Reframe Team Reflexivity – Realize Do No Harm 2023-01-27

team reflexivity has gained increasing research attention as an effective response to the core challenge of constant learning innovation and adaptation in teams due to changing circumstances under the right conditions empirical studies have found that team reflexivity can improve team performance team learning team innovation team creativity and team member well being thus research shows that team reflexivity is an effective means to improve teamwork and team outcomes this book addresses the problem that team reflexivity research is focused too narrowly on improving these empirical team outcomes while neglecting the importance of normative principles and values in good teamwork such as the do no harm principle therefore this book proposes that the team reflexivity concept needs broader reframing and deeper reflection to realize normative principles and values in teams as a precondition for good teamwork e.g. do no harm it further presents two team reflexivity tools and applies them in the cases of burnout prevention and speaking up freely in teams to illustrate the point of this book do no harm in teams requires team reflexivity and vice versa team reflexivity requires do no harm the models in mainstream game theory generally assume that actors act according to a single consistent utility function empirical studies common sense and humanistic wisdom all suggest that that assumption is too simple this book starts with an assumption that actors are controlled by diverse inconsistent forces and demonstrates that introducing this level of complexity allows for the creation of critical game theory models that can help to attain new insights into nature human nature human institutions and human behavior the book begins with an evolutionary or evo model in which the players have concerns for the other player as well as egoistic interests part i analyzes the prisoner's dilemma using a literary or lit model in which the players have entropic or entro masochistic and sadistic drives as well as altruistic and egoistic ones part ii suggests that the lit model opens the door to a where entro is let evo be critical perspective on politics part iii considers how core stories in mainstream game theory can be usefully supplemented and deepened by critical models and reflects on possible futures for critical game theory the discussion of games and subgames includes poems as well as matrices in pursuit of a mode of presentation that respects the complex simultaneously humanistic and scientific qualities of critical game theory the vision of critical game theory advanced in the book will be of significant interest to researchers in an array of theoretical and applied disciplines including but not limited to literature psychology political science economics computer science ethics business ethics law and law and economics ai in and for africa a humanistic perspective explores the convoluted intersection of artificial intelligence ai with africa s unique socio economic realities this book is the first of its kind to provide a comprehensive overview of how ai is currently being deployed on the african continent given the existence of significant disparities in africa related to gender race labour and power the book argues that the continent requires different ai solutions to its problems ones that are not founded on technological determinism or exclusively on the adoption of eurocentric or western centric worldviews it embraces a decolonial approach to exploring and addressing issues such as ai s diversity crisis the absence of ethical policies around ai that are tailor made for africa the ever widening digital divide and the ongoing practice of dismissing african knowledge systems in the contexts of ai research and education although the book suggests a number of humanistic strategies with the goal of ensuring that africa does not appropriate ai in a manner that is skewed in favour of a privileged few it does not support the notion that the continent should simply opt for a one size fits all solution either rather in light of africa s rich diversity the book embraces the need for plurality within different regions ai ecosystems the book advocates that africa inclusive ai policies incorporate a relational ethics of care which explicitly addresses how africa s unique landscape is entwined in an ai ecosystem the book also works to provide actionable ai tenets that can be incorporated into policy documents that suit africa s needs this book will be of great interest to researchers students and readers who wish to critically appraise the different facets of ai in the context of africa across many areas that run the gamut from education gender studies and linguistics to agriculture data science and economics this book is of special appeal to scholars in disciplines including anthropology computer science philosophy and sociology to name a few

Transnationale Unternehmen als Friedensstifter: Eine Analyse zur Corporate Security Responsibility 2018-06-02

July 2020 just released the book titled The Hate in Their Heart Should Not Be Part of Your American Management Journey. This is a timely release of a book that identifies and discusses hate-based decisions: dislike, detest, abhor, loathe, despise someone versus management-based decisions referring to laws, company policy, strategic intent, data analysis of information, decision making. This is the same hate-based and racially motivated decision making used by police causing violence in America, sparking protests and demonstrations that have quickly spread throughout America and worldwide in 2020. Hate and unethical practices by the police, including murder, have stirred the hearts of people in America and worldwide to demand fairness and justice from police personnel when they perform their job duties. This is the same fairness and justice people expect at work when they perform their job duties; however, often times they do not receive this fairness based upon perceived racial and gender injustice, which is the subtle form of hate-based decision making that managers so often explain away to justify and hide the hate in their heart and their hate-based decision making. This book has been written by two women of color, a mother and her daughter, based upon over 60 years of their combined work experiences in human resources, corporate level, mom was an EEOAA officer, public educational, health care, community service, and faith-based environments, and a combined educational background of degrees in business, environmental science, and ministry. These authors take you through this book on a private journey of your management decision making to identify if you make hate-based versus management-based decisions at work, which is the place where most people try to live out their American dream to make money and/or sustain their respective lifestyles. This is an excellent book to take a journey through the development of American management theories and practices and to also identify hate-based versus management-based decision making. Please note it was thought the inception of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 protected employees against hate-based decisions such as discriminatory and retaliatory practices based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Unfortunately, this hate-based decision making is back in the workplace. The book starts with references by American politicians encouraging all to listen to our better angels. This is a book about management from an employee's perspective and also includes multiple workbooks for management to privately self-assess hate-based versus management-based decision making and also includes examples of best practice behavior so managers can self-correct their own behavior. This book is to essentially encourage humane moral and ethical management based decision making this book is a follow up book to the employee resource book titled how to work in hell successfully and not get burned by the flames both books have been written as a resource book for employees and managers in the post 2008 great recession workplace where economies have been shaken worldwide and getting and or keeping a job has become more and more challenging due to hate based decisions by managers these authors take you on an informational entertaining and humorous journey of the history of american management and american startups while highlighting one s ability to make management based verses hate based decisions the authors gently challenge your heart to self assess your decision making process to encourage you to make management based decisions as opposed to hate based decisions in an effort to allow you and or the organization you work for to move to your next level of well being and prosperity a management model to transform your organization from surviving to thriving is also included the authors hope you will enjoy this american management journey and that this becomes an american classic because they bring to light an age old and timeless issue of hate and how hate can enter into one s heart which can adversely affect one s ability to thrive verses just survive at work or in life amen how to work in hell successfully and not get burned by the flames pagepublishing com books book how to work in hell successfully and not get burned by the flames
