seeing red is a groundbreaking study of how canadian english language newspapers have portrayed aboriginal peoples from 1869 to the present day it assesses a wide range of publications on topics that include the sale of rupert s land the signing of treaty 3 the north west rebellion and louis riel the death of pauline johnson the outing of grey owl the discussions surrounding bill c 31 the bended elbow standoff at kenora ontario and the oka crisis the authors uncover overwhelming evidence that the colonial imaginary not only thrives but dominates depictions of aboriginal peoples in mainstream newspapers the colonial constructs ingrained in the news media perpetuate an imagined native inferiority that contributes significantly to the marginalization of indigenous people in canada that such imagery persists to this day suggests strongly that our country lives in denial failing to live up to its cultural mosaic boosterism in 1980s india the ramsay brothers and other filmmakers produced a wave of horror movies about soul sucking witches knife wielding psychopaths and dark caped vampires seeing things is about the sudden cuts botched prosthetic effects continuity errors and celluloid damage in these movies such moments may very well be failures of various kinds but in this book kartik nair reads them as clues to the conditions in which the films were once made censored and seen offering a view from below of the world s largest film culture combining extensive archival research and original interviews with close readings of landmark films including purana mandir veerana and jaani dushman this book tracks the material coordinates of horror cinema s spectral images in the process seeing things discovers a spectral materiality one that informs bombay horror s haunted houses grotesque bodies and graphic violence and gives visceral force to our experience of the genre s globally familiar conventions buddhism is in many ways a visual tradition with its well known practices of visualization its visual arts its epistemological writings that discuss the act of seeing and its literature filled with images and metaphors of light some buddhist traditions are also visionary advocating practices by which meditators seek visions that arise before their eyes naked seeing investigates such practices in the context of two major esoteric traditions the wheel of time kalacakra and the great perfection dzogchen both of these experimented with sensory deprivation and developed yogas involving long periods of dwelling in dark rooms or gazing at the open sky these produced unusual experiences of seeing which were used to pursue some of the classic buddhist questions about appearances emptiness and the nature of reality along the way these practices gave rise to provocative ideas and suggested that rather than being apprehended through internal insight religious truths might also be seen in the exterior world realized through the gateway of the eyes christopher hatchell presents the intellectual and literary histories of these practices and also explores the meditative techniques and physiology that underlie their distinctive visionary experiences the book also offers for the first time complete english translations of three major tibetan texts on visionary practice a kalacakra treatise by yumo mikyo dorjé the lamp illuminating emptiness a nyingma great perfection work called the tantra of the blazing lamps and a bön great perfection work called advice on the six lamps along with a detailed commentary on this by drugom organized by the interna tional perimetric society was held in amsterdam the netherlands september 6 10 1986 in many respects it was an exciting and fruitful meeting the number of participants was greater than ever the number of papers was too great to accommodate all of them the quality of the papers reflects the continuously rising interest in perimetry in general and in automated perimetry in particular last but not least the social programme was organized in the by now almost classical friendly enjoyable and humouristic style of the international perimetric society this created an atmosphere of openness and free exchange of informa tion which was clearly also felt in the scientific sessions the scientific part was divided in seven sessions with 44 spoken papers and a separate postersession during which the 46 posters were discussed the major themes of the meeting were the influence of media disturbances on the visual field and advances in perimetry in glaucoma with special emphasis on pro gression the session on media provided interesting information on how the visual field was effected by preretinal filters the authors either studied the influence of lens or corneal opacities or simulated opacities by special filters placed in front of the eye in two papers the effect of cataract was qualified by photography or stray light measurements polemon of laodicea near
