know someone who would like to be a successful artist greater efficiency helps them get organized essential for a successful artist use it in conjunction with their present approaches also in conjunction with strategies in other programs success seems mythical which is why it s like the holy grail the crusaders of old travelled the world seeking it for professional artists the holy grail is to create more sales and build income so how will they recognize success that s for them to decide but they should consider these comments strong self discipline and intelligent self management are in my view the fundamental building blocks for all success p77 there will be disappointments along the way that s how we learn each disappointment is a test of their commitment they also add to their experience and strength in the end their commitment is the key to their success don talbot australian swimming coach in nothing but the best if they are to be successful then they need to be well organized elite athletes reap rewards by investing in themselves so should artists but if they put it off it will never happen but there can be no half measures if they want to be a successful artist then they must do the job properly either do it or forget it they can gain knowledge until they acquire experience acting on that knowledge they won t move on they will stay at their present state this is won t happen straight away it won t even happen at all unless they know why they need a professional approach to their career the way of the leisure artist will not get them there in a manner not previously possible they can set up their future earnings it will take time and a little money in the beginning but if they wait until christmas next year whenever the right time to start is all that happens is the whole process is delayed there needs to be much work done but with little actual expense initially a start can be made if time is there they will build or maybe re build the foundations of their artistic journey possibly other things might need to be foregone delayed or accelerated to facilitate a speedy transition to this new phase of their artistic career if they want to be a professional artist then painting well is not sufficient many artists do that they also need to be successful as a business that's quite different visualize success success is getting to another level imagine what that will actually feel like when they experience it then they'll be more determined to make it a reality if they can think it they can achieve it praise people around them by helping others build their self confidence they might in turn boost theirs just as importantly they'll appreciate ways confidence can be built develop a sense of self belief make decisions based on the belief that they can do what they set out to do don't give failure a chance become more competent set goals to improve their ability skills and knowledge do this regularly and consistently even champion sports people practice regularly usually this is more than those who are not champions believe in themselves this is the first step on the path to success so they must at least have done this to some degree now build from that beginning and make a series of small additional steps reflect back from time to time to appreciate progress that they have made grow through experience they will grow every time they rise to a challenge and learn something sometimes this is what not to do at other times it will be worth repeating savor successes at first they might be small but that's how everyone starts keep track of them for that helps they realize later successes are better starting and running a successful art business is just like running and starting any other business to create a vibrant and sustainable art enterprise you need to have a basic understanding of how business works you don't need an mba but you do need to know about business and marketing in art school they probably didn't teach you much about the business end of selling your work or what it takes to run a company don't worry you don't need to enroll in business school to get a good grasp of the basics you will find them this book the artist's business and marketing toolbox gives you real life examples you can use as well as over 80 forms to help you develop your business and marketing plan whether you just want to make a few extra dollars selling your art or you want to make art your full time profession you owe it to yourself to learn about running a business and the fundamentals of marketing the difference between many successful and not so successful artists may have a lot more to do with their grasp of business and marketing than the art they create in the artist's business and marketing toolbox you will learn the basics of starting a new business developing your brand how to take advantage of opportunities and capitalize on your strengths understanding the business planning process and putting together your own plan accounting and finance that you need becoming more productive in creating your art managing and organizing your company developing and implementing effective marketing strategies for public relations advertising selling your art pricing your work effective web sites networking using social media developing a visual business and marketing plan if you are looking for another book on how to get your work into a gallery although i cover that as well then this book is not for you if you are interested in putting proven business techniques and tools to work for you then the artist's business and marketing toolbox is a great place to start don't worry if you think that you need the skills of an mba or accountant to be successful passion creativity and hard work are what counts the most and luckily most artists have an abundance of all three be prepared to put in some time and effort to develop your business and marketing plan and don't forget to use the creative side of your brain
