this book examines the factors influencing women s choices of obstetrical care in a bariba community in the people s republic of benin west africa when selecting a research topic i decided to investigate health care among the bariba for several reasons first i had served as a peace corps volunteer in northern benin then dahomey and had established a network of contacts in the region in addition i had worked for a year as assistant manager of a pharmacy in a northern town and had become interested in the pattern of utilization of health care services by urban residents this three year residence proved an invaluable asset in preparing and conducting research in the northern region in particular i was able to establish relationships with several indigenous midwives whose families i already knew both from prior research experience and mutual friend ships these relationships enabled me to obtain detailed information regarding obstetrical practice and thus form the foundation of this book the fieldwork upon which the book is directly based was conducted between june 1976 and december 1977 and sponsored by the ford rockefeller population policy program the social science research council the national science foundation and the fulbright hays doctoral dissertation research program the ford rockefeller population policy program funded the project as a collaboration between myself and professor eusebe alihonou professor agrege gynecologie obstetrique at the national university of benin

CTC 2019 - Compendium of Therapeutic Choices

ethical choices in contemporary medicine jettisons the standard medical ethics models of rights language and shows how the bioethical problems that receive attention from the media and the public are related to and are explicable in terms of the epistemological foundations of science and medicine these epistemological concerns include how medical knowledge is established scientific validity how medical protocols are administered checks and balances how medical certainty is evaluated probability and medical responsibility is framed personal or collective and how medical knowledge is transmitted popular media versus professional journals and how medical care is allocated insurance policies and government subsidies the book examines the present predicaments of medicine within a broad cultural context and suggests that rational discourse and parochial ethical dialogue may be futile in the face of competing and incommensurable frameworks and agendas attitudes and wishes the authors show that in the postmodern age two interrelated issues surface when it comes to medicine on the one hand there is a strong critique of science and the privileges associated with the scientific discourse and on the other there is still a deep seated quest for certainty in all medical matters triple negative breast cancers tnbc are a biologically aggressive form of breast cancer and constitute approximately 10-15% of all breast cancer patients. distant metastasis, lack of clinically targeted therapies, and prognostic markers makes the disease difficult to treat. till now, not much work has been carried out on this deadly disease. this book provides an overview of tnbc etiology, its treatment strategies, and prognostic markers to identify the outcome of standard therapies. signalling pathways, namely cell proliferation, angiogenesis, invasion, and metastasis, apoptosis, autophagy, and others involved in complicating the disease have been described in the chapters to convey an understanding about the disease mechanisms. all the possible drugs, either in pre-clinical or clinical stages, have also been mentioned with data that depicts their efficiency in targeting altered genes. the book also introduces the reader to herbal medicine exhibiting high potency to target tnbc, their synthetic analogs used during chemotherapy, and their ability to fight against chemoresistance. the concept of phytonanotechnology has also been discussed. the book helps create awareness among a broad range of readers about TNBC. It points to prioritizing the upgradation of health care facilities and re-designing future treatment strategies to provide maximum benefit to breast cancer patients.
