escarpments to the north south and east ethiopia has always been geographically and culturally set apart it has the longest archaeological record of any country in the world indeed this precipitous mountain land was where the human race began it is also home to an ancient church with a remarkable legacy the church of ethiopia is the only pre colonial church in sub saharan africa today it has a membership of around forty million and is rapidly growing this book is the first major study of a community which has developed a distinctive approach different from all other churches john binns explains how its special features have shaped the life of the ethiopian people and how political changes since the overthrow of haile selassie have forced the church to rethink its identity and mission he discusses the famous rock hewn churches the ark of the covenant claimed by the church and housed in aksum medieval monasticism relations with the coptic church centuries of co existence with islam missionary activity and the church s venerable oral traditions of poetic allegorical reflection ethiopia is an icon of freedom and indigenous christianity across africa due to its historic independence ancient christian identity and rich religious heritage however ethiopia and its various christian denominations have their own understandings of this identity and how these communities relate to one another in this detailed study dr seblewengel daniel explores the perception and identity of the ethiopian orthodox church and evangelical church in ethiopia and examines the relations between the two beginning with the earliest evangelical missionary engagement with the orthodox church dr daniel skilfully uses historical and theological frameworks to explain the dynamics at play when approaching the relations over two centuries between these two churches and their respective communities daniel ultimately emphasizes that what unites the orthodox and evangelical church is greater than what divides namely an ancient faith in the triune god this important study urges both sides to place the bible at the centre using it to understand their differences and challenges them to take responsibility for past negative perceptions in order to move forward together in greater unity and mutual respect cet essai en langue anglaise a pour objet les producteurs d images dans l even in christian circles moreover it is a much neglected field in the wider study of african education it is a teaching based on ancient texts and books taught orally to the students who will become the future clergy and who will then share their knowledge with the faithful in church life the studies of the different disciplines are pursued at different schools and at different levels in liturgy theology with commentaries of books old and new testaments books of the church fathers and monks as well as composition of poems qenes and iconography all this teaching presented in the present volume is deeply related to the faith and spirituality of the ethiopian orthodox church this teaching is a unique intangible cultural heritage one wonders however what its future will be in the context of the modern educational methods and social attitudes that have evolved in ethiopia over the last half century a native ethiopian with a background in architecture and theology now living in the us collection of documents for the study of early amharic literature and old amharic language and orthographical practices the ethiopian orthodox church eoc is non chalcedonian believing that christ s human and divine natures combined into one nature which is both human and divine do western and ethiopian orthodox christians have the same christology but express it differently if not how are they different how should evangelicals in ethiopia express their understanding of christ s deity and humanity so that they are clear inoffensive and biblical to answer these questions one must understand historical formal linguistic and popular perspectives on the nature of christ in the eoc to do this an ethnographic study of one addis ababa neighborhood was conducted to begin to understand popular perspectives on the nature of christ in the eoc the findings suggest that there are some substantive differences between chalcedonian and ethiopian orthodox perspectives on the nature of christ in speaking of christ evangelicals in ethiopia should avoid referring to two natures while affirming his full deity and especially his full humanity they should develop a fresh christological creed for the ethiopian context whether you are just beginning your journey into the ethiopian orthodox tewahedo church or have long been a member but are looking for answers to your questions about the church i need answers is for you although the answers are gathered from church fathers and holy books the style of writing provides clear answers to complicated questions the past few years the ethiopian orthodox tewahedo church has seen her youth leaving in mass numbers why mainly because the youth cannot get understandable answers to their questions the church uses amharic as its primary language and ge'ez as the liturgical preventing young people born in america from being able to understand the worship or teaching of the ethiopian orthodox tewahedo church deacon dawit muluneh who has traveled around the united states teaching and preaching during the last decade has gathered the most frequently asked questions and provided answers in a way that can be understood by the youth each chapter focuses on a particular question addressing central themes of christianity and teaching about the uniqueness of the ethiopian orthodox tewahedo church it also addresses issues specific to young adults like spiritual dating and depression and more controversial issues like homosexuality in the context of the church the book examines the missionary evangelists side of establishing non orthodox ecclesial communities in three major ethnic groups in southern ethiopia between 1927 1944 the kale heywat church an association of almost 3600 congregations is the strongest confirmation of the movement s success master s thesis from the year 2009 in the subject theology miscellaneous grade pass course final research paper language english abstract this research paper is about the contextualization of the gospel among the oromo of showa in ethiopia it deals with the culture and language of the people and how gospel contextualization is possible through the culture and language of the given people it studies the showa oromo clan for reference purpose but its principles are applicable to any culture and can be a lesson for anyone who aims at evangelization through the culture and language the research paper consists of three parts including the introductory part the first part of the research consists of a brief description and analysis of the showa oromo and how the ethiopian orthodox church eoc failed in here evangelization strategy because of the unawareness of the cultural conditionings of the gospel and inability to preach in the language of the showa oromo this part elucidates the failure of the eoc from different angles and explains that the failure of the eoc is the failure of the other churches too since all belong to the one body of christ as a remedy this section forwards the importance of ecumenism and partnering between the eoc and the ethiopian evangelical church mekane yesus eecmy as a tool to learn from one another and engage in mission together the second part introduces the role of the eecmy in contextualizing the gospel to the showa oromo through the language and culture of the people the eecmy contextualized the gospel to the culture of the people making points of contact already found in the traditional showa oromo faith here the research explains the role of the eecmy in contextualizing the irreechaa showa oromo thanksgiving into biblical christianity the eecmy used traditional name of god waaqayyo in evangelizing the people which helped the people to come to christ the eecmy also gave the people the bible in their language by contextualizing some pre christian showa oromo terms into evangelical christianity and using the words in translation this section also explains how the eecmy used native language in preaching and teaching the people the eecmy s incarnational ministry that involved holistic approach is also explained in detail the third section of the paper deals with the missiology of the lutheran church because the eecmy which this paper explains about is a lutheran in tradition and heritage here the role of the eecmy in mission and the lutheran mission theories are elucidated in this gracefully written book dr eva poluha wrestles with important issues of ethiopian political culture and cultural continuity and transmission in general drawing upon her years of experience in the country as well as the data from this school ethnography she has produced a stimulating and thought provoking work for those interested in problems of cross cultural education as well as in ethiopia herbert s lewis professor emeritus department of anthropology university of wisconsin madison children play a vital role as a source of information on politics but have been neglected as political actors in research contexts in this study children are used as a window to an ethiopian society where hierarchical relations persist despite the numerous political and administrative transformations of the past century with data gathered through participant observation the book examines how young addis ababa school children learn to adapt to and reproduce relations of superordination or subordination based on gender age strength and social position the children s experiences are viewed in the historical context of state citizen relations where hierarchy and obsession with control have been and continue to be dominant the discussion focuses on the power of continuity in the reproduction of cultural patterns and political behaviour and on how change towards more egalitarian relations could come about the book examines the missionary evangelists side of establishing non orthodox ecclesial communities in three major ethnic groups in southern ethiopia between 1927 1944 the kale heywat church an association of almost 3600 congregations is the strongest confirmation of the movement s success european not the least scandinavian mission societies have played an important role in shaping modern ethiopia and eritrea in spite of this the long term impact on ethiopian society by european missions has not yet received much attention the predominance of the ethiopian orthodox church in society and nation makes ethiopia an exception in the history of european missions and raises questions of an ecumenical character which need more attention present tension in ethiopia between orthodox and evangelicals and the tendency to identify christian affiliation with ethnic identity contribute to make this an urgent matter the present volume presents the papers delivered at a symposium on these questions held at lund university in august 1996 they include discussions on the justification of foreign missionary activity in a country already christian the impact of the catholic missionary enterprise of the 16th and 17th centuries the colonial context of late 19th century missionary activity the impact of the europeans on social and intellectual developments the struggle of the ethiopian catholics for an ethiopian identity in the face of latinization and colonial interests and the question of european influence on structure and leadership in the evangelical churches through case studies from around the world this book illustrates the opportunities and challenges facing families negotiating the issues of language maintenance and language learning in the home every family living in a bi multilingual environment faces the question of what language s to speak with their children and must make a decision consciously or otherwise about these issues exploring links between language policy in the home and wider society in a range of diverse settings the contributors utilize various research tools including interviews questionnaires observations and archival document analysis to explore linguistic ideologies and practices of family members in the home illuminating how these are shaped by macro level societal processes it is common knowledge that the majority of the population of eastern europe belong to the christian orthodox tradition but how many people have an adequate knowledge of the past or even of the present of these orthodox churches this book aims to present an introduction to this history written for a general audience both christian and non christian after the 1917 revolution in russia communism spread to most of the countries of eastern europe by 1953 at the time of stalin s death the division between eastern and western europe seemed absolute however the advent of perestroika at the end of the 1980s brought about political changes that have enabled the orthodox church to develop once again in eastern europe the foundation of the european union in 1993 has had a broader significance for orthodox communities who can now participate in the future development of europe some orthodox churches already have their representatives at the european union in brussels these include the patriarchates of constantinople russia and romania along with the church of greece and the church of cyprus today europe is becoming increasingly religiously diverse even within christianity itself a growing number of orthodox christians have come to work and settle in western europe an understanding of the history of the orthodox communities in eastern europe in the twentieth century will contribute in a spirit of informed dialogue to the shaping of a new united europe that is still in the process of expansion this book is translated from the french version published 2009 now included at the end of the book is a link for a web based program pdfs and mp3 sound files for each chapter over 300 pages developed by i corps foreign language training center fort access for the researcher ethiopian biblical commentaries are a corpus of ancient traditional teaching that comment on all books of the bible following a relatively uniform methodology this ethiopian tradition is an heir of the traditional branches of antiochene and alexandrian eastern christianity the existence of these exegetical commentaries is practically unknown outside the ethiopian orthodox church whose mission has been to keep and faithfully transmit them from generation to generation most of the commentaries still are in the form of privately owned parchment manuscripts these have been handed down from masters to disciples until today this volume presents a critical edition of nine manuscripts containing commentaries on prophet micah it also provides an english translation of the originals written in the gegez and amharic languages as well as a study of the literary form of these commentaries it is common knowledge that the majority of the population of eastern europe belong to the christian orthodox tradition but how many people have an adequate knowledge of the past or even of the present of these orthodox churches this book aims to present an introduction to this history written for a general audience both christian and non christian after the 1917 revolution in russia communism spread to most of the countries of eastern europe by 1953 at the time of stalin s death the division between eastern and western europe seemed absolute however the advent of perestroika at the end of the 1980s brought about political changes that have enabled the orthodox church to develop once again in eastern europe the foundation of the european union in 1993 has had a broader significance for orthodox communities who can now participate in the future development of europe some orthodox churches already have their representatives at the european union in brussels these include the patriarchates of constantinople russia and romania along with the church of greece and the church of cyprus today europe is becoming increasingly religiously diverse even within christianity itself a growing number of orthodox christians have come to work and settle in western europe an understanding of the history of the orthodox communities in eastern europe in the twentieth century will contribute in a spirit of informed dialogue to the shaping of a new united europe that is still in the process of expansion this book is translated from the french version published 2009 ethiopian biblical commentaries are a corpus of ancient traditional teaching that comment on all books of the bible following a relatively uniform methodology this ethiopian tradition is an heir of the traditional branches of antiochene and alexandrian eastern christianity the existence of these exegetical commentaries is practically unknown outside the ethiopian orthodox church whose mission has been to keep and faithfully transmit them from generation to generation most of the commentaries still are in the form of privately owned parchment manuscripts these have been handed down from masters to disciples until today this volume presents a critical edition of nine manuscripts containing commentaries on prophet micah it also provides an english translation of the originals written in the gezez and amharic languages as well as a study of the literary form of these commentaries
