since 2003 the ministry of defence mod has changed its arrangements for providing logistics support for its harrier and tornado fast jet aircraft by rationalising the activity and location of its maintenance and repair services the nao report finds that these changes have reduced costs by a cumulative saving of 1.4 billion and although availability of the aircraft temporarily declined during the transition period availability targets for these fast jet aircraft are now being met the mod has applied new techniques including introducing pulse lines similar to a production line used in the motor car industry which has led to improved productivity with fewer man hours and less workspace and spares holdings the mod has also entered into new partnerships with industry which are managed by teams made up of contractors and military personnel situated at main raf bases the new arrangements are based on industry making available a specified number of aircraft or engines rather than on the number of repairs they carry out or the number of spare parts they provide the report identifies two significant risks that still remain relating to the provision of sufficient trained personnel to man the pulse lines for both jets and the supply chain to ensure the timely supply of spare parts for both types of aircraft

this report examines of the progress being made in implementing mods decisions regarding the future support of military aircraft maintenance lines being reduced to forward and depth and the implications of these decisions for the defence aviation and repair agency dara for fast jet aircraft harrier gr9 and tornado gr4 depth support will transfer from dara st athan south wales where it is carried out largely by civilian tradesmen to raf main operating bases where it will be carried out by raf tradesmen supplemented by tradesmen from the aircraft manufacturer for rotary wing aircraft helicopters depth support will by contrast be provided at dara fleetlands hampshire by raf tradesmen and dara civilian tradesmen the committee is concerned that these inconsistent arrangements will not be sustainable over the long term the new arrangements for support carry risks the long term sustainability of efficiency programmes potential over dependency on industry and the capability of the raf's new support processes to meet surge demands the committee recommends an independent audit of the harrier programme to ensure that the support is being provided in a more efficient and cost effective manner than before the future of dara is uncertain some of its businesses are to be closed down others are to be market tested the prospects for the dara st athan site including its recently completed superhangar facility costing over 100m are in particular doubt the committee finds incomprehensible mods decision to go ahead with building the superhangar at a time when it was reviewing its logistic support provision and recommends an investigation by the national audit office and the wales audit office in 2003 the government entered into three innovative 30 year contracts with private sector contractors to upgrade london s underground rail system four years later in 2007 two of the three contractors metronet bcv and metronet ssl known collectively as metronet went into administration when they could no longer meet their spending obligations the loss to the taxpayer arising from metronet s poor financial control and inadequate corporate governance is some 170 million to 410 million the department s oversight and management of risk on the metronet contracts were inadequate especially given that it provided a 1 billion a year grant was ultimately responsible for delivery and carried the majority of the risk of failure these failings ignored a clear warning from the national audit office in 2004 that they should avoid taking a hands off approach to oversight the department undermined its assumption that lenders would exercise strong oversight by assuring them that it would meet 95 per cent of the outstanding debt in the event of failure the public sector parties to the contract were unable to obtain the information they needed to oversee the contract effectively a serious weakness in the arrangements was that the independent public private partnerships ppp arbiter was not invited to act at the earliest opportunity rendering him largely ineffective the department must learn from its mistakes have the right commercial skills in place and perform robust risk analysis when negotiating such contracts to monitor the risks thereafter and be prepared to intervene where necessary
