the notion of the border can be used as a dynamic prism to help define and explore the limits of our understanding of europe european identity and european culture within which cinema has long played a key role the editors give a good account for example of the way film has been employed as a space to explore the possibilities of european integration by eu politicians as well as highlighting the flaws inherent within this project they do however perhaps suggest a certain western european north american centric view in their suggestion that the cinema of yugoslavia greece or ireland is somehow less well known than other national and transnational cinemas explored here less well known to whom however from the broad range of cinemas explored in the rest of the volume clearly this is not the case particular high points for me are the chapters on the work of fatih akin by janis little solomon and john davidson s discussion of schulze gets the blues as well as olivier asselin s fascinating account of database cinema this will be a good addition to scholarship on european film and i look forward to receiving my copy professor paul cooke university of leeds
