has the right to stand between you and your published writer dreams that the publishing industry is going down in flames and self publishers are going to rise like a 99c phoenix from the ashes that all literary agents are interested in doing is blogging sarcastically about the rhetorical question at the start of your query letter that editors will just use your submitted manuscript for kindling and that you'll be senile before you hear back from either of them that once you've uploaded the book you finished yesterday afternoon to amazon it'll be mere minutes before the money starts rolling in and you can quit your day job do you say things like gatekeepers the big five e.l. james legacy publishing and indie author a lot are you self publishing to show them all if you've answered yes to one or more of these questions then i do apologize but this isn't the book for you this book is for writers who consider self publishing to be a good plan b or even a sideline to traditional publication who want to do it the cheapest and easiest way possible while still producing a quality product who understand that much like starbucks outlets and nespresso coffee machines traditional and self publishing can peacefully co-exist writers who know that they don't have to sell a million copies of their book to start earning a living from their writing but that they do have to work hard and treat it like a business who are blessed with common sense and live in the real world at least most of the time who find my jokes funny if this sounds like you then self printed the sane person's step guidance on how authors can publish and market their own works offering advice on a variety of topics such as how to choose a marketable topic design and production and advertising and publicity and includes success stories from other self publishers how to use digital self publishing social media and common sense to start earning a living as a writer through pod paperbacks and e books and do it without ever saying gatekeepers or shouting down with the big six p 3 if you have ever dreamed of writing and publishing your own book you can realise that dream through self publishing self publishing is the route many writers choose these days to make their works available to the reading public self publishing today is different from what it used to be many years ago when authors had to spend a lot of money to publish their book today authors can self publish their book for free or for as little as 100 depending on the self publishing platform they choose as a soon to be author the first thing you need to do to self publish a book is to know your genre one of the rules of writing is that you should write about what you know if you have a specific genre that you enjoy reading chances are that that is the genre you will want or like to write about consider your interests and the types of book that you read before you decide on the genre you want to venture into your major aim of writing a book should not be to make money it should be about something you have interest and passion for there a lot of genres available in both fiction and non fiction writing before you start writing your book have a plan of what the book will be about and the genre it will fit in you need to focus on a specific genre when you are writing a book so you can market it some books may cross genre lines such as paranormal and romance books while some books will fit neatly into a genre what your book is about should be very clear to the would be reader so they will be interested in what you have written to want to buy the book most readers have the types of books they like to read and have a habit of sticking to a few genres there are different genres for both fiction and non fiction books you need to make sure your book stands out from other books in the same category if you are writing a romance novel for instance how do you make it stand out from other romance novels that are already in the bookstores this is a question you must answer once you have determined your genre and know exactly what you want to write about you should begin to think of marketing your book make it something that prospective readers will choose when they see it in bookstores or online this will set it apart from other books of the same kind and lure readers to buy it you can make a career out of self publishing your books and marketing them to the right audience after you have decided on what you are going to write about and what will make your book stand out from the rest you can then begin to outline your book you should write down an outline of the book and the points you are trying to make well written books convey a message make sure your book conveys a good message to the readers that they can take away from the book while you may like the free form method of writing which is writing without doing any sort of outline you must still have an idea of the ending of the book in mind if you are writing a fiction book characters come alive as you write the ending you have in mind may change as you rewrite the book so it is important to be very flexible the way you write depends on the type of person you are if you wish to have everything ironed out for your book then you must write down an outline that will tell you where you are heading this is like having a roadmap for a car trip get a copy of this well written book to learn all you need to know about self publishing and how you can use it to your advantage a crucial book for anyone choosing to self publish marketing a book is difficult for most authors it takes an incredible lot of time and often for no measurable results in sales some of you may have spent hours days weeks even months writing blogs getting active on facebook and twitter in order to promote your book then you look at your sales figures for the last weeks or months and your heart sinks why isn't this working so have you ever wondered how other books seem to come out of nowhere and become best sellers ever suspected that there are some tricks you don't know about that others are using to promote their book well you would A Simple Guide to Self-Publishing 2013-10-07 the fully revised and updated third edition of Catherine Ryan Howard's pragmatic how-to self-publishing guide. Do you think that no one has the right to stand between you and your published writer dreams that the publishing industry is going down in flames and self-publishers are going to rise like a 99c phoenix from the ashes that all literary agents are interested in doing is blogging sarcastically about the rhetorical question at the start of your query letter that editors will just use your submitted manuscript for kindling and that you'll be senile before you hear back from either of them that once you've uploaded the book you finished yesterday afternoon to Amazon, it'll be mere minutes before the money starts rolling in and you can quit your day job? Do you say things like gatekeepers, the big five, etc.? James Legacy Publishing and indie author a lot are you self-publishing to show them all? If you've answered yes to one or more of these questions, then I do apologize, but this isn't the book for you. This book is for writers who consider self-publishing to be a good plan B or even a sideline to traditional publication who want to do it the cheapest and easiest way possible while still producing a quality product who understand that much like Starbucks outlets and Nespresso coffee machines, traditional and self-publishing can peacefully co-exist. Writers who know that they don't have to sell a million copies of their book to start earning a living from their writing but that they do have to work hard and treat it like a business who are blessed with common sense and live in the real world at least most of the time who find my jokes funny if this sounds like you, then self-printed the sane person's guide to self-publishing may be just the how-to guide you were looking for. It will tell you everything you need to know in order to publish a print-on-demand paperback and e-book and crucially, sell them without sounding like anti-big publishing propaganda produced by the Ministry of Truth. Be warned, you are now entering a no-saying gatekeepers zone.

Self-printed 2014-05-05 if you have ever dreamed of writing and publishing your own book you can realise that dream through self publishing self publishing is the route many writers choose these days to make their works available to the reading public self publishing today is different from what it used to be many years ago when authors had to spend a lot of money to publish their book today authors can self publish their book for free or for as little as 100 depending on the self publishing platform they choose as a soon to be author the first thing you need to do to self publish a book is to know your genre one of the rules of writing is that you should write about what you know if you have a specific genre that you enjoy reading chances are that that is the genre you will want or like to write about consider your interests and the types of book that you read before you decide on the genre you want to venture into your major aim of writing a book should not be to make money it should be about something you have interest and passion for there a lot of genres available in both fiction and non fiction writing before you start writing your book have a plan of what the book will be about and the genre it will fit in you need to focus on a specific genre when you are writing a book so you can market it some books may cross genre lines such as paranormal and romance books while some books will fit neatly into a genre what your book is about should be very clear to the would be reader so they will be interested in what you have written to want to buy the book most readers have the types of books they like to read and have a habit of sticking to a few genres there are different genres for both fiction and non fiction books you need to make sure your book stands out from other books in the same category if you are writing a romance novel for instance how do you make it stand out from other romance novels that are already in the bookstores this is a question you must answer once you have determined your genre and know exactly what you want to write about you should begin to think of marketing your book make it something that prospective readers will choose when they see it in bookstores or online this will set it apart from other books of the same kind and lure readers to buy it you can make a career out of self publishing your books and marketing them to the right audience after you have decided on what you are going to write about and what will make your book stand out from the rest you can then begin to outline your book you should write down an outline of the book and the points you are trying to make well written books convey a message make sure your book conveys a good message to the readers that they can take away from the book while you may like the free form method of writing which is writing without doing any sort of outline you must still have an idea of the ending of the book in mind if you are writing a fiction book characters come alive as you write the ending you have in mind may change as you rewrite the book so it is important to be very flexible the way you write depends on the type of person you are if you wish to have everything ironed out for your book then you must write down an outline that will tell you where you are heading this is like having a roadmap for a car trip get a copy of this well written book to learn all you need to know about self publishing and how you can use it to your advantage
