The Zoologist's Guide to the Galaxy 2021-03-16 from a noted cambridge zoologist a wildly fun and scientifically sound exploration of what alien life must be like using universal laws that govern life on earth and in space scientists are confident that life exists elsewhere in the universe yet rather than taking a realistic approach to what aliens might be like we imagine that life on other planets is the stuff of science fiction the time has come to abandon our fantasies of space invaders and movie monsters and place our expectations on solid scientific footing but short of aliens landing in new york city how do we know what they are like using his own expert understanding of life on earth and darwin s theory of evolution which applies throughout the universe cambridge zoologist dr arik kershenbaum explains what alien life must be like how these creatures will move socialize and communicate for example by observing fish whose electrical pulses indicate social status we can see that other planets might allow for communication by electricity as there was evolutionary pressure to wriggle along a sea floor earthling animals tend to have left right symmetry on planets where creatures evolved in midair or in soupy tar they might be lacking any symmetry at all might there be an alien planet with supersonic animals a moon where creatures have a language composed of smells will aliens scream with fear act honestly or have technology the zoologist s guide to the galaxy answers these questions using the latest science to tell the story of how life really works on earth and in space
