to the question of the role of visuality in the development of antisemitic moods and political agendas that encouraged hatred towards jews the scope of visual anti judaism and antisemitism always was and still is very wide from stereotypical depictions that can conceal an underlying message through humorous content to clearly formulated assaults that aim to escalate animosity towards an imaginary collective enemy the goal in both these cases is the exclusion of jews from the majority society imagined as a monolithic whole and the reification of a dividing line between us and them with its wide thematic and methodological range this book offers a comprehensive image of the phenomenon of visual anti judaism and antisemitism and provides rich comparative material for the entire central european region visual pedagogies offers research based reflections and comprehensive guidelines on how to carry out visual activities with students of a variety of fields discussing case studies from eight countries examples include drawing collage making video production object based learning and photography projects this book uncovers and explains the ways by which politics is naturalized and denaturalized and familiarized and de familiarized through popular media it explores the tensions between state actors such as censors politicized and nonpoliticized audiences and visual media creators at various points in the history of japanese visual media it offers new research on a wide array of visual media texts including classical narrative cinema television documentary film manga and animated film it spans the militarized decades of the 1930s and 1940s through the asia pacific war into the present day and demonstrates how processes of politicization and depoliticization should be understood as part of wider historical developments including japan s postwar devastation and poverty subsequent rapid modernization and urbanization and the aging population and economic struggles of the twenty first century the question of the photographic construction and representation of national identity is not limited to the long 19th century but is a current issue in the post colonial post global digital world the essays by international contributors aim at studying the relationship between photographic archives and the idea of nation yet without focusing on single symbolic icons and instead considering the wider archival and sedimental dimension david houston jones builds a bridge between practices conventionally understood as forensic such as crime scene investigation and the broader field of activity which the forensic now designates for example in performance and installation art as well as photography contemporary work in these areas responds both to forensic evidence including crime scene photography and to some of the assumptions underpinning its consumption it asks how we look and in whose name foregrounding and scrutinising the enduring presence of voyeurism in visual media and instituting new forms of ethical engagement such work responds to the object oriented culture associated with the forensic and offers a reassessment of the relationship of human voice and material evidence it displays an enduring debt to the discursive model of testimony which has so far been insufficiently recognised and which forms the basis for a new ethical understanding of the forensic jones s analysis brings this methodology to bear upon a strand of contemporary visual activity that has the power to significantly redefine our understandings of the production analysis and deployment of evidence artists examined include forensic architecture simon norfolk melanie pullen angela strassheim john gerrard julian fifty years after Neil Armstrong one of the Apollo 11 crew placed his left foot on the surface of the moon for the first time in human history our fascination with Earth's satellite has lost none of its power. NASA Apollo 11: Man on the Moon tracks the astronaut's journey to the moon and documents the visual materials that the three crew members brought back with them. They were supplied with a Hasselblad 500E1 data camera with Réseau plates and a Zeiss Biogon 60mm f/5.6 lens with which they were to take photographs before and during the mission. The visual material that emerged from this can be seen in NASA's online archive and is shown for the first time in its entirety in NASA Apollo 11: Man on the Moon. Visual Antisemitism in Central Europe

In eleven contributions Visual Antisemitism in Central Europe: Imagery of Hatred deals with visual manifestations of antisemitism in Central Europe from the Middle Ages to the present day. The publication, which presents heretofore largely unknown materials, seeks responses from diverse perspectives to the question of the role of visuality in the development of antisemitic moods and political agendas that encouraged hatred towards Jews. The scope of visual anti-Judaism and antisemitism always was and still is very wide, from stereotypical depictions that can conceal an underlying message through humorous content to clearly formulated assaults that aim to escalate animosity towards an imaginary collective enemy. The goal in both these cases is the exclusion of Jews from the majority society, imagined as a monolithic whole, and the reification of a dividing line between us and them. With its wide thematic and methodological range, this book offers a comprehensive image of the phenomenon of visual anti-Judaism and antisemitism and provides rich comparative material for the entire Central European region.
