this book focuses on the relationships between phenomenology and theology which have been varied and complex but seem currently in an inconclusive and loosely defined state methodological rigor is not much in evidence and the two disciplines continue to defy any authoritative synthesis while both disciplines grapple with questions concerning the fundamental structures of human experience their relationship is troubled by the elusive roles of revelation and faith which threaten the scientific autonomy of philosophy on one side and disable theologians for consistent philosophical discourse on the other this volume revisits that conundrum from various perspectives as it at once repristinates some of the most vibrant points of encounter and opens possibilities for new beginnings it begins with the theological musings into which leading phenomenologists have been drawn from the start with special reference to husserl heidegger and michel henry as well as backward glances to fichte schelling and blondel a second section takes up specific theological themes and examines how phenomenological approaches can refine thinking on them these include the incarnation the resurrection the eucharist grace and prayer a dialogue between phenomenology and classical theologians is staged in the third section augustine pseudo dionysius eckhart and karl rahner the closing section ranges more widely discussing atheism non realist theology and hinduism from phenomenological angles and showing how these topics too come within the ambit of theology the split between the gospel and culture is without doubt the drama of our time wrote paul vi in 1975 since that time there has been an increasingly urgent awareness that inculturation is an indispensable task of the church but inculturation the dialogue between church and cultures demands first of all that we who would enter into the dialogue understand what culture itself means and what dialogue entails to that end cultural anthropologist father gerald arbuckle gives us this important volume he traces the history of the development of the concept of culture and the too often negative rarely positive effects of encounters between church and culture he explores how jesus christ approached the cultures of his time and outlines the current treatment of culture and inculturation in church documents and in catholic theology he shows that modest progress in understanding has recently staled and there are even forces working to turn that progress into regress he concludes with a description of inculturation as it needs to happen and a sharp critique of those who resist with a sense of prophetic hope arbuckle seeks to help us bridge the lamentable split between gospel and culture the drama that continues to unfold in our time
